SPIRITUAL STATE OF BALTIMORE YEARLY MEETING

This has been a year of great plenty. Meetings describe themselves as enriched, blessed, fulfilled, vital and vibrant; they prosper and grow. Even the less vigorous describe themselves as overcoming challenges and contented. Our meeting are homes, havens, oases. There is a general sense of well-being within our walls.

"We seem willing to loosen our grip and afford the Spirit a freer reign to bless us. We report healings and Friends claiming these gifts. We are dreaming dreams and recounting them, even in Yearly Meeting sessions where we take more chances. Many meetings tell us of their singing; our Yearly Meeting chorus thrives. We tell of more frequent, more satisfying spoken ministry and of more gathered meetings.

"Of course, we know enough to fear being too 'comfortable in Zion' or anywhere else, and there is some uneasy glancing around. We ask where are those who attended once or twice and never came back? Where are our teens and grown children? Monthly Meetings recognize unmet claims that their preparative meetings and worship groups make upon them for a presence, for visits. We have more difficulty recognizing and dealing with other claims like accountability. We don't know quite what to do with our Quarters and we wrestle with claims upon us for support by our members called to ministries both outside our walls and inside. We wonder about the consequences of our closer affiliation with Friends United Meeting. Our Yearly Meeting theme of "Friends from around the world" opens the questions of our unity, our shared witness, and our claims upon one another. Our Meetings are also pondering the claims of the church invisible and universal and even of the church up the street.

"We continue to luxuriate in our diversities and to mine metaphors of melding them, but there is also a discernable yearning to go beyond metaphor, to let them dialogue more openly and freely in a movement towards 'truth' and to use that word. We seem anxious to find new paths, directions, even missions. As we mourn the passing of one generation, we survey the next for leadership. We speculate about what next year's state of the meeting report might contain and fret that the same themes recur perennially unresolved.

"Meetings continue to offer the substance of convictions on the meaning of membership in the Religious Society of Friends, the nature and foundation of public ministry and the limits of the covenant of marriage. They appear to be sounding for an echo from us, the larger body. We resound but find no voice and sometimes not even an experiment. Our Faith and Practice, now bound more tightly, continues to function as a monument to a unity once given but not as a close record of recent steps taken together."
When we listen for the stirrings of the wind of the Spirit, our feet keep moving to be with one accord in one place (Acts 2:1). Some meet in midweek as on First Days and more long to do so. We respond generously to specially called meetings. We hold firmly to the practice of accounting to one another for our spiritual states.*

"We have come to Yearly Meeting, in ever greater numbers, waiting."

Questions:

What is the meaning of membership in the Religious Society of Friends?

In what ways does the richness of our diversity strengthen our love and community?

Are we, as Friends, ministers to one another?

Have we considered that the voice we’d like to be still or able to ignore entirely may be the one we most need to listen to, heed and obey?

Stephen Davidson, Clerk of Ministry and Counsel

39 Monthly Meetings, 35 had forwarded a report by the opening of sessions. We received additional reports from Preparative Meetings and one report from a Worship Group.
MINUTES OF BALTIMORE YEARLY MEETING
REPRESENTATIVE MEETING

Minutes of Tenth Month 24, 1998
State College Monthly Meeting

R98-51 Opening: Baltimore Yearly Meeting's Representative Meeting gathered on 10/24/1998 at State College Meeting House in State College, Pennsylvania. In attendance were people from 21 Meetings:

Adelphi: Martha Gay, Diana Jusino, Mary Lord, Ann Marie Moriarty, Arthur David Olson (Takoma Park Preparative), Pam Tyng; Alexandria: John Mason; Baltimore, Homewood: Edith J. Ballard; Baltimore, Stony Run: J. Michael Boardman, Ronald E. Mattson, Harry S. Scott, Marjorie Scott; Bethesda: Ronald "Ron" Akins, Lee N. Foster, Elizabeth "Liz" Hofmeister, Katrina R. Mason; Carlisle: Joan Anderson, Stephen Davidson, Ron Rathfon; Charlottesville: Frances Schutz, Hank Schutz; Deer Creek: Betsy Wollaston; Gettysburg: Margaret Stambaugh; Goose Creek: Janney Wilson, Jean Wilson; Gumpowder: Marshall Sutton; Herndon: Bonnie Stockslager; Langley Hill: Sheila N. Bach, Thomas Burson, Laurie Wilner; Little Britain: Mark Brabson (Eastland), Linda Coates (Eastland), Suzanne P. Lamborn; Nottingham: Ron Stroud; Richmond: David Hines; Sandy Spring: Maria Bradley, Howard Fullerton, Kate Fullerton, Flossie Fullerton, Frank Massey, Elizabeth F. Meyer, Alan Wright, Kathy Wright; State College: Dorothy Cecil, Dan Fryssinger, Lynne Heritage, Lauri Perman, Tom Ryan, Shirley Tuttle, Elwood Way, Emily Way, H. Alan Weisel, Marjorie H. Weisel; Warrington: Carl Fenninger; Washington: Marjorie "Marney" Akins, David Etheridge, Richard "Rich" Liversidge, Carol Phelps; Williamsburg: Cindy Frazier; York: Lamar Matthew.

Marjorie Scott (Baltimore, Stony Run), Clerk of Representative Meeting, thanked State College Friends for their hospitality. Diana Jusino (Adelphi), Office Manager, announced the availability of the 1998 Baltimore Yearly Meeting Yearbook. Lamar Matthew (York), Presiding Clerk of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, united in thanking State College Friends for their hospitality. Lamar reported that Miriam Green (Baltimore, Homewood), immediate past Presiding Clerk of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, had sent regrets.

R98-52 General Secretary: Frank Massey (Sandy Spring), General Secretary of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, noted the recent deaths of John Joseph McIntyre, Jr. (Sandy Spring), a past Clerk of Representative Meeting, and Ruth Bennett (Central, Nebraska). We heard of Margo Lehman (Sandy Spring) beginning service on 11/2/1998 as the Yearly Meeting Religious Education Secretary. We heard of a continuing search for a Youth Secretary. We learned of the change of Diana Jusino’s job from Administrative Assistant to Office Manager. We learned at the beginning of Maria Bradley’s (Sandy Spring) part-time secretarial work of the Yearly Meeting Office.

Frank thanked Katie Blankfield (Sandy Spring) and Diana Jusino for their work in completing the Yearbook. We heard of Frank’s hope to have a paperbacked, spiral-bound Faith and Practice available by the end of the year.

53 Friends United Meeting: We heard from Shirley Tuttle (State College) and Frank Massey on Friends United Meeting (FUM). We learned that while FUM’s program budget is healthy, its administrative budget has a shortfall, and FUM is facing the need for staffing cuts. We learned of FUM moving ahead with a feasibility study for a capital campaign; Friends can expect to hear from FUM representatives about this.

We heard that the 2002 FUM Triennial is set for Kenya. We heard that plans for the 1999 FUM Triennial have been finalized. We heard of the need for transportation, housing, and preparation of souvenirs for the 1999 Triennial; those interested can be in touch with Howard Fullerton (Sandy Spring).

Jorie Scott undertook to place before Supervisory Committee a concern that merging on both the FUM Triennial and on our own Yearly Meeting sessions could overburden the General Secretary.

54 Web Publishing: We heard from Howard Fullerton on behalf of the Ad Hoc Web Publishing Committee. On behalf of the Yearly Meeting, we APPROVED electronic publication of the introduction and historical section of Faith and Practice.

55 Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership: We heard from Betsy Meyer (Sandy Spring) regarding the Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership. We heard Marsha Holliday (Langley Hill) is to begin administrative work on the program at the start of 1999, with initial courses to be offered later in the year, possibly on spiritual gifts and prayer.

56 Bible Conference: We heard from Sheila Bach (Langley Hill) on Baltimore Yearly Meeting’s Bible conferences. We learned of poor attendance at organizing meetings; those remaining cannot carry matters forward, and the effort is in limbo for now.

57 Support of Leadings: We heard from Rich Liversidge (Washington) of the Stewardship and Finance Committee. We heard of a joint meeting held recently with the Stewardship and Finance and Nurture and Recognition of Ministry to consider how we as a Yearly Meeting support spiritual leadings. We heard of the two committees’ agreement to designate those being supported by the Yearly Meeting as “endorsed Friend,” since the term “released Friend” has a meaning differing from our Yearly Meeting’s current way of supporting Friends. We heard of the sense that it is problematic to distinguish social concern leadings from spiritual leadings. We heard of the need to coordinate efforts to fund the works of different Friends. We heard of consideration of guidelines for the release of Friends.

R98-58 Ministry of Mary Lord: We heard from Mary Lord (Adelphi) about a Quaker Volunteer Service and Witness Network meeting; we heard of efforts to coordinate this work with the American Friends Service Committee. We heard of Mary’s plan to attend a Friends Peace Teams meeting, to speak at Earlham College, to speak at Chicago General Meeting, to work with Chicago Monthly Meeting on hate crimes, and to speak at three Monthly Meetings within Baltimore Yearly Meeting.

R98-59 Nominating Committee: We heard from Katrina Mason (Bethesda) on behalf of Nominating Committee. We APPROVED changing Martin Trueblood (Williamsburg) to a Delegate and Miriam Green to an Alternate to the 1999 FUM Triennial. We NAMED Heidi Koring (Lynchburg) to the New Business Committee of the 1999 FUM Triennial. We NAMED Martin Trueblood to the Nominating Committee of the 1999 FUM Triennial. We NAMED Ronald “Ron” Akins (Bethesda) to serve on the Camp Property Management Committee through 2001. We NAMED Timothy Hetrick (State College) to serve on the Advancement and Outreach Committee through 2001.

R98-60 Closing: Marjorie Scott introduced Maria Bradley, new to the office staff.

We learned of the deaths of Robert Hammond (Goose Creek) and Lillian Hibbs (Bethesda). We learned of the illness of Mary Hulbert (Richmond); we were asked to hold Mary and Mary’s family in the Light. We learned of improvement in the health of Susie Fetter (Roanoke).

We heard, corrected, and approved these minutes, along with the attachment of an attendance list and written versions of reports given. We adjourned, to gather next on 3/27/1999 at Bethesda Meeting House in Bethesda, Maryland, or at the call of the Presiding Clerk.

Marjorie Scott, Clerk

Arthur David Olson, Recording Clerk
Minutes of Third Month 27, 1999
Bethesda Monthly Meeting

Opening: Baltimore Yearly Meeting’s Representative Meeting gathered 7/1999 at the meeting house in Bethesda, Maryland. People from 26 Meetings were present:

Adelphi: Martha Gay; Michele Levasseur (Takoma Park); Mary Lord; Arthur David Olson (Takoma Park); Jolene Robinson; Ted Robinson; Sharon Stout. Alexandria: Howard van Breemen; Marcia Ormsby. Baltimore, Homewood: Edith Ballard; Miriam Green; Marjorie Scott. Baltimore, Stony Run: Mike Boardman; Della James. Bethesda: Ron Akins; Robe Fessenden; Lee N. Foster; Evolution Hawkins; Ted Hawkins; Liz Hofmeister; Paul Luckenbaugh; Katrina R. Mason; Catherine McHugh. Carlisle: Joan Anderson; Stephen Davidson; Betty Deitzel; Rob Rathfon. Deer Creek: Betsy Wollaston. Frederick: Richard Broadbent; Diane Dunns. Gettysburg: Margaret Stambaugh. Goose Creek: Janney Wilson; Jean Wilson. Harrisonburg: Wick Fary; Jeanne Tabscott. Herndon: Bonnie Stockslager. Langley Hill: Sandy Overbey; Sheila Bach. Little Britain: Mark Brabson (Eastland); Linda Coates (Eastland); Sue Emborn (Penn Hill). Maury River: Katherine Smith. Nottingham: Charles Hilaman; Ellie Hilaman; Gene Hillman. Pipe Creek: C. J. Swet. Pimlico: Donna Rugg. Roanoke: Suzie Fetter. Sandy Spring: Maria Bradley; Annette Breiling (Seneca Valley); Flossie Fullerton; Kate Fullerton; Margo Lehman; Betsy Meyer; Trudy Rogers (Seneca Valley). Howard Zuses; Rosalind Zuses. State College: Shirley Little; Marjorie H. Weisel. Washington: Marney Akins; Maurice Boyd; David Etheridge; Joseph A. Izzo; Margery M. Larrabee; Susan Lepper; Richard Livesidge; Carol Phelps; Winiwed Walker-Jones. West Branch: Peggy Fry; Walt Fry. Williamsburg: Cindy Frazier. York: Lamar Matthew.

Word of the death of Robert Haskell Cory, Jr. (Washington) who, with Sally Cory (Washington), led the effort to establish William Penn House in Washington, D.C. The family has asked that calls and (preferably) letters be directed to John Cory (Adelphi).

Clerk of Yearly Meeting: We heard from Lamar Matthew (York), Prelate Clerk of Baltimore Yearly Meeting. Lamar reported on travel within Baltimore Yearly Meeting and on preparations (with Program Committee) for action and business at our upcoming annual session.

Manual of Procedure: We heard from Marjorie “Marney” Akins (Washington), Clerk of the Manual of Procedure Committee. Marney presented the following proposed change:
All references are to the Manual of Procedure updated August 1998

Key: Underlined is recommended addition
Strikeout is recommended deletion

Because of emergency vacancies on the Search Committee during the year the Ad Hoc Search Committee, which nominates members of the Search Committee, is now appointed for one year instead of from Spring Representative Meeting to Summer Representative Meeting. In August 1998 Yearly Meeting, acting on behalf of Representative Meeting which had overlooked this item of business, named two people to serve on the Ad Hoc Search Committee through Summer 1999 Representative Meeting.

Search Committee: Change the fourth paragraph to bring it in line with the action of the Yearly Meeting naming the Ad Hoc Search Committee to serve one year (Y98-56).

On Spring Summer Yearly Meeting Day, Representative Meeting appoints from the floor an ad hoc committee of two or three Friends to nominate Friends for appointments to fill the vacancies on the Search Committee. This ad hoc committee serves for one year or until a new ad hoc committee is appointed. The ad hoc committee usually presents its recommendations to Representative Meeting on Summer Yearly Meeting Day. At any time the ad hoc committee may present to Representative Meeting nominations to fill vacancies on the Search Committee which occur during the year.

We LAID OVER consideration of this change until Summer Representative Meeting.

Marney reported on the availability of the Manual of Procedure in loose-leaf format, the same size as our Yearbook. On behalf of the committee, Marney thanked Frank Massey (Sandy Spring), Diana Jusino (Adelphi), and the office staff for help in preparing the manual in its new format.

R99-4 Indian Affairs: We heard from Dellie James (Baltimore, Stony Run), Clerk of Indian Affairs Committee. Dellie reported on the work of Pat Kutzner (Washington) with the Torreon/Starlake Chapter of the Eastern Navajo Nation in New Mexico. The committee has given Pat three months notice that funding to continue the project may not be available; Pat has expressed a leading to continue the work through the year 2000. The Committee seeks to be relieved of oversight of Pat's work; the committee does not believe it has the energy to continue oversight.
We reported that currently available funds can support Pat’s work through the end of June, 1999. We heard of the intent of individuals from Friends Meeting in Washington to add $3,000 to this amount. We heard of the need of committee support for a leading to enable funding of the leading through the Yearly Meeting.

5 Letters: Mary Lord (Adelphi) returned Baltimore Yearly Meeting’s travel endorsements from groups Mary has visited. We CONTINUED Mary Lord’s 1 minute.

Joy Overbey (Langley Hill) presented a draft travel minute for Margery Abbee (Washington) for Margery’s travel among Friends. On behalf of the Yearly Meeting, we APPROVED this travel minute.

On behalf of the Yearly Meeting, we ENDORSED the recommendation of Sandy Young’s Monthly Meeting of Sarah Van DeGrift to Earlham School of Religion for a Cooper Scholarship.

On behalf of the Yearly Meeting, we ENDORSED the recommendation of Arlington Meeting of Ted Riley to Earlham School of Religion for a Cooper Scholarship.

6 Potomac Half-Yearly Meeting: The Clerk read from a letter from David Etheridge (Washington), Recording Clerk Pro-Tem of Potomac Half-Yearly Meeting. The Half-Yearly Meeting forwarded to us recommendations from Goose Creek Monthly Meeting for Faith and Practice changes to “Questions to be considered by the Couple before Application to the Monthly Meeting for Marriage under its Care.” The Clerk undertook to send the proposed changes to constituent Monthly and Quarterly Meetings.

The Clerk read the following request: “Potomac Half-Yearly Meeting asks that the Yearly Meeting permit Potomac Half-Yearly Meeting to lay itself down.” We heard a concern for the practical challenges arising from such a step, particularly the naming of Yearly Meeting Trustees. We heard of meetings of the Blue Ridge Regional Gathering, which does not handle business. We heard that while a procedure for laying down Quarterly Meetings has been proposed by the Manual of Procedure Committee (R97-55), none has yet been approved by the Yearly Meeting.

David Etheridge undertook to contact the constituent Meetings of Potomac Half-Yearly Meeting, informing them of the proposal to lay down Potomac Half-Yearly Meeting and of David’s plan to report back to Summer Representative Meeting.
R99-7 Deer Creek Meeting: The Presiding Clerk read from a 12/20/1998 letter from Henry S. Holloway, Clerk of Deer Creek Monthly Meeting, to Charles Hilaman (Nottingham), clerk of Nottingham Quarterly Meeting: Deer Creek "wishes to withdraw from Nottingham Quarter at this time." We heard from Charles Hilaman that the response of the Quarter to Deer Creek was that they had, with regret, received the letter.

We DIRECTED the Manual of Procedure Committee to develop a procedure for withdrawal of a Monthly Meeting from a Quarterly Meeting, and to report back to Summer Representative Meeting.

R99-8 Camping Program: We heard from Howard Zuses (Sandy Spring), Clerk of Camping Program Committee. We heard of 36 applications for Quaker Arts Camp (with openings still available) and 464 applications for other camps (of the 464, 400 have been accepted). The Committee held a consultation on the topic "Camp for Everyone?" to address questions of everyone being able to attend camp and of who "everyone" is. The committee recognizes that its questions must be addressed both within the committee and more broadly.

R99-9 Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership: We heard from Betsy Meyer (Sandy Spring) on behalf of the Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership. We heard that the institute is offering classes from 10/3/1999 through 11/21/1999 at Sandy Spring Friends School. Betsy reported on the institute’s need for teachers; a one-day workshop addressing this need is to be held 9/4/1999.

R99-10 Stewardship and Finance: We heard from Richard "Rich" Liversidge (Washington), clerk of Stewardship and Finance Committee. Rich reported that today the committee had approved in principle an operating budget for the year 2000; the total size of the draft budget (and total size of apportionments) is only slightly changed from the current budget. The Committee is to decide its apportionment recommendations at a 4/24/1999 meeting.

Rich reported that Stewardship and Finance Committee has taken part in Camping Program Committee’s work in developing long-range plans.

We heard of the Committee’s consideration of how the Yearly Meeting supports spiritual leadings; Stewardship and Finance Committee is working with the Nurture and Recognition of Ministry Committee in this area.

R99-11 Advancement and Outreach: We heard from Trudy Rogers (Sandy Spring), Clerk of Advancement and Outreach Committee. Trudy asked that Friends examine closely the travel directions in our Yearbook, ensuring that usable directions, landmarks, and notes on public transportation are present. Changes can be sent to the Yearly Meeting Office.
12 General Secretary: We heard from Frank Massey, Baltimore Yearly Meeting General Secretary. Frank introduced Margo Lehman (Sandy Spring), Affairs Education Secretary, and Michele Levassour (Adelphi), Youth Secretary. Frank reported that Josh Riley (Hopewell) has been hired as Camping Administrative Secretary. Diana Jusino is serving as Office Manager; Maria Brad- (Sandy Spring) is working in the office on a part-time basis.

13 Merger: The Clerk reported receiving notice that Hopewell and Win- Centre Meetings have combined; Hopewell Centre Meeting is to use the Pownell Meeting House.

14 Search Committee: We heard from Liz Hofmeister (Bethesda) on behalf of Search Committee. The Committee brought forward for first reading of Nichols Bach (Langley Hill) to continue as Yearly Meeting Treasurer and Kevin Assistant Treasurer.

15 Nominating Committee: We heard from Susie Fetter (Roanoke) on behalf of Nominating Committee. The Committee reported receipt of a letter from M. Kaufman (Sandy Spring), resigning from Peace and Social Concerns Com- We ACCEPTED the resignation.

16 Friends United Meeting Triennial: Frank Massey reported on the up- Friends United Meeting Triennial, set for 7/14-18/1999. Frank reported our Baltimore Yearly Meeting annual session.

17 Ministry and Counsel: We heard from Stephen Davidson (Carlisle), Chair of Ministry and Counsel Committee. Stephen reported on an upcoming meeting at 4/17/1999 at 10:00 at Goose Creek Meeting on the relationships among accountability of Monthly and Quarterly Meetings and the Yearly Meeting; details appeared in the most recent Yearly Meeting newsletter.
R99-18 Unity with Nature: We heard from Janney Wilson (Goose Creek), Co-Clerk of the Unity with Nature Committee. Janney introduced Gene Hillman (Nottingham), who presented a minute on care for the creation. Gene reported that there has been approval for the minute to be presented at the Friends United Meeting Triennial.

George Fox "...lived in the virtue of that life and power that took away the occasion of all wars and [he] knew from whence all wars did rise, from the lust, according to James’s doctrine" (Journal, 1651). It is the same lust (cravings, desires, self centeredness) that causes violence in war, and which causes us to do violence to God’s creation. The "life and power that takes away the occasion of all wars" also takes away the occasion for violence against the creation.

The concern for the care of God’s creation has long been implicit in our Christian testimony. We recognize that our historic peace testimony is a testimony to living in harmony with the world in a covenant among God, humanity, and the creation (Genesis 9:8-13), a covenant the renewal of which was foreseen by the prophets as in Isaiah’s vision of the peaceable kingdom (in 11:1-9), by Paul (e.g. Romans 8:12-17), and in the great commission when the risen Christ told the eleven “Go into all the world and proclaim the good news to the whole creation” (Mark 16:15 NRSV, the AV has all creatures). Implicit in our testimony on simplicity is the understanding that we will not take more than we need, particularly (and here we move into the testimony on justice) if it means depriving others, including future generations, of their basic needs.

We CALL UPON the nations of the world, and in particular our own governments, to ratify and implement the Kyoto protocols on global warming, and otherwise enact laws and reach agreements which will protect the creation from the effects of human exploitation, greed, and carelessness. We CALL UPON Friends to examine their own lives to see if their own patterns of consumption reflect self centeredness and greed rather than a concern for living harmoniously in the creation, that we might witness to the world that harmony.

On behalf of the Yearly Meeting, we NAMED Gene Hillman as a Representative to the National Council of Churches Conference on Eco-Justice.

R99-19 Hughesville Property: We heard from Ted Robinson, Clerk of Adelphi Meeting. Ted reported on discussions between Adelphi and Patuxent Friends about historic Quaker property in Hughesville, Maryland. The property has been made a historic site by the state of Maryland. Patuxent Friends are caring for the property and are putting a sign on the property. Ted noted that the property may

1. Ad Hoc Search Committee: Because of emergency vacancies on the Search Committee during the year, the Ad Hoc Search Committee, which nominates members of the Search Committee, is now appointed for one year instead of from Spring Representative Meeting to Summer Representative Meeting. In August 1998 Yearly Meeting, acting on behalf of Representative Meeting which had overlooked this item of business, named two people to serve on the Ad Hoc Search Committee through Summer 1999 Representative Meeting. Spring Representative Meeting discussed this and laid it over to Summer Representative Meeting (R99-3).

Change the fourth paragraph of the description of the Search Committee to bring it in line with the action of the Yearly Meeting naming the Ad Hoc Search Committee to serve for one year (Y98-56):

On Spring-Summer Yearly Meeting Day, Representative Meeting appoints from the floor an ad hoc committee of two or three Friends to nominate Friends for appointment to fill the vacancies on the Search Committee. This ad hoc committee serves for one year or until a new ad hoc committee is appointed. The ad hoc committee usually presents its recommendations to Representative Meeting on Summer Yearly Meeting Day. At any time the ad hoc committee may present to Representative Meeting nominations to fill vacancies on the Search Committee which occur during the year.

2. Right Sharing of World Resources Committee: The Right Sharing of World Resources Committee of the Friends World Committee for Consultation, Section of the Americas, has been laid down and replaced by a newly established corporation, Right Sharing of World Resources, Inc., as of May 1, 1999. Therefore, the following factual change is needed in the description of the Right Sharing of World Resources Committee:
The Right Sharing of World Resources Committee is composed of 15 members nominated by the Nominating Committee and appointed by the Yearly Meeting. In addition, individuals may be co-opted to serve on the Committee, particularly from those local Meetings not otherwise represented.

This Committee should keep alive throughout the Yearly Meeting membership the challenge to simplify our own lives and to share with people in the developing countries our financial resources and our own lives and experiences. This Committee, with the guidance of and in cooperation with the Friends World Committee for Consultation Right Sharing of World Resources, Inc., is responsible for selecting the specific projects of economic and social development to which funds contributed under this program by members of the Yearly Meeting shall be devoted. It may also bring to the attention of the Yearly Meeting other international concerns which affect relationships between the economically developed and less-developed countries.

Youth Programs Committee: When the Manual of Procedure was used to reflect the establishment of the Coordinating Council for Youth programs (Y97-70), some cross-references were inadvertently omitted. Change the fourth paragraph of the description of the Youth Programs Committee to the following three paragraphs:

The Youth Programs Committee appoints a Baltimore Yearly Meeting high school youth as a representative to the Fund for Conscience Subcommittee of the Peace and Social Concerns Committee. The adult and youth Co-clerks of the Young Friends Yearly Meeting Planning Subcommittee serve on the Program Committee.

The Youth Programs Committee names an adult representative to serve on the Coordinating Council for Youth Programs. One adult representative to serve on the Coordinating Council for Youth Programs is also named by each of the following: the Young Friends Conference Subcommittee, the Young Friends Yearly Meeting Program Planning Subcommittee, and the Young Quakes United Planning Subcommittee.
Every three years, according to the YouthQuake cycle, the Youth Programs Committee recommends the name of an adult to the Nominating Committee for appointment by the Yearly Meeting to serve a three-year term as the Yearly Meeting representative to the YouthQuake Planning Committee.

We APPROVED recommending these changes at our upcoming annual session.

Marjorie Akins also presented recommended “Procedures for Realignment of Quarterly Meetings” (and excerpts from Baltimore Yearly Meeting’s Faith and Practice regarding Quarterly Meetings).

Spring Representative Meeting asked the Manual of Procedure Committee to recommend a procedure for the withdrawal of a Monthly Meeting from a Quarterly Meeting (R99-9). In considering this the Committee decided that the best approach was to revise its suggested procedure for the realignment of Quarterly Meetings (R97-55, R98-16) to include this aspect.

Note that two versions of the last paragraph are given: a) if the Yearly Meeting decides that its approval of these actions is necessary and appropriate; b) if it decides otherwise. Attached are some historical notes and excerpts from Faith and Practice and the Manual of Procedure which the Committee thought would be helpful.

Any Quarterly or Monthly Meeting can initiate a change in alignment. Generally, these changes are of four types.

1. In the case of the creation of a new Quarterly Meeting, a minute proposing its creation includes the name of the new Quarterly Meeting and the names of the Monthly Meetings to be included in the new Quarterly Meeting. It also includes a brief history and the reasons for the proposed action.

If the minute is initiated by one or more Monthly Meetings, they circulate the minute to all the Monthly Meetings to be included. When the Monthly Meetings have approved, the minute is forwarded to the Yearly Meeting.

If the minute is initiated by an existing Quarterly Meeting which wishes to divide into two Quarterly Meetings, it circulates its minute to all the constituent Monthly Meetings of the Quarterly Meeting in sufficient time that the Monthly Meetings may prepare comments for a Quarterly Meeting session before Yearly Meeting. When the minute has obtained approval from the Monthly Meetings, the Quarterly Meeting forwards the minute to the Yearly Meeting.

In the case of the laying down of a Quarterly Meeting, a minute proposing its laying down includes the name of the Quarterly Meeting, the names of the affected Monthly Meetings and which, if any, Quarterly Meeting(s) they hope to join. It also includes a brief history of the reasons for the proposed action. The minute is circulated to all constituent Monthly Meetings of the Quarterly Meeting in sufficient time that the constituent Monthly Meetings may prepare comments for a Quarterly Meeting session before Yearly Meeting. When the minute has been approved by the Quarterly Meeting at that session, it is forwarded to the Yearly Meeting. The minute is also circulated to the Quarterly Meetings which the affected Monthly Meetings might join.

In the case of the realignment of Monthly Meeting(s) from one Quarterly Meeting to another, a minute proposing the move of a Monthly Meeting from one Quarterly Meeting to another is presented to both Quarterly Meetings. It includes a brief history and the reasons for the proposed action. The minute is circulated to the constituent Monthly Meetings of both Quarterly Meetings in sufficient time that the Monthly Meetings may prepare comments for their Quarterly Meeting sessions before Yearly Meeting. When both Quarterly Meetings have approved the minute, it is forwarded to the Yearly Meeting.

In the case of the withdrawal of a Monthly Meeting from a Quarterly Meeting, a minute proposing such a withdrawal is presented by the Monthly Meeting to the Quarterly Meeting from which it wishes to withdraw. It includes a brief history and the reasons for the proposed action. The Quarterly Meeting circulates the minute to the other constituent Monthly Meetings in sufficient time that the other Monthly Meetings may prepare comments for a Quarterly Meeting session before Yearly Meeting. When the Quarterly Meeting has approved [endorsed? acknowledged? recorded?] the minute, it is forwarded to the Yearly Meeting.

Version a): A minute recording the approval of the creation, laying down, or the reconfiguration of a Quarterly Meeting, or the withdrawal of a Monthly Meeting from a Quarterly Meeting, is forwarded to Representative Meeting and, if approved, to the Yearly Meeting. The change becomes effective at the conclusion of the Yearly Meeting sessions at which it has been approved.
Version b): A minute recording the creation, laying down, or the reconfiguration of a Quarterly Meeting, or the withdrawal of a Monthly Meeting from a Quarterly Meeting, is forwarded to the Yearly Meeting for its information. The change becomes effective at the conclusion of the Yearly Meeting sessions at which the change in alignment is recorded [recognized?].

We heard a sense that since the Yearly Meeting approves establishment of Monthly Meetings, it should also approve changes in status and affiliation of Monthly Meetings. We heard a question on whether the Yearly Meeting in session (rather than Representative Meeting) should deal with changes in status. We heard a recommendation that our procedures deal with disbursement of funds, with archival records, and with representative positions named by Quarterly Meetings when Quarterly Meetings are laid down. We heard that our Quarterly Meetings have a wide range of robustness, and that there is not unity within the Yearly Meeting as to their proper role.

We DIRECTED the Clerk of Manual of Procedure Committee and the Clerk of Representative Meeting to prepare material on procedures for changes of status of Meetings, for consideration by our Monthly and Quarterly Meetings, soliciting replies and information to allow our consideration of the matter again at our 10/1999 Representative Meeting. The material is to reflect concerns and suggestions shared today. The material is to contain the recommendation that change of status minutes be forwarded to Representative Meeting and to the Yearly Meeting, with changes to become effective at the conclusion of the Yearly Meeting session at which minutes have been approved. The material is to contain the recommendation, regarding withdrawal of a Monthly Meeting from a Quarterly Meeting, that when a Quarterly Meeting has recorded a withdrawal minute it is forwarded to Representative Meeting.

Miriam Green undertook to organize an effort to solicit responses from Meetings on procedures for changes of status. David Etheridge reported having solicited Monthly Meeting consideration of the laying down of Potomac Half-Yearly Meeting, asking that replies be received in time for our 10/1999 Representative Meeting.

R99-24 Epistle Committee: Maria Bradley, on behalf of Epistle Committee, presented the Committee's self evaluation (refer to the section on Committee Reports for the written report).

We EMPOWERED the committee, each year at its discretion, to await Fall Representative Meeting for presentation of its epistle.
Ad Hoc Search Committee: Jeanne Snyder reported on behalf of the Ad Hoc Search Committee. At the committee's recommendation, we NAMED Hofmeister and Steve Davidson to serve on Search Committee through 2002. DEFERRED the naming of an Ad Hoc Search Committee.

Search Committee: We heard from Elizabeth Hofmeister on behalf of the Search Committee. At the committee's recommendation, we AGREED to make the nominations at our upcoming annual session: Marjorie Scott, Presiding Clerk of Representative Meeting, through 2001; Arthur David Olson, Record-Clerk of Representative Meeting, through 2001; Sheila Bach, Treasurer, through 12/31/2001; Kevin Caughlan (Sandy Spring), Assistant Treasurer, through 12/31/2001; Peter Schenck, Supervisory Committee through 2001; Rob Smith (Washington), Supervisory Committee through 2001; Diane Younkins (Pender), Nominating Committee through 2000.

Nominating Committee: Betsy Wollaston, on behalf of Nominating Committee reported the resignations of Diane Beverly (Richmond) and Janice Dean (Adelphi) from Nurture and Recognition of Ministry, and of Ann Gray (Richmond), Tom Smith (Adelphi), and Nancy Varner (Little Falls) from Ministry and Counsel. We ACCEPTED these resignations.

Indian Affairs: We heard from Dellie James, clerk of Indian Affairs committee. Dellie read from the committee's annual report as it appears in the Yearly Meeting's advance reports. We heard of ongoing discussions with Friends Meeting of Washington to take up oversight of the work of Partnership with the Torreon/Starlake Chapter, and of Right Sharing of World Religions' consideration of taking up oversight.

Presiding Clerk of Yearly Meeting: Lamar Matthew, Presiding Clerk of Yearly Meeting, thanked us for our help in filling the agenda of our coming annual session, which also includes minutes seasoned by Virginia Yearly's Meeting and Chesapeake Quarterly Meeting. Lamar contrasted War's travel of 600 miles in two days with Woolman's travel of 1700 miles in the months.

Supervisory Committee: Marjorie Scott reported on behalf of Supervisory Committee. Staff salaries are listed below:

General Secretary: $40,300 plus retirement and housing
Religious Education Secretary: $15,000 plus retirement (3/5 time)
Youth Secretary: $10,000 plus insurance (2/5 time)
Office Manager: $27,500 plus retirement
Camp Administrative Secretary: $27,000 plus retirement plus insurance
Secretary/Receptionist: $6,750
Residential Wilderness Camp Directors: $4,500 plus $100 per year of experience.
Teen Adventure and Quaker Arts Camp Directors: $3,000 plus $100 per year of experience
Residential Wilderness Camp Assistant Directors: $2,200 plus $50 per year of experience
Camp Staff: $1,300 plus $50 per year of experience
Camp Counselors (college): $1,200 plus $50 per year of experience
Camp Counselors (high school, first year): $550
Camp Counselors (high school, second year): $700

R99-32 Program Committee: Sheila Bach reported on behalf of Program Committee. We FORWARDED to our upcoming annual session the committee’s recommendation that we hold our year 2000 annual session from 7/31 through 8/6/2000.

R99-33 General Secretary: Frank Massey, General Secretary, announced the availability of annual reports and paperback-sized copies of the Manual of Procedure. Frank reported that pre-camp has begun and that Representative Meeting is, as of today, the employer of about eighty camp staffers.

R99-34 Friends United Meeting: Howard Fullerton reported on the upcoming Friends United Meeting Triennial. We heard that cookbooks, pencils, bookmarks, peace cranes, and weather indicators have been collected for presentation to attenders.

R99-35 Closing: We thanked Goose Creek Friends for their hospitality. We heard, corrected, and APPROVED these minutes, along with the attachment of written versions of reports given. We ADJOURNED, to gather next on 10/23/1999 at Little Falls Meeting House in Fallston, Maryland, or at the call of the Presiding Clerk.

Marjorie Scott, Clerk

Arthur David Olson, Recording Clerk
Baltimore Yearly Meeting
Annual Session Minutes

Y99 - 1 The 328th Session of Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends opened on the Third of Eighth Month, 1999, at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, with Lamar Matthew (YorkMM), Clerk, at the table. Joining him were Nancy G. Clark (BHomez), Reading Clerk, and Ronald E. Mattson (BSnRn), Recording Clerk. As we centered into worship, the Reading Clerk read excerpts from the 1998 Epistle of Norway Yearly Meeting, urging us to “make full use of our gifts to serve in love.” In the worship that continued there was vocal ministry expressing thanks for our young Friends and for our joy in once more being gathered for Yearly Meeting session.

Y99 - 2 Welcome and Introductions: The Clerk welcomed the guests who are joining us for these sessions and Traveling Minutes were read for the following Friends:

- Isaiah Bikokwa, missionary to the Friends Church (Quakers) in East Africa, serving at Sambura Friends Mission. He attended the recent Friends United Triennial at The College of William and Mary in Virginia.
- David M. Blamires, a member of Hardshaw East Monthly Meeting, in Britain Yearly Meeting. He is the editor of Friends’ Quarterly and will be sharing in the Bible sessions at our Yearly Meeting.
- John “Jack” and Robin Powelson of Boulder Monthly Meeting, Intermountain Yearly Meeting. Robin Powelson also travels under a Minute of Intermountain Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, “seeking to consult with Friends on their processes for developing and revising Faith and Practice documents.”
- Abisai Nandoya, representing Vokoli Yearly Meeting of Friends, Kenya. He was also at the Friends United Meeting Triennial in Virginia.

Also present and introduced were:

- Darryl Clemmer, Executive Director, Friends House Retirement Community, Sandy Spring, and Mary Cozad, Resident Director of Friends House.
- Thomas Taylor, Ann Arbor Monthly Meeting, Lake Erie Yearly Meeting. Thomas has recently completed 12 years of service with Friends World Committee for Consultation, London, and will be the Carey Memorial Lecturer on Seventh Day evening.
- Bobbi Kelly, Media Monthly Meeting, Philadelphia Yearly Meeting. She also is representing Pendle Hill, the Quaker conference and retreat center at Wallingford, Pennsylvania.
- Amber Dawn Fager, the four-year old granddaughter of Charles Fager and first-time attender at Baltimore Yearly Meeting business sessions.
Manual of Procedure, First Reading: Marjorie “Marney” Akins (M) read three proposed changes in the Manual of Procedure that have forwarded to the Yearly Meeting sessions from Representative Meeting. Recommendations deal with the Ad Hoc Search Committee to nominate the Committee of Representative Meeting, incorporating the new status of the Sharing of World Resources as it has become a separate organization. The clarification of membership on the Coordinating Council for Youth and Specific language for the proposed changes will be found in Y99-30, when approved.

Clerk of Representative Meeting of Baltimore Yearly Meeting: Marjorie Akins (BSTnRn) reported on the Representative sessions this past year at State Line, Bethesda, and Goose Creek. As she reviewed actions of Representatives this past year, she noted:

That Frank Massey has been appointed editor of The Interchange; a Traveling Minute was prepared for Margery Larabee (WashFM) as she traveled to present workshops/retreats on spiritual themes; Endorsements of the recommendations of Sandy Spring Monthly Meeting of Sarah Van Degrift and Annapolis Friends Meeting of Ted Riley to Earlham School of Religion for Cooper Scholarships took place, with both students being granted these important awards; Dellie James (BSTnRn), Clerk of the Indian Affairs Committee, indicated that that Committee had notified Patricia Kutzner (WashFM) that they would not be able to continue financial support after a three-month time period;

Deer Creek Monthly Meeting has withdrawn from Nottingham Quarterly Meeting and Potomac Half Yearly Meeting has asked to be laid down;

Hopewell Monthly Meeting and Winchester Centre Monthly Meeting have minuted their combining into one Meeting, to be called Hopewell Centre Monthly Meeting and they will meet at the Hopewell Meeting House.

Friends APPROVED naming Martha Gay (Adelph) and Douglas Eaby (Nottingham) to the Ad Hoc Search Committee of Representative Meeting for one year (R99-30).

General Secretary of Baltimore Yearly Meeting: Frank Massey (Mspg), started his annual report by introducing BYM staff: Rachel Zuses (Mspg), Office Assistant, Maria Bradley (StnSpg) part-time Office receptionist/secretary, Michele Levasseur (TkPkPM), Youth Secretary and second member to Washington Quaker Work camps, Margo Lehman (StnSpg), Visiting Education Secretary, Joshua “Josh” Riley (HopCntr), Camp Administrative Secretary, and Diana Jusino (Adelph), Office Manager. Diana, lovingly known as the ‘voice of Baltimore Yearly Meeting’, will be leaving her position in Ninth Month as she awaits the arrival of her first child. Frank expressed his appreciation to the entire staff and praised them for their dedication.
In his report, Frank raised three questions that he felt were appropriate for the Yearly Meeting to consider anew during the coming year: 1) Who are we as Baltimore Yearly Meeting?; 2) What are we seeking to accomplish as a Yearly Meeting?; and 3) How will we accomplish this work? Representative Meeting, Supervisory Committee, and the Yearly Meeting will be asked to explore these questions raised by Frank in his report. There was also a request that a minute of appreciation for Diana Jusino be prepared for consideration at a later session.

Thomas “Tom” Fox (LangHI), Clerk of Langley Hill, introduced a Minute from that Meeting requesting consideration of a possible name change for Baltimore Yearly Meeting. Their Meeting has circulated a letter to all Monthly Meetings within the Yearly Meeting and has offered one possible option in the name of Chesapeake Yearly Meeting. Sheila Bach (LangHI) read a brief historical chronology of the name of our Yearly Meeting and a copy is attached to these Minutes as “Appendix A.” As consideration of this proposal progressed, it became apparent that there was not unity in a name change at this time.

Friends were reminded that it might be appropriate to attempt to answer first the questions that Frank Massey has just raised (Y99 - 5) as to who we are and how we approach our work. Another Friend reminded the session that it is important to consider how we treat one another as we seek additional seasoning on this matter. The matter was laid over at this time and no specific date was scheduled for its return to Yearly Meeting sessions.

Announcements for today included information on the 6 p.m. meeting for those attending Yearly Meeting for the first time; the hours of the bookstore; the request for Friends to add their greetings to the cards being prepared for those we want to remember and who are not able to be with us for the sessions; and the invitation to join Young Friends for their special program conversations on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from 9:15 to 9:45 p.m.

As we drew this Meeting for Worship with a Concern for Business to a close, the Reading Clerk shared a Minute from the 1861 Baltimore Yearly Meeting (Orthodox) sessions dealing with the sadness Friends experienced when “all communications with our Meetings south of the Potomac having been cut off... with no report from the Half Year’s Meeting of Virginia.”

The evening session: Sheila Bach (LangHI), speaking for the Yearly Meeting Program Committee, introduced a time of worship sharing for the evening time together. We explored four quotations centering around our personal and corporate discernment of how justice is nurtured and experienced in our world.
Day
of Eighth Month 1999

Opening: As Friends settled into expectant waiting during the opening of worship, Georgene "Geni" Elliott (BStnRn), Reading Clerk for the session, read the "Plenary Statement from the Gathering of Friends on Affairs," 2 May 1999, "... seeking to support rather than direct the lead-
Native communities where we are called...We call upon Quakers to reaffirm our historic commitment of the Society of Friends to seek justice with Na-

At the table were Glenda Goodman (Adolph), Clerk of Balti-
Yearly Meeting Young Friends, Frances Darnell (Fredrk), BYM Young Friends Co-Planner, and Ronald E. Mattson, Recording Clerk.

Also attended were Aron Teel and Ted Siedlecki (Charlt), Greg (Fredrk), and Catherine Sherman, Valley Mills Meeting, West-
Yearly Meeting. Catherine has recently moved to Charlottesville to begin more studies.

0 Report on Friends United Meeting Triennial Sessions: Sessions were held at The College of William and Mary in Virginia last month. Opening this session, Gene Hillman (Nottingham) announced that the new Clerk of Friends Meeting is Stanley Ballard, recent Clerk of Iowa Yearly Meeting, FUM. Thomas is the new Assistant Clerk and Clerk of the 2002 Triennial Plan-
Committee. Clarence Ball was appointed Clerk of the 2003 Triennial Plan-Committee. Ann Cope of the more Yearly Meeting (SndSpg) is the new Reading Clerk.

And Margaret "Peggy" Fry (WestBr) reminded us that the Triennial theme has been taken from the scriptural question, "Whom shall I send? Who shall I go with?" They noted that we respond to these questions by going through periods of cleansing, challenge, and response before going forth.

Richmond Friends, with Richmond Friends, were very organized in providing welcoming to all who attended and they helped show forth the joy that is in being open to each other.

Bradley (SndSpg), reporting on the new business of the Triennial, shared the call that will be going out for our participation in Jubilee 2000, a world-wide initiative that will call for a massive forgiveness of debt around the globe. We are called for our input and response to this opportunity to create a moral world-wide economy and, as such, need for our constituent Monthly Meetings to labor under this call for justice. This matter will be continued in the Seventh Day business sessions.
Howard Fullerton (SndSpg) told of the detailed support that was provided by Baltimore Yearly Meeting as hosts for this Triennial. Special acknowledgment was noted of the gift of musical accompaniment provided during the singing by Beth Massey (SndSpg). Forty-eight Friends from our Yearly Meeting were in attendance.

Y99-11 Minutes one through eight were read, corrected and APPROVED. Minutes nine through eleven were then read and APPROVED.

Y99-12 Camp Properties Management Committee: Ronald “Ron” Akins (Bethes), reporting on the continuing stewardship of this committee over the Yearly Meeting camping facilities, Camp Catoctin and Camp Shiloh, told of the proposed plans for correcting adjacent environmental concerns at Camp Catoctin. The camp caretakers have, this past year, carefully supervised maintenance and physical improvements at both camps. A benefactor has provided needed funds for restoring the log cabin at Shiloh and it was noted that we have benefitted from the services Jason Maloney (MattWG) as an intern at Camp Catoctin.

Y99-13 Camping Program Committee: Howard Zuses (SndSpg), Co-Clerk of the Yearly Meeting Camping Program Committee, shared with the session a brief review of all our programming—Camp Shiloh, Camp Catoctin, Teen Adventures, Inward Bound and Quaker Arts Camp. Linda Garretson, Director of Catoctin Quaker Camp, referenced the collective experience of that camp management staff, where the equivalent of over 50 years of experience and richness is being used in working with our young people at Catoctin. Amy Williamson, Director of Teen Adventure, reported on the 59 young people who were involved in this program during the summer sessions. She noted that it is the “rough stuff of this experience that provides a vehicle for individual spiritual development and personal transformation.”

Dana Foster, Director of Camp Shiloh, talked of the shared richness that has come from programs at this camp, programs that call for the intense involvement of each camper in a time of personal searching and faith exploration.

Howard closed the report on the BYM camping program with an acknowledgment of the interconnected, inter-generational nature of the work that is being nurtured through this special Yearly Meeting ministry. We have gone, in a five-year time period, to a much more self-sustaining financial base with only a minimal fee increase. This year we have increased our camper numbers so that 450 young people are able to be a part of this special programming. As we closed, Friends united in expressing a special word of thanks to Howard for his work during these past years.
Friends United To Use Resources Effectively (F.U.T.U.R.E.) Subcommitte Report: Christina "Chris" Connell (Annapo) and Howard Zuses (SndSpdg) reviewed the results that have been accomplished in response to the charge by the Yearly Meeting laid upon this Subcommittee several years ago to raise $500,000 for Yearly Meeting Planning needs. Almost every individual, Meeting has been visited and nearly 800 responses have come from Friends, individuals and groups who were approached.

Friends united in smiles and thanksgiving when it was announced that $576,000 had been raised to date of the $600,000 goal. This capital campaign has provided an excellent program and allowed the work urgently needed to be taken.

First Reading of the Budget for Fiscal Year 2000: Richard "Rich" Tisdge (WashFM) reminded Friends that the proposed budget for FY 2000 and on pages 43 - 53 of the Advance Reports and the annual report for the Board of Directors and Finance Committee is found on pages 17 - 22 of the Supplemental Reports. The total amount budgeted for next year's Yearly Meeting program and outreach has been set at $833,000. Friends are to review these figures and read the Committee's reports before these matters return to Yearly Meeting business sessions for action on Seventh Day.

Two visiting Friends from Ngong Road Monthly Meeting from each, Nairobi Yearly Meeting of Friends, Kenya, Sarah Mwanzi and Selly Tolo, were present. They were introduced and welcomed among us.

Acknowledgment was noted for the roses that appear each year on the Clerk's table, a gift from a local Friend and brought into our sessions by Ann Heaton (wdr). During announcements it was noted that the Program Committee would meet over lunch and that workshop locations for this afternoon have been posted in the lobby outside the main Dining Room.

Minutes 12 through 16 were read, corrected and APPROVED. As we adjourned, the Reading Clerk read from a report of Baltimore Yearly Meeting (Orp) for the year 1869:

The assigned quotas of this Yearly Meeting for the Indian and Peace Mission concerns were cheerfully appropriated, and $1,000 was raised by voluntary contribution for the Southern Aid Association [for the relief of Friends in North Carolina].

Afternoon sessions: During the afternoon sessions Friends participated in different workshops, exploring both the riches of our faith and spiritual health, as well as our involvement with issues of the world.
At 4:45 p.m. Friends gathered with David M. Blamires for a period of exploring the theme of “Children in the Bible.” He spoke of the awe, wonder and amazement of children as they approached the Bible and he noted that oft-times it is the “helplessness of children that becomes an invitation to love.” (Note: In subsequent sessions he is talking of “Children and Parents in the Bible,” “Children and the Hand of God,” and “Children and the Birth of Jesus.”)

Fifth Day
Fifth of Eighth Month 1999

Y99-19 Opening: As Friends gathered in worship, Margaret Stambaugh (Gtysbg), today’s Reading Clerk, shared excerpts from the 1999 Epistle of Nebraska Yearly Meeting. While issues may be challenging, “... we can unite only in our determination to continue our search for unity in understanding the Spirit’s leading, and to be tender with each other.” Lamar Matthew (YorkMM), Clerk, welcomed to the table Alison Duncan (Adelph), former Assistant Clerk of Young Friends, and Glenda Goodman (Adelph), Presiding Clerk of Baltimore Yearly Meeting Young Friends. Ronald E. Mattson was Recording Clerk.

Welcomed to the morning sessions was Michael Wajda, Goshen Monthly Meeting, Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, and staff member of Friends General Conference.

Y99-20 Ad Hoc Committee on Web Publishing: Howard Fullerton (SndSpg), speaking for this group, told of the developments that have taken place since this project was initiated three years ago. Friends APPROVED of continuing this committee as a subcommittee of the Publications Committee and also APPROVED referring this matter to the Manual of Procedure Committee. It was noted that the Ad Hoc Committee on Web Publishing appoints a web page manager and is conscious of the fact that this resource should not replace any existing form of communications currently in use within the Yearly Meeting.

Y99-21 Ad Hoc Committee on Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns: Bonnie Stockslager (Herndn), Clerk, reported on the work of this group during the past two years, as well as the work that has been done in its six year existence. She noted that the Ad Hoc Committee is asking for a two-year extension of the committee’s existence in order to carry out the Committee’s charge. APPROVED.

Y99-22 Search Committee: Elizabeth “Liz” Hofmeister (Bethes), Clerk of Search Committee of Representative Meeting, reminded us that this Committee is charged with bringing forth names for officers of Baltimore Yearly Meeting. Names read for specific offices were: Treasurer, Sheila Bach (LangHl) through 2001; Assistant Treasurer, Kevin Caughlan (SndSpg) through 2001; Clerk of Representative Meeting, Marjorie F. Scott (BStnRn) through 2001; Recording Clerk of Representative Meeting, Arthur David Olson (TkPkPM) through 2001;
Ministry Committee, Class of 2001, Robert "Bob" Smith (WashFM) and Robert Schenck (TkpPpM); Nominating Committee, Class of 2001, Diane (Fredr). All names were APPROVED.

Minute from Virginia Half-Year’s Meeting on Equality of Marriage

Henrik "Hank" A. Schutz, Clerk, Virginia Half-Years Meeting, introduced and then read, a minute which this body has now forwarded to us for consideration. The Minute reads:

Virginia Half-Years Meeting extends its full welcome to members with regard to sexual orientation; it affirms its support of Meetings’ witnessing to marriages between couples of the same sex who are found to marry under the care of Monthly Meetings, understanding that full support under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia is not present for this commitment; it will publish the minute to all Virginia Meetings and send it also to Baltimore Yearly Meeting, requesting a like minute be composed in due course by the Baltimore Yearly Meeting, and will sponsor efforts to make same-sex marriage legal in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Accompanying letter also says, in part: “Our minute is not intended to suggest that we have found all the answers to these questions, but we do believe that the time to engage one another in a process of spiritual discernment. We commend and urge Friends to join us.”

The Clerk acknowledged the receipt of this Minute and APPROVED forwarding to constituent Monthly and Quarterly Meetings for consideration. Accompanying information will be prepared for inclusion with this mailing.

More “Ted” Siedlecki (Charlt) presented his traveling minute from Statesville Monthly Meeting, releasing him to travel throughout Baltimore Yearly Meeting under the weight of a concern for same sex marriage rights and Friends to hold him in prayerful concern. He spoke of the personal pilgrimage, with his life partner, Aron Teel, they have traveled in seeking to be under the care of their Monthly Meeting.

Rie Wereld, speaking for Baltimore Yearly Meeting Young Friends, brought a minute approved by that body at their 1998 Yearly Meeting sessions and subsequent Young Friends Gathering. Their Minute read:

Young Friends of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, living in the Quaker tradition, believe that this Yearly Meeting should not only permit but should embrace same-sex marriage. Quaker testimonies, according to Baltimore Yearly Meeting Faith and Practice, provide ample justification for this stance. “The testimonies spring from respect for truth; for peace, harmony, and a settled intention to practice love; for simplicity, community, and the equal worth of all people." (p. 96) The testimony of equality provides the most obvious support for our position. In living this testimony, we must allow the ministry of love to be available to all. Sexual orientation does not diminish or alter the Divine Light that Quakers recognize in every person. Quakers have often been at the forefront of similar struggles for equal rights, such as the abolition of slavery, women’s suffrage, and the Civil Rights movement. Now presented with a new struggle, should we not continue to put our testimonies into action?

Our respect for peace and harmony leads us to uphold the spirit of the community. Since we strive to be welcoming to all people, must we not foster an environment in which all can pursue their spiritual journeys? If in the course of that journey a leading for marriage occurs, the Meeting has an obligation to allow way to open for the couple. When a religious tradition cannot fulfill the spiritual needs of its members, they are excluded from the community. As marriage is a spiritual need, people who cannot marry under the Religious Society of Friends may be forced to meet their needs elsewhere.

Our community should empower people to be true to themselves and their leading. If two people are led to make a lifelong commitment to each other, then to repress such an essential part of themselves goes against the "testimony of truthfulness." (p. 10)

Quakers have no expectations about what is necessary in a marriage, besides the existence of a powerful love. Every marriage is unique. In celebrating same-sex marriage we will enhance the already present diversity and strength of our Quaker community.

After a brief break, Friends returned to worship and a further exploring of our previous labors concerning the Minute from Virginia Half-Year’s Meeting. We were reminded that the basis for any action we take must recognize that we are in good order only when God calls us into relationship. Another Friend expressed discomfort with the use of the specific term of "marriage," but there were no expressions to suggest that we should not begin our seeking for clearness on this matter.

Y99-24 Nominating Committee: Elizabeth "Susie" Fetter (Roanok), Clerk, spoke of specific changes in committee composition that have been noted (for information) in the preliminary report that was distributed this morning. The full report will come before Sessions on Seventh Day morning for approval. As she spoke, she noted specific committees where assistance is needed and each was asked to search his/her own leading for possible service.
Report from Friends World Committee for Consultation: Thomas Taylor, Ann Arbor Monthly Meeting, Michigan, and former FWCC General Secretary, London, pointed out the many FWCC materials that are available for our use during these sessions. The upcoming Triennial sessions will be next year in New Hampshire. Within the Section of the Americas, FWCC has moved focus their programs on learning to know each other across barriers. These programs find specific expression in Visitation, Wider Quaker Fellowship, Quaker Pilgrimage, and Comité de los Amigos Latinamericanos (Committee of American Friends).

As Friends continued to worship before closing our morning session, the Reading Clerk read from an extract of the 1882 Proceedings of the Baltimore Yearly Meeting of Women Friends (Hicksite):

We have had the company of ministering Friends from other Yearly Meetings, whose words of sweet counsel have encouraged us to renewed efforts in the performance of every good work that may be required at our hands, and warm welcome was extended to those with and without minutes, even amongst our youngest members.

Evening Program: “Friends Around the World” was the theme for the evening’s inter-generational program co-operatively organized by the Junior Yearly Meeting Friends and the staff of that program. Friends of all ages were encouraged to make an African animal mask, play cricket, sample ethnic foods from India, construct a Tutsi basket, decorate with face-painting and create original works of art with a ‘spinning’ flair. Friends strolled on the campus lawn while listening to Young Friends drumming, and viewed the pro-youth, anti-gun gang on display and ‘haggled’ with a mock gun merchant. (This last event was developed from the AFSC workshop earlier in the day.)

Eighth Day
Tenth of Eighth Month 1999

Opening: Friends gathered for morning worship at 9:15 a.m., with our longest Friends joining us for this opening time. Howard Fullerton (SndSpg), the Reading Clerk for the Day, shared excerpts from the “Epistle of Central and Southern Africa Yearly Meeting” as they gathered for their 50th Anniversary sessions last Twelfth Month. They reminded us to be “faithful to our own vision” and they told of the delight they found in an evening spent listening to personal accounts of their Yearly Meeting history from their “living ancestors.” So at the table were Lamar Matthew (YorkMM), Clerk, Katie DeWeerd (Kidlthn), Assistant Clerk and Joel Williams (WlnsBgl), Clerk, of Baltimore Yearly Meeting Young Friends, and Ronald Mattson, Recording Clerk.
Welcomed to the session were Gary Gillespie (BHomew), Lorrie Schoettler (BHomew), and Sheila Bach (LanHl), staff of the Middle Atlantic Regional Office in Baltimore of the American Friends Service Committee.

Y99-29 Introduction and Recognition of the Yearly Meeting Program for Junior Yearly Meeting and Young Friends: Eric Uberseder (DunCrk), coordinator for the Junior Yearly Meeting Planning Committee, introduced the dedicated individuals who are working with the children this week.

As each unit facilitator was recognized introductions were made of others also working with the different age groups. Introduced were Ellen Johnson (StaCol) [working with the children from birth to Kindergarten], June Confer (Adelph) [four year olds to fifth grade], Anna Rain (Adelph) [Afternoon Program Coordinator], Susan Vanderhoff (BStnRn) [Evening Program Coordinator], and Linda Coates (LilBrt) [Junior Young Friends]. Joel Williams (WlmsBg) listed the FAPs (Friendly Adult Presence) who have been involved with the Young Friends programs.

Over 40 different names were shared during this introduction and their work with young Friends was acknowledged and appreciated. This wonderful example of a very active program culminated with the entire Yearly Meeting joining with our visiting Friends from Kenya in singing, “Jesu Anipenda,” a Swahili translation of the children’s’ hymn, “Jesus Loves Me.”

Y99-30 Minute from Alexandria Monthly Meeting: As we continued to worship, John Mason (Alexan) read their minute to Yearly Meeting:

Alexandria Monthly Meeting expresses its profound concern about the practice of smoking at Young Friends’ gatherings in Baltimore Yearly Meeting. On the basis of longstanding Friends’ testimonies and beliefs, local and state law, and medical and scientific knowledge, we seek a Young Friends’ community that meets in a smoke-free environment.

In the accompanying letter, they wrote that they ‘encourage those who share our concerns to join us in this endeavor, and to hold our Young Friends in the Light.’

Glenda Goodman (Adelph) read a letter from Young Friends to the Yearly Meeting:

When Young Friends meet together, we strive to foster a community built on caring, trust, and love. The concern of smoking is a living issue, which Young Friends have addressed in the past and will continue to address in the future. We appreciate the concern brought foraddressed by Alexandria Monthly Meeting and the greater BYM community. We understand that this concern comes out of love for Young Friends and a concern for the health of Young Friends.

This awareness of this concern has been present throughout the evolution of Young Friends. Over the years Young Friends have engaged in a wide variety of discussions and worship sharings, including a called conference on smoking this past April. We have developed clear designated outdoor areas for smoking and places for the disposal of cigarette butts at conferences. We strive to act with a concern not only for ourselves, but also with a concern and respect for our Meeting House hosts.

The spiritual nature and unconditional love and respect of the group is a reason that it provides the support and strength for Young Friends to make their own choices on health decisions. We hope that at future conferences we will be able to help smokers with the process of ceasing to smoke if they so desire.

In our discussions we examined the guidelines of our community, how the issues we are facing are related. We ultimately decided to be true to ourselves, and stick with a community that is built on caring, support, and love. We feel that tolerance, acceptance, and unconditional love are integral testimonies that Young Friends have, do, and always will abide by. To ban smoking at conferences is unfaithful to our testimonies and us. Quaker history has shown that to disown or banish weakens the society as a whole.

The fact that some Young Friends do not attend conferences because of smoking at conferences saddens us. We open our community to all, and will continue to work on this in the future.

The richness of our diversity strengthens our community and our society.

Baltimore Young Friends.

Young Friends will also publish in a future issue of the Interchange a list of Queries they have written on this subject.)

A minute from Alexandria Monthly Meeting was received, with appreciation and was supported by several Friends from the floor. We united in realizing that we must continue to labor on a discernment process for a smoke-free environment, as our hope is that one day Baltimore Yearly Meeting will have such an environment. As we shared our personal stories, we commended our Young Friends for their seeking of clearness in this matter. We were moved by the element of hope they bring to this process. We will return to this matter later in our sessions. Read, and APPROVED as corrected.

Y99-31 Manual of Procedure, Ad Hoc Search Committee: Marjorie “Marney” Akins (WashFM) read three changes being proposed (Y99-3):

Key: Underlining indicates an addition to the existing language or new language Strikeout indicates a deletion.

The first deals with the Ad Hoc Search Committee and proposes changing the fourth paragraph of the description of the Search Committee to bring it in line with the action of the Yearly Meeting naming the Ad Hoc Search Committee to serve for one year (Y98-56, R99-3, R99-25):

On Spring Summer Yearly Meeting Day, Representative Meeting appoints from the floor an ad hoc committee of two or three Friends to nominate Friends for appointment to fill the vacancies on the Search Committee. This ad hoc committee serves for one year or until a new ad hoc committee is appointed. The ad hoc committee usually presents its recommendations to Representative Meeting on Summer Yearly Meeting Day. At any time the ad hoc committee may present to Representative Meeting nominations to fill vacancies on the Search Committee which occur during the year.

APPROVED.

Y99-32 Manual of Procedure, Right Sharing of World Resources Committee: Because of organizational structure change, the following factual change is proposed (R99-26, Y99-3):

The Right Sharing of World Resources Committee is composed of 15 members nominated by the Nominating Committee and appointed by the Yearly Meeting. In addition, individuals may be co-opted to serve on the Committee, particularly from those local Meetings not otherwise represented.

This Committee should keep alive throughout the Yearly Meeting membership the challenge to simplify our own lives and to share with people in the developing countries our financial resources and our own lives and experiences. This Committee, with the guidance of and in cooperation with the Friends World Committee for Consultation Rights Sharing of World Resources, Inc., is responsible for selecting the specific projects of economic and social development to which funds contributed under this program by members of the Yearly Meeting shall be devoted. It may also bring to the attention of the Yearly Meeting other international concerns which affect relationships between the economically developed and less-developed countries.

PROVED.

99-33 Manual of Procedure. Youth Programs Committee: In order to include appropriate cross-references needed in the Coordinating Council for Youth Programs, the following three paragraphs replace the current fourth paragraph (R99-Y99-3):

The Youth Programs Committee appoints a Baltimore Yearly Meeting high school youth as a representative to the Fund for Conscience Subcommittee of the Peace and Social Concerns Committee. The adult and youth Co-clerks of the Young Friends Yearly Meeting Planning Subcommittee serve on the Program Committee.

The Youth Programs Committee names an adult representative to serve on the Coordinating Council for Youth Programs. One adult representative to serve on the Coordinating Council for Youth Programs is also named by each of the following: the Young Friends Conference Subcommittee, the Young Friends Yearly Meeting Program Planning Subcommittee, and the Young Quakes United Planning Subcommittee.

Every three years, according to the YouthQuake cycle, the Youth Programs Committee recommends the name of an adult to the Nominating Committee for appointment by the Yearly Meeting to serve a three-year term as the Yearly Meeting representative to the YouthQuake Planning Committee.

PROVED.

99-34 Spiritual State of the Meeting Report: Stephen Davidson (Carlisle), Clerk Ministry and Counsel read the prepared “Spiritual State of the Meeting Report” from Baltimore Yearly Meeting’s Ministry and Counsel Committee. Please refer to page one of this Yearbook for the report.

Questions were raised as to the meaning of specific word usage and the use intended for the Queries attached to the report. A question was asked regarding the process used in sending this transmittal to the Yearly Meeting sessions. The Yearly Meeting Clerk reminded us that we accept this internal report and do not, by practice, ask the Yearly Meeting session to approve.
During discussion, some word changes were incorporated into the text of the offered report. The Yearly Meeting asks Ministry and Counsel to forward the Queries they have included in this report to constituent Monthly Meetings within Baltimore Yearly Meeting. Report accepted, Minute APPROVED.

Y99–35A Report Regarding Released or Endorsed Friends: Mary Lord (Adelph) distributed a four-page “Report” on her experiences as a released or endorsed Friend, working under the care of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, with oversight from Adelphi Monthly Meeting. She was able to list several major areas of creative work—the Quaker Volunteer Service and Witness Network, the Friends Peace Teams Project, and work with a Friends Committee on National Legislation Young Adult Outreach Program. The report also listed difficulties she has experienced in attempting to follow her leadings. In relation to the nurture and function of released or endorsed Friends, Mary challenged Baltimore Yearly Meeting to develop clear policies on this matter, establish specific ground rules, and set forth expectations for those we release.

As we considered this matter, it was recommended that we ask Supervisory Committee to oversee the work of the nurture of ministry of endorsed Friend Mary Lord and see that it goes forward in a timely manner. Concurrently, the Yearly Meeting needs to move on the three requests that Mary has outlined, with final recommendations coming back to Yearly Meeting for approval. We APPROVED revisiting this matter.

Y99–36Announcements: Stan Becker (BHomew) told of the materials that he is asking Friends to review regarding the concern he carries in the area of population control, with the materials being available on the Clerks’ table. He also provided a chronological chart listing the visits that he has made during the past eight months.

Young Friends announced that they are selling a new compact disc that they have produced: Out of the Silence. The cost is $7.00 and contains 18 selections performed by the “Voices of Young Friends of Baltimore Yearly Meeting.”

Y99–37Evening Program: “All Things Bright and Beautiful” described the music that Friends made when they lifted their voices in evening song. Guided by Walt Fry (WestBr), and Thomas Taylor at the piano, Friends sang both familiar and new works, gospel hymns and haunting Latin canon rounds. We sang “Valiant for Truth,” not realizing that this beautiful hymn had been written at the home of one of the former Executive Secretaries of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, Bliss Forbush (BStnRn).

Sheila Bach (LangHl), Clerk of the session’s Program Committee, introduced the theme of the evening’s program: “Doing Quaker Service Overseas.” Panelists were Sam Legg (BStnRn), Jonathan Evans (BStnRn), and Melissa off-Evans. Sam had served, with his wife Edna, in Quaker assignments in face, Switzerland, and Mexico. We laughed with him when he told of relief being sent to Europe after WW II -- with the generous donors enclosing candy in the pockets of the clothing for the children -- the candy bars came smell- of mothballs: "Utterly inedible, but full of good will." But Sam also re- ceded us that "those that can listen can get a lot done." He once described his responsibilities as making sure that "peace is in the world by next Tuesday after- n."

Jonathan and Melissa lived in East Jerusalem from 1992-1997, where Jon was Director of Relief Programs for Catholic Relief Services. While living there, he served as a Trustee of Ramallah Friends School and Melissa taught English grades four and five at the School. They reminded us of a prayer that directs us: we should not be divided by prayers but kept together by the love in our hearts. "Our chance for peace is greatly enlarged when we are able to tell of the suffering on the other side.

The Ninth Day
Ninth of Eighth Month 1999

Morning session: Friends APPROVED allowing our period of opening that worship to be tape-recorded by a visiting Friend from New Orleans. As Friends gathered into opening worship, we remembered and held in the Light of our families of Edith Lowe (a North Carolina Friend and aunt of Beth Massey [dSpg]) and James Garretson of Annapolis Friends. In the ancient language of friends, they have "Crossed Over" while we have been at Yearly Meeting Sessions.

Sister Ceppa (Alexan), Reading Clerk for the Day, read from the 1888 Men’s Quarterly Meeting (Hicksite) Minutes on the subject "of holding Preparative, Monthly and Quarterly Meeting in joint session with the Women’s Meetings [this] was spread before the Meeting, and a very general expression was given favor of such a change."

Also joining Clerk Lamar Matthew (YorkMM) at the table were Nellie Shook (Romew), Young Friends Representative, Elisa Austell (BStnRn), Assistant Clerk of Young Friends, and Ronald E. Mattson (BStnRn), Recording Clerk.

Welcome to the sessions were Lyle Jenks (Old Chatham Monthly Meeting, New York Yearly Meeting), visiting for Friends General Conference; Gretchen (Alexan), representing Friends Committee on National Legislation; and Schenck, New Orleans Monthly Meeting, South Central Yearly Meeting.
The revised agenda for the day was read.

Y99-39 Indian Affairs Committee: Dellie James (BStnRn), Clerk, referred us again to the Plenary Statement from the Gathering of Friends on Indian Affairs in Tulsa, Oklahoma, during Fifth Month. She continued by giving an explanation as to why this Yearly Meeting Committee no longer feels that it has the capacity for oversight of the work of Patricia Kutzner among Native Americans in New Mexico. They have subsequently notified her of their wish to terminate oversight of her project in three months time.

Patricia Kutzner (WashFM) reported on her work with the Torreon/Starlake chapter of the Navajo Nation in New Mexico during this past year. She had prepared a written report, which was distributed, and she told Friends of current developments in her work, including recent financial assistance becoming available through Friends Meeting of Washington. She said that there is a proposed oversight committee being drawn together at Friends Meeting of Washington.

Questions raised concerned oversight for this work if no longer under the care of the Yearly Meeting Indian Affairs Committee and the securing of necessary funding if the project is continued. Clarification was sought as to whether we are supporting a project or nurturing a ministry of a released Friend.

Sharon Stout (Adelph) shared a draft of the opening statement of guidelines now being considered by the Committee for Nurture and Recognition of Ministry.

No specific action was clarified and future action must be subsequently brought forth to Yearly Meeting sessions for consideration.

Friends reviewed possible methods of moving forward with this project. We were advised that finances could be arranged should we so desire, but a committee of oversight at some level appears mandatory. Indian Affairs Committee, Nurture and Recognition of Ministry, and Stewardship and Finance are being asked to work with Friends Meeting of Washington to see that this work continues.

An Ad Hoc Oversight Committee was suggested, with several Friends offering their names from the floor. We will look forward to hearing specific details tomorrow morning with a proposed charge for the Committee and a time framework established.

This Minute (Y99-39) was read, corrected, and then APPROVED to go forward.
The Isaiah Bikokwa, Vokoli Yearly Meeting, along with a selected ‘chorus,’ led us with a gospel song in Swahili. Isaiah now has to leave our sessions for his love goes with him as he returns home to Kenya.

Tina Downey (LangHl), former Young Friend, told of the “necessity” of a workshop and then she and several other Young Friends led Friends in embracing examples of heart-to-heart movement.

1. Continuation of Consideration of Concern for Mary Lord’s Work: Lamar McCallum, Clerk (YorkMM), read a statement:

The Committee for Nurture and Recognition of Ministry has met here at Yearly Meeting Sessions. They are in the process of developing guidelines including policy, specific ground rules, and expectations for renewed Friends and their projects. The Committee will meet again at the Representative Meeting in Tenth Month.

However, Mary Lord’s work and our responsibility to her continue. Adelphi Monthly Meeting is most anxious to raise funds for the continual support of Mary’s work.

The proposal to Baltimore Yearly Meeting is that Adelphi Monthly Meeting will raise funds for the support of Mary’s work until the Committee for Nurture and Recognition of Ministry has the necessary procedure in place.

This may involve a one-time use of Baltimore Yearly Meeting’s mailing list for fund raising purposes.

Participants agreed with the statement and approved the use of the Yearly Meeting mailing list for a one-time use by Adelphi Monthly Meeting to solicit funds for Mary Lord’s work.

2. Advancement and Outreach: Gertrude “Trudy” Rogers (SnVyPM), Outreach Committee Clerk, reminded Friends that they needed to review proposed changes to the Manual of Procedure found in the Supplemental Reports (p.7). There is also an urgent need for Meetings to ascertain the accuracy of the directory listed to their Meeting House, time(s) of Meeting for Worship, etc. This is back to Baltimore Yearly Meeting by the 10th of Tenth Month.

3. Final Reading, Nominating Committee Report: Elizabeth “Susie” Fettmanok, Clerk, said that it was the job of the Committee not only to find appropriate people for committee membership, but they also believed that it was their job to build committees so that they function properly.
In giving her report, she noted that additional names may come to Representative Meeting in Tenth Month for approval. The report was APPROVED after minor corrections had been made to the report distributed in advance of their presentation. The full report appears in the section titled “Officers and Committee Members” in this Yearbook.

Y99-44 Seconding Reading of the Budget: Richard “Rich” Liversidge (SndSpg), Outgoing Committee Clerk, brought before us next year’s budget (Y99-15). He noted that our budget has grown from $547,000 in 1993 to a projected $834,000 for this year. This is an average increase of 6.75% per year. While a large percentage of the increase has been in programs that are self-financing, we have seen an approximate 5% annual increase in apportionment costs.

APPROVED amending budget as presented by adding $2,000 income and $2,000 expense for a new category titled “Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership.”

A question was raised as to our financial support for the new Right Sharing of World Resources organization and this will be considered at the next Stewardship and Finance Committee meeting. The Indian Affairs Committee will review our contribution level to the Associated Committee of Friends for Indiana Affairs and may suggest changes in the future. The budget and apportionment were APPROVED. (Please refer to the section on “2000 Budget” in this Yearbook.)

Friends acknowledged with deep appreciation the six years of service that Rich has given to this Committee.

Y99-45 Minute from the Criminal and Restorative Justice Committee: John “Jack” Fogarty (SndSpg) read a Minute which will be considered at tomorrow’s Business session:

Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends minutes its concern for the withdrawal of Pell-Grant higher-education funds from prisoners by the 1994 Crime Bill. This has caused the termination of all college programs within state prisons. Studies have shown that prisoners who participated in college-level courses have half the recidivism rate of those who didn’t. Historically, the prisoners education expenditures have been less than half of one percent of the total Pell grant funds. Economically, the cost of re-incarceration ($25,000/year) far exceeds the cost of prisoner education. Therefore, Baltimore Yearly Meeting urges Congress to permit Pell grant funding of higher education for those in prison.

Y99-46 Friends’ minds were drawn to remember the beloved Friends who have died during the past year and whose names appear on the Yearly Meeting listing of deceased the Silence, Friends expressed their thanks for the lives of these Friends in our hearts we remembered the love and dedication of all those who have for communities during the past year. We closed our time of remembering the week’s Reading Clerk, Judith Ceppa (Alexan), reading two historical statements. The first, talking of Ann Moore of Gumpower, says:

An engagement of mind hath induced us to preserve some account of our valuable friend, the memory of whom is precious, and will not be easily erased from our minds.

The ancient Minute for William Stabler from Alexandria Monthly Meeting reads:

When one with whom we have been closely united in religious communion, and who has long been actively concerned for the welfare of society and the advancement of truth, is removed from works to rewards, some statement of the prominent circumstances of his life seems appropriate, not for the adulation of the dead, but for the encouragement and support of the living.

7 Evening Session: Friends gathered for an open time of singing, with Mary (WestBr) leading the group in favorite hymns and rounds. Then, Friends entertained by, and appreciative of, a choral program presented by “The Meeting Chorus,” assisted by the Friends House (Sandy Spring) and Friends Concert Chorale. Directed by Barry Morley (SndSpg) and accompanied by Beth Massey (SndSpg), the group sang six moving numbers, ranging from a 15th century “Laude” to a contemporary Christmas carol, written by J. Seith, with music by Barry Morley (SndSpg), “Candles in the win-
Tonight's speaker was Thomas Taylor, Friend, member of Ann Arbor Friends Meeting, Michigan, and a former staff member of Friends World Committee for Consultation, London, for 12 years. He brought greetings from his wife, Nancy Emmons Taylor, and in the introduction by Lamar Matthew (YorkMM) there was laughter as Lamar indicated that Nancy sent greeting and "Tom practiced this talk on her and she found it to be acceptable." Tom drew for us a picture of Friends around the world, in some 60 different countries, depicting both the strength and weaknesses of our large family. He outlined both the items that we have in common and those items where we differ from one another. He reminded us that we probably have unity on three-fourths of our theology, and for the other quarter of diversity it is probably very important to remember the words of Meister Eichart, who had indicated that it is "... more important for the child Jesus to be born in each human heart rather than whether or not Jesus was born to a virgin." As he closed, he helped us retain our sense of humor by quoting "Lord, show me the Truth, but spare me the company of those who have found it!"

After the evening's presentation, Tom met with Friends in the parlor for discussion and questions before the Yearly Meeting sessions adjourned to the Young Friends' Coffee House, a much-awaited feature of our time spent together.

First Day
Eighth of Eighth Month 1999

Y99-48 Opening: The early morning hour had brought a small amount of much needed rain before we gathered for our final Meeting for Worship with a Concern for Business. At the table were Lamar Matthew (YorkMM), Clerk, Claudia Wair (LangHl), Reading Clerk, Katie DeWeerd (Mdthln) and Joel Williams (WlmsBgl), Assistant Clerk and Clerk, respectively, of Young Friends, and Ronald E. Mattson (BStnRn), Recording Clerk.

The 1998 Epistle of the Southern Appalachian Yearly Meeting was read and they reminded us that "... conflict is a part of life." They offered encouragement as they reported that they "seem to now be blessed with peace on several fronts. At Yearly Meeting, Friends continued the process of working together through conflicts that have been painful to some of us."

Y99-49 Indian Affairs: Dellie James (BStnRn), Clerk, read the following statement. Indian Affairs stated in our report that:

we support the work [of Pat Kutzner] without reservation ... but found in the absence of a continuing support group that we do not retain the capacity for oversight. However, the Committee recommends Pat to Friends and encourages support so that she may continue this work as way opens to her.
“Way” seems to be coming, at the 11th hour, in the form of a small group of people who have agreed not just to be a support group, but as an oversight committee for the Released Friend Project. Indian Affairs met yesterday with representatives of this group and the Committee is willing to allow the Ad Hoc group to become a Subcommittee of Indian Affairs for one year.

In the interest of time, is the Yearly Meeting willing to accept the following Minute from Indian Affairs to continue the Released Friends Project for one more year? Minute:

Indian Affairs, with the assurance of a committed Subcommittee to oversee the Released Friend Project, would like to extend this work, under the care of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, to Yearly Meeting sessions, 2000.

The Committee then articulated what they felt the charge to this new Subcommittee would be:

- To resolve the current issues involving the uncertainty of the different components of oversight,
- To provide oversight of fund raising and activities in New Mexico,
- To provide coordination of this project with other Yearly Meeting committees, and
- To facilitate communication between Pat Kutzner and the Yearly Meeting.

The members of the Subcommittee are Peter “Pete” Schenck (TkPkgm), con-der, Jane Stowe (TkPkgm), David Zarembka (SnVywG), Robert “Bob” Fet-Roanok), Betty Hutchinson (Annapo), Aleen Starkweather (SndSpg), and ally Swet (PipeCk).

PROVED accepting the offer to establish a Subcommittee of Indian Affairs for the Released Friend Project for one year. Approval was given to the Subcommittee to use the entire Baltimore Yearly Meeting mailing list one time for information-sharing and fund solicitation letter. The report was APPROVED. Items which had been prepared in consultation with the Indian Affairs Committee and the proposed Ad Hoc Subcommittee are attached to these Minutes as Appendix B.”

9-50 Report of the Yearly Meeting Sessions Registrar: Laurie Wilner (mgHl), indicated that a verbal report will not be given at this time but that a written report will appear in the Yearbook (please see Appendix C for the report). All those who had assisted with the registration process were asked to stand and almost 20 people were recognized.
Y99-51 Restorative Justice Minute: John “Jack” Fogarty (SndSpg) presented a second reading of the Minute from the Criminal and Restorative Justice Committee (Y99-45). APPROVAL was given to accepting this Minute and Friends were urged to write letters supporting this resolution. The Minute will be sent to appropriate people in Congress and to newspapers. A copy will also be sent to Friends Committee on National Legislation (FCNL) and Friends are urged to send FCNL copies of their correspondence with government officials.

Y99-52 Report of Bookstore: David Greene (BHomew) reported that the bookstore had sold approximately $9,300 worth of books during this annual session. Friends expressed their pleasure at the work that David and his assistants had done.

Y99-53 Report of Search Committee: Katherine Smith (MaurRv), brought forth the names that had previous been reported to this session in Y99-22. APPROVED.

She also brought forth the names of Ruth Flower (TkPkPM) and Jamesen Goodman (Adelph) for the Nominating Committee, Class of 2002. APPROVED.

Y99-54 Nominating Committee: Elizabeth “Susie” Fetter (Roanok), Clerk, brought forth the name of Christopher Fowler (Fredrk) to serve on Stewardship and Finance, Class of 2002. APPROVED. Minutes Y99-48 to Y99-54 were read (if not read earlier), improved, and APPROVED.

Y99-55 Epistle Committee: Maria Bradley (SndSpg), Outgoing Clerk, prefaced the reading of the prepared Epistle by sharing humorous ways a letter “could” be written. When read, the formal Epistle reminded us that our General Secretary, Frank Massey (SndSpg), had characterized our Yearly Meeting as one engaged in intense searching and one willing to take risks. The Minute closed with a reminder of the vastness of God’s Truth.

After small and needed additions had been noted, Friends APPROVED the 1999 Baltimore Yearly Meeting Epistle, expressing their appreciation for this work. (Please note, there have been additional corrections to the 1999 Epistle since the printing of the Yearbook. A copy of the 1999 Epistle will appear in the 2000 Yearbook.)

Y99-56 Young Friends Epistle: Abby Gaffron (StaCol), joined by some 25 other Baltimore Yearly Meeting Young Friends in the body of the sessions, read their Epistle. They noted that “Focusing our energy on the importance of community led us to the belief that it is imperative that our community be based on true unconditional love, trust and acceptance.” (Please refer to the section on “Epistles” for the Young Friends Epistle.)
Accepted, with joy and thanksgiving by Baltimore Yearly Meeting, in session. Later in this morning's sessions, we noted once again our appreciation of Young Friends integrity and the spiritual discernment that they used in bringing clarity on two major issues facing our Yearly Meeting and the Religious Society of Friends. They are indeed patterns that we might well emulate.)

7 Junior Young Friends: Joshua Williams (DunCrk), Assistant Clerk, their Epistle for the 1999 sessions. Known as "JYFS," this group combines service, fellowship and fun for a full week's program. (Please refer to the report on "Epistles" for the Junior Young Friends Epistle.)

The Epistle was ACCEPTED with appreciation.

It was noted that there is a forthcoming conference planned for Young Adult Friends in First Month next year. They will be asked for a report or an Epistle for next year's session.

8 Program Committee: Sheila Bach (LangHl), Clerk, reminded Friends that evaluation forms for this year's sessions and retreat are available and need to be filled out before Friends leave the campus today.

It was approved the dates of 1 to 6 Eighth Month 2000 for the 329th Annual Sessions of Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends. It was noted that there is an exploration underway for a possible change in the Meeting site, but if this occurs a recommendation for site change will go to Representative Meeting in Tenth Month.

9 Unity With Nature Committee: Janney Wilson (GoosCk), Co-Clerk, Baltimore Yearly Meeting to commend Wilson College for their endeavor to "Food Project at Wilson College." This project is directed toward enabling sustainable agriculture and was described in literature provided to guests in the Dining Hall. "We are now consuming approximately 4% locally and sustainability-grown food in our Dining Hall. Our goal is three years to reach 30%." APPROVED.

50 Announcements: Friends were reminded of the Baltimore Yearly Meeting and Counsel Retreat on 6 Eleventh Month 1999 at Gunpowder Valley Meeting. Margery Larrabee (WashFM) spoke of two conferences scheduled by The Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership. The first is scheduled for First Day, 4 Ninth Month 1999 at Sandy Spring Friends School and will be titled a "Workshop to Develop a Teaching Community: A vision for the developing Community of the Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership." The second offering is two workshops that will meet each First Day for eight weeks, from 3 Tenth Month to 21 Eleventh Month: “Discovering Our Spiritual Gifts,” facilitated by Betsy Meyer and “Prayer: A Journey Into Relationship,” facilitated by John Smallwood.

Y99-61 As we continued to worship, Claudia Wair read a passage from John Burnyeat’s 1672 journal account of his visit to Maryland. Just as at that first session of our Yearly Meeting, Friends, by the power of their love, were gathered into most places... and with gladness of heart received advice in such necessary things as were opened unto them, and all were comforted and edified.

Y99-62 Closing: We go forth with a song in our heart, seeking to meet again next year at the 329th Annual Session of Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends.
The History of Baltimore Yearly Meeting's Name

West River Yearly Meeting was formed. In 1769 the name was changed to Baltimore Yearly Meeting. In 1790 some Meetings in Pennsylvania and North Carolina joined and the name was changed to — are you ready for this? — The Meeting of Friends Held in Baltimore for the Western-shore of Maryland and adjacent Parts of Pennsylvania and Virginia. Soon after, the name was changed to Baltimore Yearly Meeting since that is where they met. In 1844 the Yearly Meeting joined.

Baltimore Yearly Meeting split into the Baltimore Yearly Meeting (Orthodox) and Baltimore Yearly Meeting (Hicksite). They remained separate until 1976. At that time the name changed again to Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends.

We no longer meet in Baltimore for our annual sessions as was the case early on for many years. Nor do we have the office of the Yearly Meeting in Baltimore.

Minute

Formation of Ad Hoc Committee for Continuation of Oversight of Released Friend

Pat Kutzner:

Membership: Pete Schenck, convener, Bob Fetter, Betty Hutchinson, Jane Stowe, Emily Swet, and David Zarembo. Aileen Starkweather of Indian Affairs will be asked to join.

Purpose: The Ad Hoc Committee is a subcommittee of the Indian Affairs Committee, with members co-opted. Aileen Starkweather and Jane Stowe will serve as liaisons to the Committee, attending for and reporting on the work of the subcommittee. [note 1]

Term: One year.

The charge of the subcommittee is to:

- Resolve current uncertainties of oversight of the Released Friend, Pat Kutzner.
B. Coordinate with all relevant committees that BYM requirements and needs are being met.
C. Facilitate communication between Pat and BYM.
D. Provide support for spiritual nurture and discernment. [note 2]

5. The means of oversight are:
A. Conference calls no less than once every two months.
B. Newsletter review and approval prior to each mailing.
C. Receipt of copies of grant proposals and memos generated in the course of work for information purposes, filing all records at the YM office.
D. Fiscal reporting at least quarterly, of monthly amounts designated for program use [note 3], and amounts from other sources of support. This is to enable adequacy of income to be judged. (note: A report to the Chace Fund is due for the $5,000 received in 1998.)
E. Visitations, if possible, by subcommittee members and invitations to others who may visit to speak with the subcommittee members before and after their visit.

6. Oversight of fund raising:
A. The subcommittee will approve and coordinate all fund raising efforts [note 4].
B. Funds will be received and disbursed by the YM, including payments of costs of mailings. Funds are received only for Pat’s personal support, not project work.
C. Pat Kutzner will be primarily responsible for fund raising. As in the past three years, a newsletter will be written by Pat Kutzner, mailed by the YM office staff to past donors approximately every two months, or as time permits [note 5].
D. A funding appeal will be provided to S&F who will consider approving a mailing to individual MMs, or as it otherwise decides [note 6]. (note to subcommittee: Request a draft copy of the letter approved by S&F for use by Mary Lord).

7. Minutes will be exchanged with NRM, S&F, YM Clerks, and the FMW CC [note 7].

8. [note 8].

Explanation:
A. Notes shown in () were in the original, on 8.8.99.
B. Notes shown in [ ] were added after 8.8.99:

[1] Pete Schenck will act as liaison with FMW’s Clearness Committee.
[2] Promote contact between youth of BYM and Torreon/Starlake Chapter to promote continued interaction between youth of both groups.
[3] 60% personal living expenses: no required reporting; 40% program expenses: required for tax purposes.
[4] For Pat’s personal and administrative support.
YF Clerks, Supervisory Committee, and Coordinator will be added to the mailing list, in accord with note 2, above.
YM approved a single mailing the entire YM mailing list. The timing will be coordinated with S&F, to be done after Mary Lord’s mailing.
YF’s Clerk, and Coordinator will be added to the newsletter mailing list to aid in continued contact.
Newsletter will be mailed to YFs, FCNL, Aura Kanegis, and to AFSC National, Ed Nawasake, if not already done so.

Appendix C

Registrar’s Report

The ninth consecutive year, Baltimore Yearly Meeting met at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pennsylvania. Once again this small college provided us with housing, food, class rooms, gathering places, and fields. Additionally the college shared with us its own “ministry.” Two expanded areas this year which included our sessions were use of local and organic foods and its housing for college’s. Not only were organic foods available to us at the salad bar and food lines but some vegan options were being offered as well. These services were appreciated by a number of attenders. The college’s expanding housing to offer college courses to single mothers is another wonderful “ministry.” Wilson has remodeled an entire dorm into suites for year round residence. Unfortunately, the dorm chosen was one which was also to have housed BYM visitors! Assigning rooms was a bit tricky but we all fit nicely.

The registrar should always be a prayerful optimist. This was my first year as registrar. Looking back now I realize that accepting that position was much like accepting my husband’s marriage proposal; it was not until after I said “I will” did I learn what was being asked. By the time I attended my first Program Committee meeting I had lost my co-registrar! Things were not looking bright. Reason to hire the optimist: But there was plenty of time and we are, after all, several hundred mouths to feed and bodies to bed. Next came the visit to offices where Diana Jusino introduced me to our database. Reason to hire the prayerful: I know it wasn’t truly made of rusty metal and sticky chewing but that is the lasting impression. After long, meditative prayer and the lasitarian efforts of Arthur David Olson to revive the beast for one more year’s session we were on our way.

Hard to report on the enormous amount of help offered (and gratefully used!) during the session. To begin with we all need to constantly thank Diana Jusino and Frank Massey for their efforts. Often unseen, the work done and details taken care of by Frank and Diana are tremendous. It was not until I became registrar that I saw just how much their talents, hours of work and experience make our sessions possible. Special thanks also needs to go to the entire office staff: Maria Bradley, Margo Lehman, Michele Levasseur, Josh Riley, and Rachel Zuses who suffered through my learning curve as much as I did! Additionally, we need to thank my son Sean Wilner for his sage advice to add chocolate and other “munchies” to our registration desk. The help did not end when we arrived in Chambersburg! Young and old lent a hand throughout the week, we owe our success to Sheila Bach, Maurice Boyd, Joy deLeon, Geni Elliot, Bob Fetter, Ruth Flower, Lee Foster, Jesse Friediches, Flosstie Fullerton, Jamesen Goodman, Miriam Green, Alicia Henzi, Brigit Henzi, David Hines, Betty Hutchinson, Victor Kaufman, James Keach, Rebecca Rawls, Trudy Rogers, Jeanne Snyder, Barbara Thomas, Claudia Wair, Jean Ward, Marjorie Weisel, Gudrun Williams, Janney Wilson, Jean Wilson, and Elaine Yamada. These volunteers were my guides through the week; the care and spirit they showed were what I strive to emulate. My thanks to one and all.

This year there were 556 people who were on campus at some point during the session ranging in age from under 1 year to over 90 years. There were 409 adults, 55 Young Friends and 92 in the nursery through rising 9th grade. The ratio of children and/or Young Friends to adults on campus, however, was higher since nearly all the commuters were adults and most of the one-night-only registrations were also adults. Meeting representation this year ranged from one attender (Gettysburg, Menallen and Quaker Lake) to 63 from Sandy Spring. (Adelphi came in second with 44.)

As I end this report for the 1999 Yearly Meeting I can only do so by saying how blessed I was to have been privileged to work with so many of you and to meet/greet even more. Please, as we prepare ourselves to join again next year, remember the long list of people who volunteered to make this year’s session start so beautifully. Remember too that there are two ways you can help them: register early and lend a hand. When we do not register timely, we drastically increase the workload. Watching and being a part of the office work this year gave me insight into what it really takes to make our session possible. Like a choreographed dance the timing of computer inputting, printers, staff and volunteers had to be managed within the time constraints dictated by our host, Wilson College. Late registrations and walk-in registrations interrupt that dance causing it to fall behind and scramble awkwardly to catch up. If each of us saw the stress and difficulties we created by our habit I believe we would work hard to avoid it again. Please, Friends, let me be your eyes. If you put your registration aside this year until after the discount date PLEASE don’t do it again. The F/friends who do not learn of our session until late or whose plans change to enable them to join at the last minute need to and will be welcomed. Those of us who simply procrastinate, please consider the consequences here.

Laurie Wilner, Yearly Meeting Registrar

MEMORIAL MINUTES

ROBERT HASKELL CORY, JR.
OCTOBER 1, 1914-MARCH 24, 1999

Robert Haskell Cory, Jr. was born in New York City on October 1, 1914 and was raised in Englewood, N.J. His Presbyterian parents were Julia Bulkeley Cady Cory and Robert Haskell Cory. He had two brothers who pre-deceased him. Robert Cory was educated at Phillips Andover Academy, Yale University, and Harvard University. His doctorate at Harvard was an interdisciplinary degree in international relations. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. His professional affiliations included the Associations of Sociologists, Political Scientists, Asian Scholars, and Applied Anthropologists. He was also a former volunteer and staff member of the American Friends Service Committee, the first director of William Penn House, and a dedicated supporter of the Friends World Committee for Consultation. He died in his own home in Washington, D.C. on March 24, 1999. He was 84. Sara Pettit Cory, known to us in the Meeting as Sally, his wife of 55 years, survives, as do his four children and six grandchildren.

In 1937, with his M.A. in hand, he began as a teacher in small private schools. In 1938, he participated in an AFSC workcamp at the Highlands School in Appalachia. He was at Pendle Hill in the late 1930’s, according to an account dictated by his wife about six years ago. Robert Cory and Sara Pettit met then. Robert spent 1941-1942 as a volunteer staff member at the Scattergood Hostel (Iowa) AFSC program for refugees. It was not until 1942 that Robert and Sara both got teaching positions at Westtown School. On June 19, 1943, they were married in Woodstown, N.J., Monthly Meeting where Sara Pettit and her family were members.

In those early years of his marriage, Robert returned to Harvard and completed his PhD (1951). During this same time, three of four Cory Children, Eric L., D. Lincoln, and Lois C., were born in 1944, 1947, and 1950 respectively, joined by the fourth, L. Barton, in 1954. Robert had faculty appointments at Marlboro College, Ohio University (Athens), and Denison University in Granville, Ohio. He pursued his professional interests through travel – a 1958 study seminar in India and a later trip to China, as well as trips to Europe and the Soviet Union. He published in scholarly journals related to international organizations as was one of a team who in 1965 wrote, A New China Policy, Some Quaker Proposals, published by Yale University.

Robert’s work as a college professor allowed him to spend summers with AFSC projects. He and Sara led workcamps at Barnesville in 1945, Sky Island in 1946, and international service seminars in 1951, 1957, and 1960.
1961, the family moved to Scarsdale, N.Y., and Robert became a Program Associate at the Quaker United Nations Program, a joint endeavor of the American Friends Service Committee and Friends World Committee. Robert Cory remained an interested supporter of this program until his death. In 1964, Edward Snyder, the Executive Secretary of the Friends Committee on National Legislation, spent his sabbatical leave at QUNO where Quaker House, a guest residence very close to United Nations headquarters, is an essential component of the program. Edward Snyder was impressed (see Witness in Washington, FUM: 1994). The Corys were ready to move to Washington to help develop a similar facility and program here to support the work of the Friends Committee. There were enthusiastic FCNL supporters in our Meeting. Our meeting records show how the Corys' interests and concerns were joined with those of members of our Meeting to create William Penn House.

William Penn House opened in 1966. It was for the next 11 years the permanent center of the Cory family and the Washington base for hundreds of others who supported the Poor People's Campaign (1968) and to protest between 1968 and 1971 the war in Viet Nam and the draft. It was and is used for hospitality, study, discussion, and worship.

From 1967-1979, Robert Cory was also a part-time legislative secretary at the Friends Committee on National Legislation. He testified before Congressional committees for the FCNL on UN Charter Revision, the Law of the Seas, and on Economic Aid. In 1977, Robert and Sara moved to a small house they purchased on Capitol Hill. Robert remained affiliated part-time with William Penn House until 1983. He continued to study and write. In 1978, Phillips Andover Academy honored him with their Claude M. Fuess Award for distinguished contribution to the public service.

Robert Cory also engaged fully with the Friends World Committee for Consultation, especially in the decades between 1972 and 1992. He attended almost every annual meeting, served as Chairman of the Quaker representatives to the Call to Peacemaking and Clerk of that nation-wide effort. Other FWCC offices were the Friends Committee on War Tax Concerns and the Consultative Committee on the Friends Peace Testimony.

The Quakers Meeting of Washington, to which Robert transferred his membership in Scarsdale, N.Y. in 1966, his service on committees and in Meeting activity was faithful and extensive. He served on Overseers, Ministry and Worship, in the Mary Walcott-Lucy Foster Scholarship Committee, all for full six-year terms. He was especially pleased to be able to lead the Inquirers' class for much of his term on Ministry and Worship. He was never reconciled to the meeting's suspension of its Peace Committee. In 1971, 1977, and 1978, he was our Meeting representative to Baltimore Yearly Meeting, and 1980 represented Baltimore Yearly Meeting on the FWCC. He served as our Meeting elder on the board of the Washington Peace Center, and for three years (1985-87), he represented our Meeting on the Greater Washington Council of Churches. He was named as Clerk, Co-Clerk, and Alternate Clerk of the Bazaar in 1973, 1976, and 1977. Friends associate him with the book sale at the Bazaars. In the early 1990s, he was a dedicated volunteer with the Friends Club (Alzheimer’s victims).

He was not often present in the Meeting House during his last two or three years because it was increasingly difficult for him and Sara to move outside their home. He was very busy with the necessary chores and housekeeping details for them both. He was not truly disabled until the last week of his life when he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. Until then, he always welcomed visiting Friends. He and Sara were grateful the few times they could worship at William Penn House in 1998–1999.

In our Meeting we knew Robert Cory as conscientious, thoughtful, and faithful. But one can gather from this view of his larger life, that he was, as well, dedicated, persistent, and respected in his search for peace in the world. Thirty-three of his eighty-four years were spent among us, in our Meeting. We are grateful for that share of Robert Cory’s life.

JOHN JOSEPH MCINTYRE, JR.
JUNE 24, 1930–AUGUST 14, 1998

John Joseph McIntyre was greatly beloved. He was a good son, a devoted partner in a marriage of 47 years, and a father to four children who needed him. He was a role model to many and a friend to all. His encouragement and sage advice were important to many involved in Friends’ schools and education. Physically, Joe was a large man, probably best remembered for his striking blue eyes. In someone else, they might have been fierce, but in him they were the soft eyes of love.

He was born 68 years ago in Glenrock, Wyoming. Three short years later, his mother died during the birth of Joe’s sister, Ruth. His aunt, Opal, would later recall those years in the McIntyre household; when she carried an unexpected treat, a dozen jars of homemade jam, to the house, Joe was so excited that he jumped up and down with joy. But, even then, the small boy was thoughtful enough to promise that he would return the jars to her—and he did!

His father was an attorney who went on to become a United States Congressman from Wyoming and a justice on that state’s Supreme Court. Joe knew him as someone devoted to both service and the struggle against injustice. His father was also a lay preacher.
He was seventeen when he met a particularly attractive girl with dark hair at a folk camp one summer. The young woman’s name was Nancy Currence. They were married three years later.

McIntyre’s real calling always went beyond traditional roles and definitions. If you mixed an activist, a minister, and an educator together, you might come close. If you threw in the belief that each of us is special and worthy— you’d have it about right. His first job after graduating from Boston University was in Tempe, Arizona. He was hired as Director of the Wesley Foundation, a religiously based program for helping college students. While there, he and Nancy adopted their first daughter, Jana, from the San Carlos Apache. They left Arizona when Joe assumed the role of a school chaplain in Puerto Rico. There, Nancy gave birth to their second child, Jay. Joe’s work took him to Atlanta University and a Master’s degree in counseling. While in Atlanta, the family experienced firsthand the prejudice that colors so much of society—an experience Joe would not forget.

In 1967, they moved again, it was to Maryland in 1967. Joe had been hired as a counselor at Howard University. The job ended when he resigned in protest of the treatment of students involved in the demonstrations of that era. He quickly joined the Montgomery County MD school system the same year as a counselor at what was still a largely rural Sherwood High School in Sandy Spring. It was through some of his students that he began his first real exposure to Quakerism.

He worked in various positions and roles throughout the County school system for the next twenty years. He was instrumental in incorporating recognition of Dr. Martin Luther King’s work into school programs. During that time, he and Nancy adopted two more children: Joi, a grace-filled, multi-cultural child, and Dula, a ten-year-old Cambodian refugee. They also became deeply involved with the Religious Society of Friends. Joe’s service to Friends included terms as a delegate of Baltimore Yearly Meeting Representative Meeting and of Sandy Spring Monthly Meeting.

From 1989 to 1993, Joe was campus minister at Wilmington College in Ohio and taught in the College’s prison education program. After returning to this role, Joe gave several years of service on the Board of Sandy Spring Friends School, in the Alternatives to Violence Project and in teaching conflict resolution. At the time of his death, he was also actively involved with the Seneca Valley Worship Group in Boyds, MD. Joe was the nurturing parent, the steady hand and calm voice that guided this group through its early Thursday evening and fourth Sunday morning meetings and into the decision to meet weekly in Kerr Fellowship Hall of the Boyds Presbyterian Church.

In all these things he was faithful, calm, and gentle. Joe is survived by a sister, two brothers, his wife, four children, three grandchildren, and a loving spirit.

AGNES WOODSTOCK
AUGUST 10, 1936-SEPTEMBER 22, 1997

We remember her gentleness, her mischievous sense of humor, her wise counsel, her love of children, her drive to be of service, and the many, many ways she ministered to others during her lifetime. We grieve over her suicide, which took the life of a person we love. We miss her; we struggle to understand. We experienced, through her experience, the phenomenon we call “mental illness” -- how it could take hold and shut doors to hope. We ask if we could have done more to support her in her struggle. In meetings since her death we have been led to honor her life with words from our hearts, to form a mental health working group, and seek to discern ways we can support one another better in our weaknesses, our blindness, our mental illnesses, while also respecting the fundamental responsibility of each of us for our own lives.

Agnes was born August 10, 1936, in Ayr, Scotland, the daughter of Thomas and Agnes Smith. Education was highly valued in her family; the day she was born, her father enrolled her in Ayr Academy, the best school in town. When she was 18 months old, her mother died; Agnes was later told it was from “a cold in the liver” and very little else was said. She got a welcome reprieve from her largely cheerless household in the summers when she spent time with her aunts, uncles, and cousins on their farms. A loving “nanny” came after the war and stayed until her own death in the mid-'90s.

Agnes received her undergraduate degree from the University of Edinburgh and then she worked abroad. She taught French in Germany and German and English in France, enjoying these experiences enormously and making lifelong friends there.

When she returned to the University of Edinburgh to study for her Master’s degree, she met and subsequently married a visiting American Ph.D., Lowell Woodstock. After their wedding in Ayr on December 27, 1961, they went to the had lived briefly in Illinois and then moved to their house on Royal Road in Spring, Maryland. Their daughter Elizabeth was born in 1962; daughter Sarah in 1969.

The family spent a year in Corvallis, Oregon, where Agnes learned photography. Then from 1976-78, they lived in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, where Lowell was on assignment with the Department of Agriculture. Upon returning to the United States, Agnes worked for several years in the office of Alan Cranston, Senator from California, and then she taught French for several years at Sandy Spring Friends School.

Some years prior to Lowell’s death in 1994, he needed considerable care, and Agnes provided unstintingly. She also provided home-based day care for the family of children over the years. And she was a very proud grandmother to her two beloved grandchildren.

In the late 1960s and Lowell had begun attending Adelphi Friends Meeting in the late 1960s and became members in the early 1970s. When her children were growing up, Agnes was active in religious education and served as an adult leader of summer camps and Catoctin weekends for Young Friends. Later she was active in study groups at Patuxent Prison and, in the course of almost 30 years at Adelphi, she served on most of the Meeting’s committees. Her strong sense of duty and reliability, her understanding of Quaker process and her sensitivity to unmet need often led her to serve in multiple positions. She served as Clerk of the Meeting from 1995 through 1996.

By the time she served as clerk, she began to show signs of serious distress and paranoia, suddenly in some moments seeming very much not herself, and soon after, she would seem herself again: practical, wise, humorous, sensitve. She generally refused offers of help for herself, while continuing to generous with her time in helping others. She died in a one-car accident on November 22, 1997, leaving a suicide note.
YOUNG FRIENDS EPISTLE

To become a Young Friend is to become a part of a loving, living, and ever-evolving community. Throughout the 98/99 year, conferences have provided Young Friends with the chance to examine, discuss, and solidify our roles as both Quakers and Young Adults. Young Friends as a whole and as individuals have advanced on both a personal and spiritual level. As a generation of Young Friends moved on, those left in our group arose to create a new harmony. The question of what testimonies were, and are our own, and how to live them were continuously discussed through the year. Faith and Practice and our own Gathering Expectations and queries were consulted and worshipped on repeatedly to arrive at a new spiritual leading.

Minute on Use of Tobacco

“When Young Friends meet together, we strive to foster a community built on caring, trust and love.” [Baltimore Yearly Meeting (BYM) Young Friends’ Gathering Expectations] The concern of smoking is a living issue, which Young Friends have addressed in the past and will continue to address in the future. We appreciate the concern brought forward by Alexandria Monthly Meeting and the greater BYM community. We understand that this concern comes out of love for Young Friends and a concern for the health of Young Friends.

The awareness of this concern has been present throughout the evolution of Young Friends. Over the years Young Friends have engaged on a wide variety of discussions and worship-sharing, including a called conference on smoking this past April. We have developed clear designated outdoor areas for smoking and places for the disposal of cigarette butts at conferences. We strive to act with a concern not only for ourselves, but also a concern and respect for our Meeting House hosts.

The spiritual nature and unconditional love and respect of the group is such that it provides support and strength for Young Friends to make their own choices on health decisions. We hope that at future conferences we will be able to help smokers with the process of ceasing to smoke if they so desire.

During our discussions we examined the guidelines of our community, and how the issues we are facing are related. We ultimately decide to be true to ourselves, and stick with a community that is built on caring, trust, and love. We feel that tolerance, acceptance, and unconditional love are integral testimonies that Young Friends have, do and always will abide by. To ban smoking at conferences is unfaithful to our testimonies and us. Quaker history has shown that to disown or banish weakens the society as a whole.
The fact that some Young Friends do not attend conferences because of smoking at conferences saddens us. We open our community to all, and will continue to work on this in the future. May the richness of our diversity strengthen our community and our love.

On Same-Sex Marriage

As Young Friends of BYM, living in the Quaker tradition, believe that the greater Quaker community should not only permit but should embrace same-sex marriage. Quaker testimonies, according to BYM Faith and Practice, provide ample justification for this stance. “The testimonies spring from respect for truth; for peace, harmony, and a called intention to practice love; for simplicity, community, and the spiritual worth of all people.” (Faith and Practice, p. 48).

The testimony of equality provides the most obvious support for our position. In living the testimony, we must allow the ministry of love to be available to all. Sexual orientation does not diminish or alter the Divine Light that Quakers recognize in every person. Quakers have been at the forefront of similar struggles for equal rights, such as the abolition of slavery, women’s suffrage, and the civil rights movement. Now presented with a new struggle, should we not continue to live our testimonies into action?

Our respect for peace and harmony leads us to uphold the spirit of the community. Since we strive to be welcoming to all people, must we not foster an environment in which all can pursue their spiritual journeys? In the course of that journey a leading for marriage occurs, their Meeting has an obligation for all way to open for the couple. When a religious tradition cannot fulfill the spiritual needs of its members, they are excluded from the community. As marriage is a spiritual need, people who cannot marry under the Religious Society of Friends may be forced to meet their needs elsewhere.

Our community should empower people to be true to themselves and their leadings. If two people are led to make a lifelong commitment to each other, then to repress such an essential part of themselves goes against the testimony of truthfulness.

Quakers have no expectations about what is necessary in a marriage, besides the existence of a powerful love. Every marriage is unique. In celebrating same-sex marriage we will enhance the already present diversity and strength of our Quaker community.
These two issues have been a vessel of growth throughout the 1998-1999 year. Focusing our energy on the importance of community led us to the belief that it is imperative that our community be based on true unconditional love, trust, and acceptance.

Thus our life is not altogether a forgetting, but also, alas! To a great extent, a remembering, of that which we should never, have been conscious of, certainly not in our waking hours. Why should we not meet, not always as dyspeptics, to tell our bad dreams, but sometimes as euphptics, to congratulate each other on the ever glorious morning?

JUNIOR YOUNG FRIENDS EPISTLE

The Junior Young Friends (JYF) Program at Baltimore Yearly Meeting named Jesse Seitel (Adelph) as Clerk, Joshua Williams (DunCrk) as Co-Clerk, and Julia Williams (DunCrk) as Recording Clerk. Activities enjoyed by the JYFs include: leadership/trust games, tie-dyeing T-shirts, making looms for weaving, making bead animals, playing ‘jugs,’ yoga, and learning wood-making skills. We also helped out at the evening activity for JYM. For the All-Age Celebration on August 4th we featured the country of India. We cooked rice and curry for our foods, used henna for our craft, and played cricket for our game.

On Friday evening we had an overnight. The movies we watched were chosen during our own business meeting. During the afternoon session on Thursday, the JYFs divided into four groups to do service projects. These projects consisted of cleaning out the pantry of the Franklin County Homeless Shelter, playing parlor games with the residents of the Falling Springs Rehab Center, visiting residents at the Caledonian Manor Retirement Center, and making self-help bags for Migrant Ministries. On Saturday, a handful of us went on a hike at Caledonia State Park.

At 9:15 a.m. on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday (the 7th, 8th and 9th) the JYFs went to “Produce Department” and played games and had a discussion on how to encourage people that smoke [to quit?] without alienating them.

We would like to thank Linda Coates, program director, Cindy Frazier, Mark Brabson, Mary Campbell, Bill Strein, Janice Johnson, Deb Fetzer, Diane Younkins, Gene Hillman, Michele Levasseur, Lucy Storey, Lin Carroll-Klinger, and Gene Klinger. And all those who let us use their vans. We also thank David Blamires for lending his expertise in instructing us in cricket.

Respectfully submitted, For Junior Young Friends
COMMITTEE REPORTS

ADVANCEMENT AND OUTREACH COMMITTEE

This year the Advancement and Outreach Committee met at annual session with seven people present and at Spring Yearly Meeting Day with three to five people present. Members of our Committee serve on the Ad Hoc Web Publishing Committee, the Ethel Reynolds Fund Committee, and the Sue Thomas Turner Fund Committee. While these are important activities, the overlapping meetings present a challenge as we try to do our work as a Committee.

We were pleased to learn that the Seneca Valley and Patapsco (Howard County) Worship Groups under the care of Sandy Spring Meeting are now Preparative Meetings. We are not aware of any connection between the letter Howard Brod sent on behalf of our Committee encouraging openness by Meetings to the possibility of nurturing new Worship Groups and the number of Worship Groups and Preparative Meetings at present. However, we are pleased to have several Worship Groups and Preparative Meetings being nurtured by our Meetings.

Intervisitation by Friends among the Meetings of our Yearly Meeting is important for the nurture and growth of both the visitors and the visited. We continue to review the Meeting Directory information section of the Yearly Meeting Yearbook, helping to ensure that it provides useful information and clear directions for those traveling to another Meeting.

In reviewing ongoing concerns of the Committee, we have agreed to continue working to make useful information about Friends available at our Yearly Meeting camps.

Much of our spring meeting was spent reviewing the work and charge of the Advancement and Outreach Committee. We continue to believe our work is important for the growth and support of Meetings within Baltimore Yearly Meeting, but the Committee is very small right now and in real need of some new energy and visions for particular ways we can help local Meetings become more visible in their communities and reach out to seekers.

Trudy Rogers, Co-Clerk of Advancement and Outreach
ADVANCEMENT AND OUTREACH COMMITTEE

Periodic Review

The nucleus of the Advancement and Outreach Committee present Saturday evening of Spring Yearly Meeting Day reviewed the charge and the work of the committee in recent years. We felt comfortable in suggesting the following changes:

The work of Advancement and Outreach is important for the Yearly Meeting and it is important to have a Yearly Meeting Committee supporting the concerns of local Meetings in this area. Nine members is a more realistic size for this Committee. Our description in the Manual of Procedures should focus more sharply on assisting Meetings with their growth and visibility concerns. The general nurture and support of local Meetings more properly belongs with Ministry and Counsel and Nurture and Recognition of Ministry Committees.

We see the importance of being involved in the work of the Sue Thomas Turner Fund, the Ethel Reynolds Fund, and the Web Publishing Subcommittee but sharing our members throughout the YM Day to meet with the other groups seriously impacts our meeting time as a full Committee.

We need to work on finding new members and new energy for the Committee before the group tries to define particular projects or priorities for the next few years.

It could suggest that this be considered the first phase of the review for Advancement and Outreach, leaving the setting of new directions and priorities to an augmented Committee in the coming year.

We agree with the above review, the following changes should be made to the Manual of Procedure section for Advancement and Outreach.

The Advancement and Outreach Committee consists of approximately nine members, nominated by the Nominating Committee and appointed by the Yearly Meeting with care to name Friends who are familiar with local Meetings throughout the Yearly Meeting.

This Committee provides tools and resources to local Meetings looking for new outreach ideas, for help starting a new Meeting, for ways to help those new to Friends learn about the Religious Society of Friends. The Committee appoints a representative to and works with the Web Publishing Subcommittee of the Publications Committee to make useful and accurate information about Baltimore Yearly Meeting, its Meetings, and the Religious Society of Friends available on the Yearly Meeting Website. The Committee appoints two persons to serve on the Ethel Reynolds Fund Committee for one-year terms, and one person to serve on the Sue Thomas Turner Educational Fund.”

CAMPING PROGRAM COMMITTEE

Over the last year the Camping Program has continued to thrive and grow and is probably on a more solid footing than at any other time in its history. Its very success has raised serious issues about how we can continue to meet the increasing demand for the programs, and what directions we should take (about which more will be said below). Lest you consider this mere hyperbole, consider the following:

Directors: We are blessed with seasoned, highly qualified directors for each of our camps. They understand from personal experience in the program the special mix of nurturing and challenging that goes into the camping experience, and the importance of empowering the staff who work with the campers to create a Quaker community in a few short weeks.

Program: All of our directors attended a Quaker Camping Network retreat in October, 1998, at which it was apparent that the depth of experience, resources and commitment to the camping program within the Baltimore Yearly Meeting is unparalleled in other parts of the country. This has been a process of growth over decades during which members of the Quaker community have participated as campers, counselors, cooks, drivers, parents, and maintenance volunteers of all sorts, not to mention Committee members. We are now drawing on this large pool of experience to sustain and grow the program. Notably, a new program, the Quaker Arts Camp, was started last summer by the BYM Religious Education Committee offering an alternative program. Starting this year, this new program has come under the care of the Camping Program Committee.

Physical Plant: Since acquiring the Shiloh property, the Camp Property Management Committee has worked tirelessly to make improvements needed for our level of use. Notably, the new bathhouses completed just in time for the 1998 summer camping season. The GOOD and FUTURE committees have raised the money to make these and still needed improvements possible. The physical plant at Catoctin has continued to be improved over the years as well, with the additions of new buildings (caretakers cabin), improvements to the lodge, and rebuilding of the Lagoon.

Finances and Administration: Camping programs are actually running in the black; we budget based on 95% enrollment and with greater than full enrollment we have been generating small surpluses. This has allowed us to make small movements in the program, such as increases in the professional development, increased staff training and the addition of a full-time position in the Yearly Meeting Office to coordinate administration of the programs and take as much of the burden as possible from the directors during the year. At the same time, we tried to keep the program affordable for everyone through scholarship assistance and minimizing fee increases. (There were no increases in 1996 and a $10 increase per two week session in 1998 and a $15 increase in 1999—only 1% per year overall)

Bottom line: We enjoy reading the evaluation forms returned by parents and campers. Sure, we benefit from the “constructive” criticism, and we find things about the program that are worth examining critically, but the responses are truly heartwarming. They make us realize the unique and powerful way in which the camping program imparts Quaker values and makes it all fun at the same time. One response: “I am coming back to Catoctin because everybody seems to have known each other for their whole life, even though they didn’t. Cause it’s just FUN!”

As I pointed out, the fact that we are never more at risk than when we have “succeeded,” the Camping Program Committee sponsored a day-long retreat at Sandy Spring Friends School on February 20, 1999, to discuss issues facing us. The session was attended by over 50 people most of whom have been involved in the camping program over the years, and it touched on many subjects, some of which are mentioned below. The Camping Program Committee wishes to invite the Yearly Meeting as a whole in these concerns and asks for appropriate responses.

Our camping programs have been full for the last two years, and we have had an away increasing numbers of applicants. If we have to turn away applicants, how should we prioritize the applications? (BYM/Quaker/non-Quaker/non-campers?)

Do we need to expand our programs to accommodate this demand? Should we be trying to reach out to other possible campers? Should we try to run additional programs on our existing properties? Should we consider acquiring new property? Are our current programs meeting the needs of BYM families? Is there a need within the Quaker community for more adult and family programs which might utilize our facilities, including year-round uses? To meet the costs of new and existing programs and/or new property, should we be prepared to raise fees to keep the programs as self-sufficient as possible? If we do not raise fees, what other sources of money are available?
We appreciate the tremendous support the Yearly Meeting has given the Camping Program over the past years in establishing Shiloh Quaker Camp. It has been so successful that it is easy to forget the vision and initiative that was needed at the time. We are asking the Yearly Meeting as a whole to lend us its perspective in addressing the above questions as we consider how to proceed in the future.

CAMP PROPERTY MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE

Catoctin Quaker Camp is in great shape, thanks in great part to the tireless efforts of Caretaker Robert Strausser and the help he enlists. The major project for the year was the redevelopment of the lagoon. The dam was dug out, the outlet pipe replaced with a concrete one that should last well into the next millennium (sorry, I couldn’t resist at least one usage of that word), and the dam and other banks rebuilt. While he was at it, Robert installed a new dock with a sandy beach next to it, and a couple of new bridges over the creeks on the path to some of the cabins. The workshop building also got a much-needed expansion, which is useful and blends in well with its surroundings. Next in line is a small pavilion to protect the camp vehicles during their relatively dormant season. Of particular concern to us this year has been the fact that 200 acres of land partly adjacent to ours went on the market. As the land comprises much of the watershed that drains into our wetland, a recognized rare ecological community in the state of Maryland, development of this property could have an adverse effect on the environment. Discussions were held to determine what action to take. At present, it looks like a group with concerns similar to ours is prepared to buy the property and preserve it. Details will be forthcoming as they develop.

Shiloh Quaker Camp is also in great shape, thanks again to the tireless efforts of Caretakers Stephen Velez and Bill Henry. Roofs are being replaced as needed, and significant improvements to some cabins are taking place, producing much airier, more inviting structures. There have been no more of the unmentionable weather occurrences lately, so we’ve been able to do some proactive work. The historic log cabin needed some attention; an anonymous benefactor provided the money to restore the building to a historically appropriate yet usefully practical condition. As the river has changed its course, stable and safe swimming areas are hard to find. We need to be thinking about amassing the resources to build the pool which was planned to go alongside the bathhouses. We are also considering how to make the dining hall and kitchen more accommodating and useful. An infirmary closer to living quarters is also in the works.
CRIMINAL AND RESTORATIVE JUSTICE COMMITTEE

As a well-coordinated working team, your Criminal and Restorative Justice Committee flunks, but as a body of semi-like-minded concerned individuals, we're the thing in the criminal justice field, we're a pretty good group! So without naming names, I'd like to review some of the activities in which our members have been engaged:

- Conducting a semi-monthly worship-sharing Quaker “service” in a state prison in Jessup, Maryland
- Visiting “alumni” of Jessup now in the prisons in Hagerstown, Maryland
- Holding vigils against the death penalty outside of prisons
- Conducting Alternatives to Violence Projects (AVP) within prisons and with juveniles
- Writing letters to newspapers and to state and national legislators
- Delivering discarded magazines from a Friends retirement community to a county detention center
- Attending the sessions of the Maryland Criminal Sentencing Policy Commission, speaking at the public hearings, and writing our views to the commissioners
- Helping with handicrafts at a state women's prison
- Donating notepaper and Christmas cards for prisoners who cannot buy them
- Taking a paralegal correspondence course in order to help other prisoners
- Organizing meeting presentations on inmate life
- Studying and practicing drug counseling
Committee Reports

- Visiting a women’s prison on Christmas day as part of the Holiday Project
- Meeting with the Prisoner Visitation & Support (PVS) organization and visiting prisoners in a federal prison with PVS
- Fasting with the Indian Affairs Committee in the cause of Leonard Peltier’s release
- Working politically to take the profits out of drugs
- Coordinating a community mediation service
- Running interest groups at Yearly Meeting on issues related to criminal justice

All in all, I’d say we’re doing a pretty good job!

Jack Fogarty, Clerk (retiring)

EDUCATION FUNDING RESOURCES COMMITTEE

The Education Funding Resources Committee (EFRC) meets every May to make loans to BYM Friends help cover the cost of secondary school and college tuition. Students are chosen based on the personal statement of the applicant and Monthly Meeting correspondent, the financial statement of the family, and the money available. The money available for new loans is derived primarily from money that we receive in repayment of prior loans, as well as interest from invested funds designated for this purpose.

Many Friends have contributed to our fund. Bequests and contributions from current Friends are essential if the loans are to continue. Such contributions are much appreciated and exemplify the long Quaker tradition of support for Friends’ education.

In 1999, we approved ten loans for a total of $14,000. The ten loan recipients were from the following Meetings: Bethesda, Dunnings Creek, Midlothian, Richmond, State College, Takoma Park Preparative, and West Branch. During 1998, a total of $20,079 was repaid. As of December, 1998, we had a total of $118,430.13 on loan to 83 borrowers. Friends are urged to repay promptly so that future students may receive the same benefits.

Applications are available from the BYM office and are due by May 1 of every year. The loans are interest-free until one year after graduation, at which time interest is 6% per year. We encourage every Monthly Meeting to select a correspondent who can keep the Meeting advised of the availability of and application procedures for these loans.

EPISTLE COMMITTEE

This year was the Epistle Committee’s turn for self-evaluation. Ironically, we have been unable to gather as a group to reflect on the questions. At State, four of us met with Tom Ryan and Howard Fullerton of the Web Committee. They present putting the BYM Epistles on the website. The epistles from 1998 and are there! To include other yearly meetings’ epistles would require their revision. Links to those yearly meetings that post their epistles are other libraries. Three of us met all day at Bethesda to plan this year’s activities begin thinking about the evaluation. Our April meeting was canceled for attendance.

According to the Manual of Procedure, the Epistle Committee has two functions:

- receive epistles from other Friends’ groups and distribute concerns in them to the attention of the Yearly Meeting.
- draft a general epistle to others if appropriate.

These no longer seem to be most effectively done by six Committee members with three-year terms. Few individuals are able to commit to an entire week at Yearly Meeting sessions for three consecutive years. Young adults and other experienced individuals particularly are limited in their ability to take the time off. The Committee is thus limited in age or interests, the epistle lacks a complete picture of the week. When few are present for preliminary drafts, the task becomes more onerous.

Distribution: The office staff mails the epistles to the Committee members. Delays deciding what to pass on to whom. More and more epistles include notices or statements which could go directly to the appropriate Yearly Meeting committee clerks, possibly equivalent Monthly Meeting committee clerks in all the committees would be more immediately involved in response to incoming epistles. If Monthly Meetings received the outgoing materials, they would be led to respond or act if appropriate, creating two-way communication with the Yearly Meeting and themselves.

Each annual session, the Presiding Clerk chooses the epistles to read in business. The office staff provides a notebook of all epistles received. This notebook is kept current all year, the Interchange editor and others can use it.

Going communications: Laying down the Epistle Committee as currently constituted is NOT to be construed as the laying down of the Yearly Meeting’s responsibility to communicate with other Friends groups. Rather, with a variety of ways to communicate, we hope to express our experience of the Light in our writings more clearly, more meaningfully, more usefully.
What do we want to convey about Baltimore Yearly Meeting? To whom? Discussions and minutes of substance should be communicated to our absent members and meetings as well as other Friends’ groups. The use of the Spiritual State of the Yearly Meeting and substantive minutes from Meeting for Business may more clearly present the state of the Yearly Meeting and its concerns, and invite replies and cooperation from our constituent meetings as well as Friends around the world.

Finally, the Spiritual State of the Yearly Meeting, the Sessions summary, and any minutes can be used as outreach through the web page. Have faith that sharing our experience and Light is more important than concern about overly wide distribution or possible electronic tampering.

Please hold all of us in the Light as we discern the future of the Epistle Committee. Comments will be gratefully received, in the epistle pocket at Wilson College, at the Yearly Meeting office, or by e-mail to mgwbrad@ibm.net.

Maria Bradley, Clerk

EPISTLE COMMITTEE
Self-evaluation as of June, 1999

The Epistle Committee envisions an active future.

Incoming epistles will continue to be distributed to pertinent committees, excerpted in the Interchange and available at Yearly Meeting sessions. They will also be placed on the Web page. This year they will be displayed at the sessions, (literally) highlighting common issues. We also would like to make them more accessible to Monthly Meetings, through interested committees or through newsletters.

Faith and Practice reminds us that we can bring other Yearly Meetings’ issues directly to our Yearly Meeting. We will meet to discuss the incoming epistles with that charge in mind.

Outgoing epistles are to communicate to other Friends’ groups, Yearly Meetings, and our own Monthly Meetings the issues and concerns of Baltimore Yearly Meeting. To name the issues, share the shape of discussions, point out the direction and possible actions ahead will be a test of discernment. We will work with the clerks and others in this process. The epistle is part chronicle and part issue-oriented, and hopefully Spirit-led. Are our Baltimore Yearly Meeting epistles ever read at Monthly Meetings for Business?
Members of the Epistle Committee frequently have been asked to serve at the Quarterly Meeting. Newcomers to the Yearly Meeting session welcome the chance to become involved at the Yearly Meeting level and beyond. Although full Committee meetings are rare, those who attend find them a form of continuing education. We strive to build more of a sense of community and teamwork within the Committee. We continue to work on the process of writing, asking ourselves how words improve the silence. Finding time at the sessions to discern and to speak is chaotic; the Committee members are often spent and exhausted. We anticipate the empowerment ministered by the Representative Meeting to bring a finished epistle to the fall Representative Meeting if necessary.

Suggested by the Committee as present: Maria Bradley, Carol Phelps, Robin Johnson, Lowell Christie, and Yearly Meeting Presiding Clerk (and former Epistle Committee member) Lamar Matthew. June 19, 1999.

Maria Bradley, Co-Clerk

ETHEL REYNOLDS FUND COMMITTEE

The Ethel Reynolds Fund Committee consists of six members: two from the Baltimore Monthly Meeting, two from the Yearly Meeting Religious Education Committee, and two from the Yearly Meeting Advancement and Outreach Committee. The Ethel Reynolds Fund Committee met on Spring Yearly Meeting Day, 1999, in Bethesda.

The purpose of the fund is to assist projects within the Baltimore Yearly Meeting which relate to either advancement and outreach or religious education. The Ethel Reynolds Fund is not generally available for individual scholarships or building projects. The Ethel Reynolds Fund grants are primarily intended as seed money for new or one time projects that are not to be relied upon for ongoing support. The amount available each year is the interest earned by the Ethel Reynolds Trust the previous year.

The Committee considered nine applications for assistance. The total amount requested the previous year was $53,095. The committee made the following awards:

- Baltimore Yearly Meeting Quaker Arts Camp $1,250
- Friends in Christ $1,000
- Friends School of Northern Virginia $2,000
- Quaker Ecumenical Seminars in Theology $500
- Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership $500

Total: $5,250

The remaining is to be reinvested.

Gene Hillman, Clerk
INDIAN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The 1998 Yearly Meeting hosted two adults, three teenagers, and one child, all members of the Torreon/Starlake Chapter of the Eastern Navajo, and during the week we shared many interesting stories of our experiences as members of two very different cultures. Several families from Friends Meeting of Washington provided these visitors hospitality during the week following Yearly Meeting and showed them the sites of Washington, DC, including a tour of the White House and the National Zoo and took them to Rehobeth, Delaware, to see the Atlantic Ocean for the first time. This week concluded with a party for our visitors, the host families, and Committee members to celebrate and to say goodbye. Those who participated in these activities spoke of being greatly enriched by the interchange.

In the spring, our Committee member, Aileen Starkweather, and Anne Ball of Sandy Spring Friends School led 14 students on an intersession service trip to Torreon, New Mexico. The Committee funded a service coordinator from the Chapter to coordinate the students’ visit and work. These students assisted in painting the thrift store, helped in school classrooms, sorted clothing in the thrift store, and helped prepare midday meals for elderly residents and provided them transportation.

"...By Minute of the last Yearly Meeting, the Released Friend Project of Pat Kutzner at Torreon Chapter of the Navajo nation in New Mexico was extended one year, so long as funds were forthcoming and with a request from Pat that she receive three-month notice in advance of the termination of funding by the Yearly Meeting." By the support of many generous Friends, this project has been funded through this 1999 Yearly Meeting. Pat has been able, therefore, to continue her important work and she has received the thanks of the Chapter. While the Committee endorses this work without reservation, the Committee does not intend to bring forward to the Yearly Meeting the draft of a minute for continuation of this project under our oversight. The Committee has found that in the absence of a continuing support group, that we do not retain the capacity for adequate oversight; however, the Committee recommends Pat to Friends and encourages support so that Pat may continue this work as way opens to her.

In keeping with its continuing responsibility, the Committee dispersed the interest income of its endowed funds to the following: HONOR ("Honor our Neighbors Origins and Rights") to help support an intern; FCUN (Friends Committee on Unity with Nature) to help bring Native American speakers to FGC (Friends General Conference); Indian Child Welfare Association for their continuing work; to a Rama Navajo literacy program, a project of Alden Lancaster, a member of the Committee; as well as to Sandy Spring Friends School for the service coordinator at Torreon.
During four times a year, we share information on local and national legislative issues concerning Native Americans. The Committee is acutely aware that there are many legislative efforts to erode the sovereign rights of our indigenous peoples. We sent a letter to all Meetings in the Yearly Meeting in an attempt to build a “political action network” for Native American legislation, but the response was inadequate for the establishment of the network.

MANUAL OF PROCEDURE COMMITTEE

Previous years the Manual of Procedure Committee has met four times during the year, but this year we met only twice. We scheduled our regular meetings but canceled two of them for the very good reason that we did not have sufficient business to conduct at the time. Of course, we conferred by telephone by mail during the interim. We were both surprised and pleased to have the chance to catch our breath a little after our earlier busy years.

Three new members joined the Committee this year. At one of our meetings five of the six members were present, and all six attended the second meeting. Elizabeth Hofmeister served as Recording Clerk, and Marjorie Akins served as Clerk. She will be leaving the Committee this year after six years of service.

The Manual of Procedure was reprinted in its entirety to incorporate the revisions approved by the Yearly Meeting in August 1998. A new category was established for Special Groups, which includes the Coordinating Council for Education Programs, the Counseling Service, Young Adult Friends, and Families of Quakers. Descriptions of the Sue Thomas Turner Quaker Education Fund Committee, of Prisoner Visitation and Support, and of the Listeners (present and former Presiding Clerks) were also added to the Manual.

There have been a few changes to the Manual this year. One concerns the ad hoc Research Committee. We have been asked by Representative Meeting to provide a procedure for Monthly Meetings who wish to withdraw from Quarterly Meetings. In October 1997 (R97-55) the Manual of Procedure Committee, at the request of Representative Meeting, proposed a procedure for realignment of Quarterly Meetings, which is still being considered. No description of the function and purpose of Quarterly Meetings appears at present in either the Manual of Procedure or the Faith and Practice except for III.A.2, and III.C.
The Manual was reprinted in a smaller format, the same size as the new edition of Faith and Practice. It is in loose-leaf form so that in the future only revised pages, rather than the entire Manual, need be distributed. A small fee is being requested for the purchase of the new Manual; this includes the loose-leaf binder and a lifetime subscription to future revisions!

Marjorie Akins, Clerk

MINISTRY AND COUNSEL COMMITTEE

During the 1998 sessions, the Committee approved the draft of the review of Ministry and Counsel’s function and activity and sent it to the Clerk of Representative Meeting. We have since tried to bring our practice into line with our conclusions.

The Manual of Procedure describes the Committee as composed primarily of the clerks or representatives of the various ministry, oversight, and pastoral care committees or functions within the Monthly Meetings. Yet, the overwhelming majority of the active members of our Committee have been appointees of the Yearly Meeting Nominating Committee for at least several decades. We are not comfortable with this evolution for several reasons. It goes counter to our basic charge of knowing first hand, discerning and deepening spiritual life throughout the Yearly Meeting. It reinforces the illusion that the Yearly Meeting can discern significant unity and sustain a corporate witness and presence in the world while functioning as a pool of self-identified “yearly-meeting Friends” offering occasional services to a grouping of essentially autonomous Meetings and individuals.

We have begun meeting as though we really expected Monthly Meeting representatives to be there, and at Goose Creek on 4/17 they were. We considered a single issue, our corporate responsibility for one another, and left plenty of time for conversation and refreshment. We hope to continue to meet in this way at least once or twice a year and to open our real concerns.

We have also moved to reduce some of our direct responsibilities for sessions and the Retreat. Program Committee has graciously taken on planning for orientation of new attendees, ushering and microphones during sessions, and child care during the Retreat. For the third year in a row, we have asked a Monthly Meeting to do the Retreat itself, and the results have been very satisfying. We are less “busy” and more able to bring coherent discernment to the Yearly Meeting in the Spiritual State of the Yearly Meeting Report.
we had to lay down the Counseling Service Coordinating Committee for if a clerk or coordinator. We therefore are not accrediting new counselors otherwise expanding the service. The Yearly Meeting Office is offering re- and the Ministry and Counsel Committee itself is keeping track of activ- making reports.

We hope to bring 50 copies to Yearly Meeting of a manual containing summaries of statutes concerning marriage in each of the jurisdictions of our Monthly Meetings as well as statutes concerning death and disposition of remains. There is a limited amount of practical advice and references to Faith and Prac

We hope that further editions of the publication will be a way to share the base amount of helpful knowledge existing among us.

Stephen Davidson, Clerk

NURE AND RECOGNITION OF MINISTRY

The Committee met twice this year in a spirit of worship and prayer. Elizabeth, beloved Clerk and Co-Clerk of the Committee has been co-opted for during stewardship of the Spiritual Formation program. The success of this program is well evidenced in the spiritual lives and leadership of participating beings.

Spiritual Formation: The Spiritual Formation Program sponsored by our Commit- ttee continues to nurture individual and community spiritual growth. Russell administers the program. More than 40 people participated in the pro- this year. Local Spiritual Formation Groups formed in Alexandria, Balti- (with Friends from Homewood and Stony Run), Frederick, Richmond, ana Park, and Williamsburg. A Spiritual Formation Group consists of Meet- ers and attenders who make a commitment to form a nurturing spirit- church that will meet together from September to May to support one on the spiritual journey, to discern God’s leadings, and to recognize and gifts and ministries. The groups met together in September 1998 for an eing retreat to reflect on spiritual practices that can bring us into a closer ship with God. Each participant was asked to choose a daily spiritual line for the year such as prayer, meditation, journal keeping, or devotional ng. The groups met monthly to share a meal, worship together, and share ses to a devotional work that everyone had agreed to read that month. er groups within each Spiritual Formation Group met monthly to share eniences with daily disciplines. In our May closing retreat participants re- in silence and in small groups on discernment of God’s will. We look ord to another year of Spiritual Formation beginning in September 1999.
Travel Minutes: Travel Minutes for Mary Lord and Margery Larrabee were submitted to Representative Meeting for renewal or approval. These minutes on behalf of the Yearly Meeting are to provide “letters of introduction” outside the Yearly Meeting area in support of their ministries. The Clerks of the Meetings visited are asked to endorse the minutes and the minutes are returned to the Meeting.

Mary Lord’s Travel Minute was returned with ringing endorsements for her ministry of peace and social justice with particular interest in coordinated youth programs. Another travel minute was issued for her continuing work.

Margery Larrabee’s Spiritual Friendship Program is enjoyed not only among Friends but among other religious traditions. Since 1984, Margery has been actively involved in establishing these programs in various Meetings. The small group focus provides bases for numerous active relationships forged in discussion and shared exploration of spiritual growth. A Travel Minute for her ministry throughout the country was approved at the March 27, 1999, Representative Meeting.

Released Ministry Guidelines: The practice of Released Friends supported by Meetings has engendered much discussion. Certain ministries have transcended conventional boundaries with travel and financial accountability beyond the capacity of the Monthly Meeting. This Committee now labors with the Stewardship and Finance Committee and the Ministry and Counsel Committee to find means of supporting these vital ministries. A draft version of Guidelines for Embracement of Friends Released in the Ministry is now being prepared.

Couple Enrichment: The Couple Enrichment facilitated by Joan Dyer Liversidge and Rich Liversidge continues to grow. This year they led several events for couples seeking to nurture their spiritual bond.

Silent Retreats: The Committee has sponsored a series of silent retreats coordinated by Fred and Judy Ceppa. They gather in April and October each year for secluded worship and insightful solitude at Dayspring Retreat Center. A steady group of repeat attenders has guaranteed a full number despite having to book reservations 30 days in advance.

PEACE AND SOCIAL CONCERNS

A focus of the Peace and Social Concerns (P&SC) Committee over the past year has been to assimilate the voluntary service aspect of our Committee charge, following the merger in 1998 of the American Friends Service Committee (AFSC)-BYM Voluntary Service Committee with Peace and Social Concerns.
Committee sponsored an Interchange article on AFSC service opportunities and is planning a regular newsletter insert on service opportunities in the general region.

Responding to the military crisis in Kosovo, the Committee helped to coordinate a May, 1999 meeting at William Penn House in Washington, D.C., involving representatives of Monthly Meetings throughout the region. Staff of the C and Friends Committee on National Legislation also attended. Discussion at the meeting resulted in several actions, including weekly silent vigils at the U.S. Capitol. Many Monthly Meetings continued projects already begun, as preparing humanitarian kits in conjunction with AFSC, letter writing guidance from FCNL, and others.

Monthly Meetings and P&SC Committee members took action on such issues as U.S. drug policy, juvenile justice, the death penalty, and preparing for peace in the 21st century. Committee members supported peacemaking efforts in the U.S., as well as the African Great Lakes Initiative of Friends Peace Teams. The Committee will sponsor a summer workshop on continuing efforts to rebuild burned churches.

RIGHT SHARING OF WORLD RESOURCES COMMITTEE

After a year of waiting for the Right Sharing Committee of FWCC to decide where to find a home, we discover a new organization has evolved with its own board of directors. A BYM member, Pat Kutzner, is a member of this new board.

The BYM Committee is ready to accept this arrangement but needs to discover how this will fit into the BYM organization. The committee meetings have been well attended at each Representative Meeting. We expect to continue our annual Right Sharing simple meal at Chambersburg, Pennsylvania.

Other fund-raising projects are also being considered. The national organization of Right Sharing suggests local Meetings fund particular projects sponsored by Right Sharing.

The emphasis of the Committee will continue to be “Live simply that others may live.”

Edith J. Ballard, Clerk
SEARCH COMMITTEE

The Search Committee is charged with making nominations to Representative Meeting for Yearly Meeting Officers, Supervisory Committee, and Nominating Committee.

This year the Committee met at the time of Representative Meeting in March and will be meeting for the second time in June at Summer Representative Meeting. For the current nominating cycle, the Committee at the March Representative Meeting brought forward for reappointment Sheila Bach as Treasurer and Kevin Caughlan as Assistant Treasurer, both for additional two-year terms.

The current two-year terms of the Clerk and the Recording Clerk of Representative Meeting expire in August 1999. At Summer Representative Meeting the Committee expects to bring forward for reappointment Marjorie Scott as Clerk and Arthur David Olson as Recording Clerk. Both have agreed to accept additional two-year appointments.

The Committee also will be bringing forward nominations for Supervisory Committee and Nominating Committee at Summer Representative Meeting.

Liz Hofmeister, Clerk

SEARCH COMMITTEE
Self-Evaluation

In preparing a review of its goals and responsibilities, the Search Committee examined its charge and composition as outlined in the Manual of Procedure.

As an administrative committee of the Yearly Meeting, the Search Committee has a clearly defined mandate. It is responsible for nominating persons to serve as Yearly Meeting officers, members of the Supervisory Committee and the Nominating Committee, and to bring these nominations to Representative Meeting in a timely manner. Bringing forward the best possible nominees to serve in these key positions is important to the sound operation of the Yearly Meeting.

In searching for nominees for all these positions, the Committee must identify individuals with known or potential leadership ability. In the case of Nominating Committee, the Search Committee needs to bring forward names of individuals with an understanding of the functioning of the Yearly Meeting and a sensitivity to the particular needs of the various committees.
The Search Committee feels that it is presently fulfilling these responsibilities. However, in its search for nominees it has had some difficulty in identifying individuals prepared to assume leadership roles in the Yearly Meeting. The Committee would like to ask the General Secretary to determine what positions, those who have participated in the Yearly Meeting Quaker Leadership Seminar have assumed either in their own Monthly Meeting or in the Yearly Meeting. The Committee feels that such a review of the outcome of the Institute’s program would be helpful in determining whether the Yearly Meeting needs to continue to develop the leadership skills of individuals within the Yearly Meet-

The committee feels that with six members it is an optimum size to complete seriously the work assigned to it. It tries to follow a regular timetable for meeting and making decisions on the appointments it makes during the annual evaluation cycle. It files for future reference the names of individuals who are asked to take on a Yearly Meeting assignment at the time they are asked but express a willingness to serve in the future. In its deliberations, the Com-

The current members of the Committee have worked together and feel we have been sensitive to listening to and respecting the views of each member of the Committee.

In memory to the Yearly Meeting, the Search Committee asks how all of us can express appreciation for the contributions not only of those in leadership roles but of all who labor in the vineyard of Baltimore Yearly Meeting.

The current members of the Committee are: Liz Hofmeister (Bethesda), Clerk; Marie Moriarty (Adelphi); Phillip Perkins (Baltimore, Stony Run); Katherine (Maury River); Carolyn Unger (Goose Creek); and Jean Ward (Alexan-

STEWARDSHIP AND FINANCE COMMITTEE

Responsibilities of the Committee: The basic responsibilities of the Stewardship and Finance Committee (S&F) are:

- Preparing and overseeing the annual operating budget for BYM,
- Proposing an apportionment among BYM Meetings of the unfunded share of the budget, and
- Maintaining the Yearly Meeting’s office property in Sandy Spring.
S&F’s proposed budget and apportionment normally are completed and distributed for comment to the Monthly Meetings in the spring of each year, and considered at the BYM Annual Session in August. The budget year starts in January following the Annual Session.

S&F has acquired several additional responsibilities in recent years:

- S&F has oversight of the F.U.T.U.R.E. Subcommittee, an independent subcommittee tasked three years ago to raise $600,000 for camp properties and a camp scholarship endowment. The F.U.T.U.R.E. Committee is approaching its goal, and the Yearly Meeting may want to consider whether to lay it down or have it continue to address BYM’s financial needs.
- A member of S&F sits on the Camp Property Management Committee (CPMC), as do representatives of Trustees and the Camping Program Committee. CPMC is responsible for the maintenance and capital needs of BYM’s camp properties. Long-term planning for the facilities is becoming a priority matter for BYM, and CPMC has a central role in this. The CPMC has two site committees that report to it, one for each property. During CPMC’s two-year existence, site matters and the financial health of BYM’s properties have improved.
- The Nurture and Recognition of Ministry Committee (NRMC) and S&F are exploring how BYM can best recognize and support the spiritual leadings of its members. Interest in bringing such leadings to BYM is increasing, and BYM’s response may have budget and apportionment implications that S&F will need to address.

S&F’s Budget and Apportionment Process: The Committee follows a two-step process to arrive at BYM’s draft operating budget and BYM apportionment. By custom, first it addresses BYM’s operating budget. Then it apportions among BYM’s Monthly Meetings that part of the budget that is unfunded by other revenues. Work on the operating budget begins in January or February of one year for the following calendar year. This spring, we worked on the budget for the year starting in January 2000.

With the input of the General Secretary and the Treasurer, S&F reviewed actual and budgeted operating revenues and expenditures for the current (i.e., 1999) operating year and for previous years, including important trends and changes. This included a review of the needs of BYM’s committees and programs. Revenue and expenditure policies and specific line items were examined, and several drafts were produced before finalizing the draft budget. The draft budget for the year 2000 is $837,670, an increase of $41,582 (5.2%) over the budget for 1999.
comparison purposes, the draft budget for 2000 is presented with the budget for the current and the most-recently completed previous operating years (1999 and 1998). Also presented are the actual results from the two most recently-completed operating years (i.e., 1998 and 1997). This allows both historical and actual-to-budget comparisons.

There is always a gap between BYM’s total budgeted costs and the amount of revenues from its revenue-generating activities. This gap is the amount apportioned among BYM’s Monthly Meetings to balance the operating budget. For the year 2000, this gap is $264,467, an increase of 4.3% from the 1999 apportioned amount.

The recommended apportionment of this funding gap was developed during March and April. S&F used the apportionment formula that the Yearly Meeting applied in August 1997, and applied it to Monthly Meeting data in hand. The preliminary apportionment was considered and finalized at S&F’s committee meeting on April 24, taking into account adjustments to the calculated apportionment amounts for specific meetings. These adjustments reflected supplementary information from certain Meetings that affected those Meetings’ financial situations. As in the past, representatives from all Meetings were encouraged to attend at least the April S&F meeting.

In 1998, S&F revised the criteria for determining our financial contributions to FGC, FUM, and FWCC. This change was required because, beginning in 1998, Meetings no longer report their members as affiliated with FGC, FUM or FWCC, and the previous per-capita formula could no longer be used. S&F now bases its FGC and FUM member contributions based on more qualitative measures as was described by S&F at the August 1998 Annual Session.

Operating Budget for 2000: The proposed budget for 2000 totals $717,775, up 6.8% from the current (i.e., 1999) budget of $780,503. The 2000 budget identifies five sources of revenue, of which four (i.e., the camping properties, the BYM annual sessions, and committee programs) are self-financing. These four activities are projected to generate $576,700 in revenues, or 68% of BYM’s total year 2000 budget, to support themselves. A small amount also is derived from interest, publication sales, and contributions to BYM.

The unfunded balance of the budget ($264,467 or 32%) is apportioned to the Monthly Meetings to balance the budget. Costs that are apportioned include personnel, administrative, and contributions expenditures. Contributions come from BYM’s support of FGC, FUM and FWCC.
BYM’s Camping Programs generate about 47% of BYM’s revenues, in the form of camper fees and other camping receipts. These Camping Program revenues pay all direct camping program costs including camp staff salaries, work grants, and camp operating expenses. In the current operating year of 1999, the cost of the Camp Administrator is being funded 40% from the Camping Programs (which are self-financing) and 60% from BYM salaries (which are apportioned). In the year 2000 budget, this ratio has been reversed, with the Camping Programs picking up 60% of the cost of the Camp Administrator and only 40% being apportioned to the Meetings. The year 2000 Camping Program budget also includes an additional $3,000 in rent payments to BYM for the use of the camp facilities, which now will total $30,000. In the current 1999 budget, this amount is $27,000.

Six percent of BYM budget revenues in 2000 is projected to come from the rental of BYM’s camp facilities. Most of this is the $30,000 in rent received from the Camping Programs. The balance comes from Monthly Meetings and other users of the camp properties during the year. These revenues help cover the carrying and operating costs of the facilities, including liability insurance and the non-Camping Program share of property maintenance costs.

The Yearly Meeting session provides about 11% of BYM’s revenues; the fees are structured so the session is self-supporting. Another four percent is generated to fund Committee Programs.

Proposed Apportionment of Unfunded Costs: In 2000, it is projected that $264,467 of budgeted expenditures will not be funded from other sources and must be apportioned among BYM’s Monthly Meetings. This apportionment amount represents 21.1% of aggregate member contributions to BYM’s Monthly Meetings and the investment income of those member Meetings that is available for meeting operating budgets.

The amounts apportioned among our member Meetings are determined based on information provided by the Monthly Meetings to the BYM office. Each Monthly Meeting is asked to provide certain prior-year information, including the Meeting’s total membership, the number of households giving $50 or more annually, the dollars contributed to the Meeting by its members, and the Meeting’s income from investments. S&F also asks each Meeting to identify any appropriate adjustments to this information that should be taken into account in determining the Meeting’s ability to pay its calculated apportionment share.

This Meeting-by-Meeting contribution and investment information is aggregated for BYM. This aggregated revenue is separated into (1) a contributions component reflecting aggregate Monthly Meeting revenues from contributions and (2) an investment income component reflecting the income from all Meetings’ investment portfolios. The budget gap (i.e., apportionment amount) is split in the
The proportion, into one amount representing the share to be divided according to member contributions and another amount to be divided according to investment income.

In 1998 (amounts used for the 2000 apportionment), total contributions and investment revenue for all BYM Meetings was $1,248,602. About 70.5% of total revenue came from contributions. About 29.5% came from the Meeting's investment income. The apportionment amount of $264,467 was split by the same percentage amounts—$186,520 to contributions and $77,947 to investment income.

For each Monthly Meeting, that Meeting's share of total BYM contributions and its share of investment income are calculated. These determine the Meeting's share of BYM's apportionment amount. Each Meeting's share of the apportionment amount equals that Meeting's contributions factor (i.e., its percentage share of total BYM contributions) times the contributions component of the budget gap plus the Meeting's investment factor (i.e., its percentage share of total BYM investment income) times the investment income component of the budget gap. Two amounts are added together to arrive at the Meeting's share of BYM's 1998 budget gap. The total of all Meetings' shares of the budget gap equals the $264,467 target apportionment amount.

The apportionment formula treats contribution and investment income equally. However, the contributions factor combines two elements to assure fairness. It is the arithmetic mean (i.e., the average) of two percentage amounts, (a) the Meeting's percentage share of total BYM dollars contributed and (b) the Meeting's percentage share of total BYM households contributing $50 or more. Averaging these two percentages into a single percentage amount measures both giving size (i.e., the number of contributing households) and Meeting wealth (dollars contributed). In addition, the contributions factor does not penalize Meetings for having contributors who give small amounts or who don't contribute at all; the contributing households component excludes givers who give less than $50 during the year.

The Meeting's investment factor is determined by calculating the Meeting's investment income as a percentage of total BYM investment income. Investment income includes unrestricted endowment and other income available for operating budget, but excludes income that is restricted by donors, such as income for educational scholarships, capital campaigns, and the care of gravesites, etc.

After S&F arrived at preliminary apportionment figures for the Monthly Meetings, this information was provided to all Monthly Meetings for review. At its annual committee meeting, S&F made final adjustments on a Meeting-by-Meeting basis for special circumstances such as the rapid growth or shrinkage of the Meeting membership, unusual building expansion or rehabilitation costs, the loss of revenue sources, high operating costs, etc. This series of adjustments is always an iterative process, a reduction in one Meeting’s apportionment amount must be allocated to other Meetings, and the process continues until there are no more adjustments and all unfunded costs have been apportioned.

Normally, increases and decreases are not permitted to exceed 25% per year, although exceptions may occur. Further adjustments may be made on a case-specific basis according to a Meeting’s perceived ability to pay somewhat more or less than the calculated amount. Meetings that do not report data for the previous year may have their apportionment increased by as much as 25% from the previous year.

The Committee adopted its current apportionment formula in 1997, and this formula approach was approved by the Yearly Meeting at the August 1997 Annual Sessions. It is generally recognized that each Meeting is obligated to carry its share of BYM costs and that any Meeting under-reporting its income or not participating fully in the process, in effect, requires other BYM Meetings to absorb a disproportionate share of BYM’s operating costs.

Planning for BYM’s Future Financial Needs: BYM Friends view our Yearly Meeting camping programs as an important Quaker outreach and a source of substantial spiritual strength to the Yearly Meeting. With this in mind, three years ago the Yearly Meeting established the F.U.T.U.R.E. Subcommittee to raise $600,000 to provide funds for the capital needs of the two camp properties and for camper scholarship assistance. That committee operates as an independent subcommittee of S&F, and has been largely successful in achieving its goal. Soon, the Yearly Meeting may want to consider whether to lay the committee down or revise its purpose so it can continue to raise funds on behalf of BYM’s emerging longer-term financial needs.

It has become increasingly clear that BYM must embark on a thoughtful examination of the needs of the camps and the camping program, to create a common vision within BYM of the camping program’s future and the long-term needs of the camp facilities. In recent years, various BYM committees have successfully addressed their operational responsibilities in running the current camping program and upgrading the current facilities, but have done little planning work.

In February, 1999, a group of about 50 concerned BYM members met to discuss the long-term needs of the camping program and to examine how those needs might be met. In attendance were representatives of the Camping Program, Camp Property Management, Stewardship and Finance and F.U.T.U.R.E Committees and BYM Trustees, and many other Friends. It was agreed that an ad hoc group including representatives from the Camping Program and Property Management committees and Trustees, as well as other co-opted Friends, should begin a coordinated long-term planning process for the camp facilities and the scope of the camping program itself.
The ad hoc group felt a sense of urgency to proceed with a systematic, coordinative, and expeditious evaluation to clarify BYM’s camping mission and identify the way to proceed. The ad hoc group clearly believes that the Yearly Meeting should get ready to embark now on a planning process regarding the camping program, and that individual committees must be encouraged to consider their roles in fulfilling BYM’s mission as well as its facility and program needs.

It is recognized that some needs are time-sensitive because of their inherent distance to the camps, environmental concerns, and the encroaching development around the Catoctin site in particular. Other needs also were identified, such as the need to define a long-term building program and an interest in examining whether BYM should develop new camping programs to broaden the camps’ appeal. It was agreed that these ideas require further analysis and discussion. Also discussed was the possible acquisition of additional camp properties or land adjacent to the current two facilities. This may require deliberation at the Yearly Meeting level, and any debt incurred in connection with such acquisitions would probably affect BYM’s operating budget.

The ad hoc group agrees that BYM’s long-term capital and program needs should be examined. As BYM’s vision of the future changes, we must all reexamine the assumptions used in making earlier program, budget and capital decisions. Attention also might be paid to how fully our Manual of Procedure outlines committee responsibilities and each committee’s evolving role in this process.

Organizing and Supporting Spiritual Leadings within BYM: In recent years, the ad hoc group has begun to address support for the work of Friends whose spiritual leadings have been taken under the care of one or more of BYM’s committees. The Yearly Meeting’s Nominating and Recognition of Ministry Committee (NRMC) and S&F have been working together to see how this might best be done, and we have ventured into uncharted oversight territory. Establishing policies and procedures seems necessary to guide our thinking and guidelines for BYM’s recognition of leadings are being developed.

In recent years, two leadings have been actively supported by BYM. One is the Great American program involving Pat Kutzner (Washington) and the other is the Place Witness program involving Mary Lord (Adelphi). In each case, funds and resources for the activities are provided to the extent they are received from donors. There is no impact on BYM’s budget and therefore there is no apportionment issue to be addressed.

Nominating and Recognition of Ministry Committee (NRMC) and S&F want to describe BYM’s support of such leadings in an unambiguous way. Our use in the past of the term “release” to describe the Yearly Meeting’s involvement has caused some confusion. That term has a specific meaning when used by Monthly Meetings. BYM’s intent is, in fact, different because BYM has a more modest oversight and financial undertaking. The emerging BYM term is “embraced,” or perhaps will be “recognized.” The term “release” normally will be applied to actions by a Monthly Meeting.

This issue will continue to ripen within NRMC and S&F.

Accessibility of the S&F Committee: The Stewardship and Finance Committee is most effective when our work fully reflects the views of the BYM membership. You can make your views known to this Committee and others within the BYM community in several ways.

First, you can become a member of the Committee itself. Membership is drawn from BYM’s various Monthly Meetings, and the Committee’s membership should reflect a broad base. Much of our work involves common sense rather than numbers, so those with a policy orientation are also welcome on the Committee. Diversity of membership on the Committee helps to reflect the many views that exist within BYM. Those interested in membership should let Nominating Committee or a Committee member know of your interest.

Second, our Committee meetings are open to visitors. Even if you can’t make an ongoing member commitment, you are still welcome at our various meetings. You can find out our meeting schedule from the Yearly Meeting office or from one of the committee members.

Third, you can be heard whenever we meet. For example, S&F typically meets at the various Representative Meetings during the year, and you can access us there. We also present the draft budget and proposed apportionment at the Annual Session in August, where ideas and modifications can be contributed from the floor, or you can work with us on a specific issue that interests you, as we meet during our budget and apportionment cycle in the spring.

SUE THOMAS TURNER QUAKER EDUCATION FUND

The Sue Thomas Turner Quaker Education Fund of Baltimore Yearly Meeting was established in recognition of Sue’s long support of Quaker education and Quaker values in public education. The purpose of this fund is to support the understanding and practice of Quaker faith in schools, and to support the growth of a “life lived in the Spirit” by members of the school communities. The fund is targeted for Friends schools under the care of a Friends Meeting, but is available to any school community. The school community members include students, staff, faculty, administration, trustees, and parents. The funds are limited
In 1999 the Sue Thomas Turner Quaker Education Fund received eight requests for funds. The Committee thoughtfully considered the requests and distributed $2,550 for seven uses consistent with the purpose of the fund. The recipients include: Friends Meeting School ($500 for training of staff and interested parents), Children's Creative Response to Conflict), Friends School of Atlanta ($750 for staff to Friends Council on Education “FCE” workshops), Friends School of Hingham ($375 to bring Barry Morley to discuss Sense of the Meeting), Spring Friends School ($500 to send staff to FCE workshops), School for Friends in D.C. ($500 to send a group with Board, faculty, and parent members to a FCE workshop), Tandem Friends School ($500 to bring a Quaker speaker to school) and Thornton Friends School ($300 to help support a program in social and spiritual health and how this relates to Quaker testimonies).

The committee was very pleased with the caliber of the requests and the opportunity to support Quaker faith and practice in education. As knowledge and understanding of this fund spreads throughout the Friends community, the demand for grants increases also. Currently the Fund has an endowment of $36,950. The year distribution of funds has to be from the income of this endowment. This year we had more than usual at our discretion because there had been fewer requests in the first two years of the Fund. In order to give at this level in the future the endowment needs to grow. We ask that others who feel a leading to support this important work please contribute whatever they are able to the endowment. Funds may go to the BYM with a notation for the “Sue Thomas Turner Quaker Education Fund.” Thank you in advance for your support.

The committee will meet in March 2000 to consider new requests. Request deadline is February 15.

SUPERVISORY COMMITTEE

The Supervisory Committee met six times following the 1998 session of Yearly Meeting.

There have been three new staff hired this year to fill vacancies for Religious Education, Youth Secretary, and Camp Administrative Secretary. Margo Lehman, a member of Sandy Spring Monthly Meeting, was hired for the Religious Education work; Michele Levasseur, a teacher at Thornton Friends School, is working in the part time Youth Secretary job; and Josh Riley has started as the Camp Administrative Secretary.

Diana Jusino continues as the Office Manager and Maria Bradley as the Secretary Receptionist. With the filling of all the vacancies we feel we have a strong staff under the supervision and guidance of our General Secretary, Frank Massey.

We continue to work on the sexual harassment policy and hope to have this ready for Fall Committee Day.

Marjorie Scott, Clerk

TREASURER’S REPORT

This past year has been a good one for the Yearly Meeting. The Review by Roy Hoover and Company was good and shows we are in good financial shape. We continue to pay back the loans taken for the purchase and improvements of Shiloh Quaker Camp.

Monthly Meetings are keeping the apportionments coming in on a regular basis. However, there are times when the bills are more than the income. I will be asking some of the larger Meetings to stagger their payments throughout the quarter so that the income comes in on a more even basis.

Student loan payments are generally being repaid on a regular basis. We try to work with the few who are having a difficult time keeping up with their payments for some understandable reason so that we keep some money coming in for future use while not making the student feel overburdened.

We did not hold any Treasurer’s workshops this year and if interest is expressed for some in the future, I would be very pleased to do some. I would like to think the lack of response to attend a workshop is due to the fact that all treasurers of Monthly Meetings know exactly what they are doing. Please give me a call if any of you treasurers want a workshop or are having a problem.

It has been a pleasure serving as Treasurer of Baltimore Yearly Meeting. I enjoy working with the Stewardship and Finance Committee, with Frank, and with the rest of the staff in the office.

Sheila N. Bach, Treasurer
UNITY WITH NATURE

The Unity with Nature Committee sponsored an Earth Day Celebration on April 29 held at Sandy Spring Friends School. With approximately 54 people attending, it would call this a moderate success. Our main plenary speakers were Prof. Moore of the Center for Sustainable Living at Wilson College and Ed Wilson, clerk of The Environmental Working Group of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting. There are lots of opportunities for follow through’s from this gathering. This time we have some tentative plans for an Earth Day gathering 2000 at the Friends Wilderness Meditation Center (April 22, 2000).

Friends are encouraged to respond to a “Memorandum” letter from BYM office on June 28, 1999 in relation to proposed changes to our Faith and Practice, coming to “Questions to be considered by the couple before application for marriage.” This concern originates from Goose Creek’s Unity with Nature Committee from Chesapeake Quarterly Meeting. I believe you may hear more about this at our August BYM Session, 1999.

Here is a brief synopsis of Unity with Nature and the national organization. FCUN (Friends Committee on Unity with Nature) happenings for 1999: The steering Committee of FCUN met at the Croft retreat center near Kalamazoo, Michigan the three days before the FGC Gathering. The Ann Kriebel-San Luis Obispo Committee reported that they have now been purchased for the “parceleros” in their project near Monteverde, Costa Rica, and we had a first-hand report from Alonso Vargas of the project. At the Gathering, FCUN activities were an integral part of the program. There was a plenary with Harvey Longboat of the Seneca tribe and Don Alejandro of the Mayans of Guatemala. A second plenary by Tony McQuail of Canada Yearly Meeting dealt with sustainable agriculture and our overconsumption. Each day there were two sessions in the FCUN room. A few of the topics were: “What is the meaning of being on holy ground in holy times,” “Towards a Quaker energy policy,” “Toward taking away the occasion of abortion,” “The troubled future of migrant birds; what can we do,” and “Restoring urban land as habitat for native species.” In addition there was outside early morning worship beside a small lake on the campus. A pair of geese and a swan pair visited our worship group on several mornings. A pair of red-winged blackbirds fed their brood in the reeds a few yards...
YOUTH PROGRAMS COMMITTEE

The Young Friends Program in a Spiritual Direction: The current Clerk of Young Friends, Glenda Goodman, has made it a priority to foster spirituality at Young Friends conferences. This year more Young Friends have attended Meeting for Worship with their Monthly Meeting conference hosts and Young Friends have also had many well-attended worship sharings this year.

BYM Youth Secretary: A Position in Flux: After eight years of dedicated service to BYM youth programs, Marsha Holliday accepted a position at FGC during the summer of 1998. Andrea Seabrook was hired as the new Youth Secretary in the Fall of 1998 and got off to a good start, but she left in February to accept a full-time position with NPR in Mexico. Michele Levasseur has admirably filled the void since February, 1999, helping Young Friends with a number of functions including planning the annual bus trip and Yearly Meeting. The Youth Programs Committee thanks Diana Jusino for stepping in and doing so very much to keep the Young Friends program functioning (Diana is the unsung heroine of Young Friends; Diana, we love ya.). We also thank Frank Massey for all his diligent efforts to fill the BYM Youth Secretary position and ensure support for the Young Friends program.

Smoking Issue: The issue of smoking at Young Friends conferences has been the major Young Friends issue of the past few years and one that has vexed many Young Friends, Friendly Adult Presences, parents, and other concerned adults. The views of Young Friends on smoking at conferences run the gamut from those who oppose smoking by anyone at any Quaker function to those who support smoking as long as smokers are being considerate of others. To more deeply explore the issue, the year before last the Young Friends formed a committee to develop queries on smoking. Last year Young Friends held a worship sharing at one of its conferences on selected queries that had been developed. This April, Young Friends had a workshop considering smoking led by George Price. There are plans to have dialogues between adults and Young Friends on the smoking concern at Yearly Meeting in August.

Young Friends Conferences: Young Friends held and are holding five conferences in 98-99 and an Executive Committee annual planning retreat. The Young Friends conferences were at the Monthly Meetings of Langley Hill (October, 1998), Stony Run (November, 1998), Annapolis (February, 1999), Adelphi (June, 1999), and the annual bus trip which this year was in State College (April, 1999). The Young Friends Executive Committee held their annual planning retreat in September 1998. Approximately 80 teenagers were active in the Young Friends program this past year with about 50 attending each conference. Participation seems to have plateaued after peaking last year when 96 teenagers attended one well-publicized conference.
Young Quakes" for Unprogrammed Young Friends: There will be a Young Friends conference this October, 1999 at Catoctin. The Young Quakes conference serves as a preparation for the Quaker ecumenical Christian-oriented Quake which involves a broader cross-section of Friends. The next Quake will be held in 2000. The October, 1999 Young Quakes conference is the first time Young Quake is opened up to unprogrammed Young Friends and BYM and is expected to attract teenagers from many of the East Coast Meetings, and possibly Southern and West Coast Yearly Meetings.

YQUIT (Young Quakers in Transition) Program: This program was started to provide a continuing community for recently graduated Young Friends who are in college. YQUIT ("why quit," get it?) fills the spiritually significant gap between high-school-age Young Friends and the Young Adult Quakers which tends to attract more of an early twenties to thirty-something YQUIT held its first conference in May of 1998 after most spring college semesters had ended. A second YQUIT conference was held May, 1999.

Plans to Resurrect a Year-round JYF Program: Hope is springing eternal for the Youth Programs Committee that there is some way to organize several Junior Young Friends (JYF) weekend conferences during the year that build on the wonderful JYF program at Yearly Meeting sessions. The year-round JYF program meant a great deal to past participants but has been dormant for the last several years. Michele Levasseur is working hard to organize a year-round JYF program. Although plans are a bit fluid at this point, the potential JYF program will include approximately three JYF weekend sleep-overs each year at annual Meetings in Baltimore Yearly Meeting, with workshops and Friendly Presences for each conference.

Music CD: In 1998 the Young Friends made a CD of mostly music and a few poetry titled "Out of the Silence." The quality of the material and the engineering of the CD are both quite good and the CD will be on sale until copies run out. The CD includes such tunes as a beautiful Hebrew piece sung by T.J. Levasseur of Dunning Creek which is digitally mixed with drumming by several Young Friends, and an inspiring song of peace by Jason Maloney of Sonora. For those with more contemporary tastes it also includes some 90s-style rock numbers written by our very own Young Friends. And for those who like some humor in their music there is the Young Friends classic of the last few years, the Squirrel Song by a band made up of BYM Young Friends. If there were a Quaker Billboard Top 40, this CD would have quickly climbed the chart. There are still copies of the CD left and the cost is only $7.00 each if you want it mailed to you). "Out of the Silence" will be available at any Meeting and FGC this year.

AD HOC COMMITTEE ON FRIENDS SCHOOLS

The Ad Hoc Committee on Friends Schools spent much of the year planning a day-long conference on “Challenges of Building and Nurturing Friends Schools,” held on March 13, 1999 at Sidwell Friends (Upper School). Planning for the conference (the second annual workshop the Committee has sponsored) involved faculty, students, and parents from Sidwell Friends and other Friends schools. All area schools including Thornton Friends School, Sandy Spring Friends School, Friends Community School, Friends Meeting School, Thornton Friends, School for Friends, Baltimore Friends School, and Tandem Friends (Charlottesville) were represented by participants and discussion leaders. Over 100 persons attended the conference.

The conference agenda included opening and closing worship, a keynote address on Friends values in education by new Sidwell Head, Bruce Stewart, and workshops. Discussion topics included: community service, governance and decision-making; teaching testimonies on peace and the environment; how Friends schools recognize achievement; teaching Quaker values and process; and others. Partnerships with public schools, Monthly Meetings and the community were also explored. Participants had opportunities for networking, as well as viewing book and literature displays. Plans are to hold a similar conference next spring. The Committee will also sponsor a workshop at the 1999 Annual Sessions, and explore other ways to support Friends schools in the BYM region. The Committee’s initial three-year charge expires in 1999.

AD HOC COMMITTEE ON LESBIAN, GAY, AND BISEXUAL CONCERNS

The charge of this Committee continues to be to gather and distribute information on lesbian, gay, and bisexual concerns arising within Baltimore Yearly Meeting, its Monthly Meetings, and Quarterly or Half-Yearly Meetings. This Committee labors to give life to Baltimore Yearly Meeting’s minute (Y73-87) which calls on us to dispel myths about homosexuality and bisexuality through education. We query ourselves and others: How can we be more welcoming of diversity in our faith community? How can we promote peace, unity, and respect around lesbian, gay, and bisexual concerns?

The additional two-year term of this Committee, approved at Yearly Meeting sessions in August, 1997, will expire as of 1999 Yearly Meeting. Friends who have been in attendance at Committee meetings are in unity that we wish for ad hoc Committee might be laid down because a viable chapter of Friends for Lesbians and Gay Concerns (FLGC) has been launched within BYM.
Committee met four times since the beginning of the 1998 annual session, on three of those meetings held on Yearly Meeting Days, usually after rise of afternoon Representative Meetings so to allow our busy attenders to participate in earlier Yearly Meeting Committees. There is a concern that sometimes the meetings are rushed and interrupted. There may be a need for a “task group” to meet at a time other than Yearly Meeting Day in order to complete an update on our list of Monthly Meetings’ minutes on welcoming, equality, or marriage.

Reportedly, at least 20 of BYM’s Monthly or Preparative or Quarterly Meetings have a minute on one or more related concerns. Other Meetings are laboring patiently. Many have sought information and referral directly from this Ad Hoc Committee.

A review of this Committee’s past accomplishments was held last August and included a summary of the workshops delivered at Yearly Meeting, Traveling Ministries to Monthly Meetings, and the questionnaires and information packets distributed to Monthly Meetings. A minute of thanks and appreciation was awarded to Lamar Matthew and Margaret Stambaugh for over five years of devoted service as Co-clerks of this Committee. New officers were approved in August, 1998: Bonnie Stockslager, Clerk, and Martha Gay, Recording Clerk. We continue to update our mailing list, organize history and correspondence files, and develop a library collection on lesbian, gay, and bisexual concerns to be housed at the Yearly Meeting office. We continue to encourage tender dialogue and information-sharing among Friends in Baltimore Yearly Meeting.

AD HOC COMMITTEE ON WEB PUBLISHING

Continuing the BYM Web Presence

What the Committee did since the last report:

Workshop on Web Publishing: At Yearly Meeting last year, the Committee held a workshop for Monthly Meetings, Schools, and Committees. It was attended by interested members of the Yearly Meeting, some of whom wanted to establish their own sites. Friends Community School was represented; the Committee planned to work with the school to establish a site. Friends Community is now on the BYM website. However, the goal of leaving Yearly Meeting with one or two new Monthly Meeting web sites was not realized. This was too ambitious. However, some Meetings made the contacts they need to get their sites online.

Again this year, the Committee will offer a workshop on web publishing to Monthly Meetings and others interested. We are planning to develop a template for Monthly Meetings, so that the development will be easier. (Use of the template will not be required.)
Pages Added to the Web Site: At the last Yearly Meeting, the Committee requested permission to place a copy of the Queries and Life of the Spirit from Faith and Practice on the Yearly Meeting website. This has been accomplished. When it was pointed out to the Committee that the historical sketch in Faith and Practice would satisfy a proposed section on the history of Baltimore Yearly Meeting and the “Introductory Statement” would satisfy a proposed section “About the Society of Friends,” the Committee asked Representative Meeting for permission to place those sections on the web site as well. Our webmaster (or web site manager), Tom Ryan, did the work. He has cheerfully maintained the site and we should thank him for his work. Visit www.bym-rsf.org/quaker/ and see for yourself.

A goal of the Epistle Committee and the Ad hoc Web Publishing Committee was met in May, when the 1998 epistle went online. We expect to put epistles from recent years online as well. Some of the Young Friends epistles have been read all over the world and we should make them readily available.

Number of Visits to the BYM Site: For the past year, starting from last April, there were 3,711 “hits” at the BYM site. This is greater than reported for last year, even accounting for the longer reporting period. The information comes weekly. The most hits, 120, were recorded the week of April 2. Since we are continuing to add pages, the number of hits should increase.

We continue to hear of people who used the web site and then visited a Monthly Meeting. We do not have any solid statistics on this and are not likely to acquire any. The Advancement and Outreach Committee was invited to review the web site and make suggestions.

Working with Committees: Last year, Tom added material about programs for adults, including brochure-like material on the Spiritual Formation Program, Inward Bound, and Silent Retreats. There has been information on the camping programs for an even longer period. This year, for the Unity with Nature Earth Day celebration, a special link to the day’s program was placed on the home page for a few weeks before the celebration. Because Tom has a life beyond the web site, the Committee has agreed that he does not need to promise implementing a change sooner than a fortnight.

We hope committees will find the web site useful to present material to the Yearly Meeting or to the entire world. Please contact us as your committee realizes the need to reach out. You may contact any member of the Committee, specifically Tom Ryan (tar@stat.psu.edu) or Howard Fullerton (fullerth@ari.net).

Working with Monthly Meetings: Ten Monthly or Preparative Meetings have web sites. Four use the BYM site (free) and three use www.quaker.org, also free. The Committee is willing to help Monthly Meetings develop a web site.
REPORTS OF RELEASED FRIENDS

REPORT FROM MARY LORD

I have struggled over this report, trying to determine how much to say. I want to share the accomplishments and express my appreciation to the many people who support my work. At the same time, I recognize that my experience as a "released" or "endorsed" Friend affects more people than myself. I need to share with you the difficulties presented by the Yearly Meeting's confusion and lack of clarity about its process and responsibilities when it undertakes to release or endorse a Friend.

For the past 18 months, I have been working part-time as a "released" or "endorsed" Friend under the care and with a traveling minute from Baltimore Yearly Meeting. The Yearly Meeting provides no direct funding, but receives and distributes funds donated for my "release" from individuals and organizations. Adelphi Monthly Meeting provides an oversight and support committee that meets with me monthly. BYM also provides oversight through the Nurture and Recognition of Ministry Committee, and I report to them and the Peace Committee as well as to the Yearly Meeting.

Accomplishments.

The work supported by donations through Baltimore Yearly Meeting currently supports three activities.

1. Teaching and speaking about the spiritual base of Friends testimony on peace and volunteer service. In the past year, I gave talks on the peace testimony and peace team movement to: Charlottesville Monthly Meeting and Deer Creek Monthly Meeting within BYM, and at Chicago General Meeting (quarter), Earlham School of Religion, and Clear Creek Monthly Meeting (Richmond, IN).

In response to several requests, I developed a talk and a workshop on spiritual discernment that I offered as a prototype at BYM last summer. I offered the full-day workshop at Friends Meeting of Washington, Annapolis Friends Meeting, and William Penn House. I also led a discussion on spiritual discernment in Quaker tradition for a class at the Episcopal Seminary of Northern Virginia.

Finally, I am working on an improvement to my workshop on Turning our Meetinghouses and Churches into Centers of Peacemaking. I am offering a prototype of this workshop at BYM sessions this summer.
opportunities to teach and share experience with Friends have involved movements of the Spirit and I greatly value these opportunities. Unfortunately, I anticipate that I will need to restrict the number of workshops and talks over the next year due to lack of time and resources.

Building the North American Quaker Volunteer Service and Witness Network (QVSNW). This effort grew out of a conference at Burlington, New Jersey, April 1997 organized by Illinois and Philadelphia Yearly Meetings. The conference, which I had the honor to keynote, brought together over 100 Friends about 40 projects and 19 Yearly Meetings that crossed the diversity of Friends traditions in North America. I am continuing to serve as national clerk of QVSNW, just beginning its second year. The goals of the network are to add new service projects, to increase the number of volunteer service opportunities available to Friends, and to speak to the spiritual base of Friends’ volunteer service and witness. In the past year, we expanded the steering committee to better reflect the diversity of Friends, and to add more people with workcamp leadership experience. The steering committee met in person this year, once by conference call, and continually by e-mail. It involved into a strong working body, and a loving community. We have developed a mission statement. We have produced a new edition of our newsletter, and plan to go to at least two issues in this coming year. We are working to improve our website, and continue to cooperate cordially with the Quaker Internation Center in Philadelphia. We are working to produce an updated version of our directory of Quaker-sponsored volunteer service opportunithe steering committee formed and the basic building blocks of our coordination network in place, we have turned our attention to developing activities that would expand the number of volunteer service and witness opportunities available. A new project is gaining momentum in New England as a joint project of Young Adult Friends of NEYM and the New England Regional Office of AFSC. The project is being headed by Chris Parker, under the care of the Hill Friends Meeting. They are seeking to create an adaptation of the Hermann Project model developed by Seattle Friends. More information on the England project is in the QVSNW Newsletter. Planning for new volunteer service projects is also underway in Illinois Yearly Meeting, which sponsors some small projects this year.

To move the effort forward and share the experience of workcamp leaders, we sponsor a consultation hosted by Earlham College next spring. The consultants will bring together some experienced workcamp leaders and Friends involved in starting workcamp programs, for several days of shared work and reflection on what makes a good workcamp program. The reflection will be written up and published by Earlham’s Institute of Quaker Studies and made available to all Friends. We are grateful to Earlham College President Doug McEwen for agreeing to sponsor this important project. We hope that such consultations will continue and have already begun conversations with Guilford College and George Fox University about sponsoring future events. A consultation around the Quest model, which has interested Young Adult Friends in several parts of the United States, may also be a possibility in the future.

The QVSWN project is now entering a critical phase of its formation, as we seek to maintain and distribute information, increase our on-going communication with existing projects, and develop new programming. Building new organizational frameworks is always risky and difficult. Building a national Quaker volunteer service structure is something Friends have needed but been unable to do for more than 30 years since AFSC laid down its large-scale workcamp programs. To succeed we must cross the boundaries and divisions among American Friends that arose in the last century and remain today. It is a healing work, and full of rewards. But it is delicate and needs consistent attention. I anticipate needing to spend a growing amount of my time helping this new enterprise take root and grow.

3. Friends Peace Team Project. I have been much less involved with the Friends Peace Team Project this year, because my time has been limited and the Peace Team Project is now ably led by others. I have been asked to help the national coordinating committee with planning for a new organizational base since BYM has requested that the growing FPPT find a new administrative home. I have also served as an advisor to the exciting African Great Lakes Initiative of Friends Peace Team Project. I anticipate that of necessity I will spend less time with Friends Peace Team Project next year.

A Note About My Work with Friends Committee on National Legislation (FCNL). For the past year I have worked as a part-time Field Secretary on a young adult outreach project. The program is going well, drawing 25 college students and young adults to last year’s Annual Meeting, and 15 students and young adults to our first lobby weekend last spring. Through this work, FCNL is also strengthening its ties to Quaker colleges, and I will be traveling to Guilford College and George Fox this fall, and later to Earlham College and Wilmington College. FCNL has been remarkably supportive and flexible in general, but especially in allowing me to piggyback work on peace team or QVSWN projects when I am traveling for FCNL. The modest FCNL Field Secretary stipend gave me some financial security and helped provide health insurance. For the next several months I will be working full-time with FCNL under a consulting arrangement. My new work is to help FCNL develop a long-term program to articulate the alternatives to military force in situations like Rwanda and Kosovo.
Corruptions, Obstacles and Miracles.

I must first share that the biggest interruption of my work was my need to respond to my mother’s serious heart attack in February. She is 92 and was living independently in a Methodist life care community in Concord Massachusetts. She made a remarkable recovery and is doing very well, but was not able to continue to live alone or to drive her car. I needed to help her through the recovery process and the transition to an assisted living facility in the same community. It also fell to me to close down her apartment and divide her belongings and family treasures with my sisters, sell her car, and taking over her finances. As many of you know from your own experience, such a task has its odious and blessings.

I need to tell you that the biggest obstacle to my work has been Baltimore Yearly Meeting’s own confusion about what it means by a “released” or “endorsed” Friend, and the absence of Yearly Meeting policies and procedures necessary to make the term “released” truthful. It has been frustrating and enervating for me to try to get my Monthly Meeting support committee to try to figure out what my Yearly Meeting committee we needed to work with for what, and to try to get them to follow through. Guidelines and procedures as to who is what are still very ambiguous. Things have been particularly frustrating and the practicalities of raising funds for my release.

Actually all of the funds donated for my work have come from Adelphi Monthly Meeting and my personal non-Quaker friends and family, because the Fall Representative Meeting prohibited me or Adelphi from any fundraising activity inside Adelphi until the Yearly Meeting committees completed the development of guidelines for released or endorsed Friends. This came as a complete surprise because my Adelphi support committee had previously been told by Yearly Meeting that it was up to them to raise money for me. Yearly Meeting finally gave permission at March Representative Meeting for a Yearly Meeting committee to ask BYM Friends for money for my work. The Yearly Meeting committee which needed to send out the letter on my behalf has yet to do so.

Knowing my work was in jeopardy, Adelphi Friends gave promptly and generously. Without their support I could not have continued. In truth it is Adelphi Friends and not the Yearly Meeting that currently releases me. But Adelphi is not the only one. Meeting, and it has a school and supports other projects, and it did not know that it would be asked to support me by itself. God intervened. Last summer, Alexandria Friend Rubye Bray, a remarkable person who did not know me, was led to offer me a short-term consulting job helping her write a report. The job she needed done was in the precise time frame I needed, for the amount of money I needed, and built on my arms control and disarmament experience. This spring, when my funds again ran dry, the opportunity to work full-time for MNL became available at exactly the time I needed it. Other smaller opportunities to earn money have come when I needed them without my having to look.
But, doing consulting work does interrupt the flow of the work I’m led to do.

I believe in living by faith, and I have reason to know that God is helping me follow this path. But, Friends, please get your act together. I’m a planner at heart and by training, and it makes me nervous to require miracles of God. Right now, the Yearly Meeting feels like rickety scaffolding under my feet. It requires constant repair and attention and does not provide solid ground. If you truly wish to “release” or “endorse” Friends, then clear policies, ground rules, procedures, and expectations need to be identified. It is also important, in my view, for the Yearly Meeting to be clear about what projects it does not feel called to support as a corporate body. If you believe the leading is true, that the work is of God and well-ordered, that Baltimore Yearly Meeting is called to support it in some specific way, then BYM must provide solid ground in the form of reliable process for those tasks it does undertake to support. This is important not just for me, but for the welfare of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, and for any Friends whom you may undertake to “release” or “endorse” in some way.

Having said all this, let me express my appreciation for the love, and trust, and support so many Friends have shown me, and my appreciation to Frank Massey and the BYM staff who have assisted me in many ways.

Mary Lord, Released Friend

Certified Public Accountants

To the Board of Trustees
Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, Inc.
Sandy Spring, Maryland 20860

We have reviewed the accompanying statement of financial position of Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, Inc. (a nonprofit organization) as of December 31, 1998 and 1997 and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended, in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services issued by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. All information included in these financial statements is the representation of the management of Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, Inc.

A review consists principally of inquiries of meeting personnel and analytical procedures applied to financial data. It is substantially less in scope than an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements taken as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Based on our reviews, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Our review was made for the purpose of expressing limited assurance that there are no material modifications that should be made to the financial statements in order for them to be in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. The supplementary information included in the accompanying Schedules B-1 and B-2 is presented only for supplementary analysis purposes. Such information has been subjected to the inquiry and analytical procedures applied in the review of the basic financial statements, and we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made thereto.

February 22, 1999

STAFF REPORTS

GENERAL SECRETARY

Baltimore Yearly Meeting continues to grow. Not only does the Yearly Meeting show an increase in membership (an increase of 35 new members), but we also have an increase in programs and activities. The increase in programs and activities is not only at the Yearly Meeting level, but also at the Monthly Meeting level.

Our camping programs have more attenders this year than any previous year, and there is a waiting list. That waiting list would have been longer, but we started telling parents in early March that the wilderness camps were full. The Arts Camp, now under the Camping Program Committee, is addressing a need within our camping population by offering a one-week option and not quite as physically demanding. A parent called me about the camps, wanting her son to have an experience like she did when she attended Catoctin 20 years ago. Young people, and staff, experience an awakening of their spiritual life in our camps.

With the expanded programs comes the need for additional administrative support. The first five months of the year are very busy with developing and mailing the brochure, responding to phone calls, developing mailing acceptance packets, etc. There is also the administrative support needed for licensing and meeting state and federal regulations. Many of these regulations take hours of staff time.

The Young Friends program has grown with 70-80 Young Friends attending most of the conferences and Yearly Meeting sessions. With this growth in attendance has come the need to recruit and support Friendly Adult Presences (FAPs). There is an interest in developing more programs and activities for junior high school youth at the Monthly, Quarterly, and Yearly Meeting level.

The office staff provides administrative support for the Quaker Institute for Servant Leadership, the Friends Peace Teams Project, and the Released Friends – Pat Kutzner, Laura Nell Morris, and Mary Lord. Much of the support is in serving as the receiver and disburser of funds, but also includes mailings and database maintenance.

Staff: Marsha Holliday, Associate Secretary, left the employ of Baltimore Yearly Meeting in August 1998 to take a position with Friends General Conference. In light of the growth in programs, the Associate Secretary position was split into two part-time positions – Religious Education Secretary and Youth Secretary. Margo Inglis Lehman (Sandy Spring) accepted the Religious Education position (3/5 time) in October. Margo is working with the Yearly Meeting Religious Education Committee, serving as a resource to Monthly Meetings, and Administrative support to the Junior Yearly Meeting program and staff. (Refer to her report for an overview of her work.) Andy (Andrea) Seabrook held the Youth Secretary position (2/5 time) in November 1998. Andy, however, left in January 1999 to accept a position with National Public Radio in D.C. Michele Levasseur (attending Takoma Park) accepted the position of Secretary after Andy’s departure. Michele is working with Young Friends active and the Youth Programs Committee to provide administrative support for youth programs. The Youth Programs Committee has begun a discussion on what programs should be provided to our junior high schoolers.

Josh (Hopewell Centre) accepted the Camp Administrative Secretary position. Josh is bringing his wealth of camping program experience to the work. He has already worked to clarify need for camp policies and procedures, and to work with the Camp Program Committee on this in the future.

Jusino (Adelphi) is serving as Office Manager. After seven years of work, containing increased responsibilities in the office, Diana agreed to take on the regular administrative responsibilities of the office. Diana for the year has worked with the Education Funding Resources Committee and the Nominations Committee.

Bradley (Sandy Spring) is the part-time office Secretary/Receptionist. Handles most of the incoming calls and inquiries, and has proved to be a real help in getting out the many mailings.

Strasser, Catoctin Caretaker and Jason Maloney, Catoctin Caretaker Intern, and William Henry and Stephen Velez, Shiloh Caretakers, have served the site subcommittees to upgrade and improve the properties. Often their efforts are not seen or recognized, until it is not done. These four young men deserve our thanks.

Is the role of staff? On October 31, 1987, the Representative Meeting had a discussion on the role of Yearly Meeting staff (Minute: 87-29). At that time Yearly Meeting stated that staff is to provide administrative support – and I administrative support only. Is that what the membership still desires from staff? It is true that we travel to Monthly Meetings, Quarterly Meetings, committee meetings, etc. providing an interpretation of BYM programs and activities. And when serving as staff to a committee, I, and all staff, try to be not overly involved in developing program(s), instead we attempt to keep committee abreast of its history, prior commitments, and charge and let the committee members determine the activities it is to undertake. Is there more the Yearly Meeting wants from staff?
Committees: There are three questions that I like to ask when considering an organization's structure, function, and purpose. I believe it is appropriate to ask these here. Who are we? What are we? How are we?

Who are we? This perhaps is easily answered, "Baltimore Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends." We are a religious community that comes together to worship together and discern God's will for our corporate life. This discernment is our corporate witness, and from that arises our corporate ministry.

What are we? Here the answer is a little bit more tricky, but I propose that we are a community, however a community that is made up of 39 Monthly Meetings and 4,372 members. We are a community that works together to assist one another, offering guidance and support where needed, and placing our leadings before the community for discernment and confirmation. We are not individuals undertaking only what I believe to be right, but instead bring those leadings and nudges before the meeting for discernment and support. Our witness is a corporate witness.

How are we? How do we accomplish our work? The work of Baltimore Yearly Meeting is centered in and generated from the work of committees. Over the past few years the number of committees has grown to a total of 22 standing committees. As committees are added, the Nominating Committee is asked to name more Friends to fill the committee rosters. Is the Yearly Meeting being stretched thin with the additional standing committees? As more folks are called upon to serve, it taxes the Monthly Meetings, for I believe that the folks involved in Monthly Meetings are the ones also involved in Yearly Meeting.

Should we spend some time discerning what it is that Baltimore Yearly Meeting does, how that work is accomplished? This might be a beneficial process for the Yearly Meeting as input is sought from individuals and Monthly Meetings, and as the Yearly Meeting in session discerns the "what's" and "how's" of corporate witness and ministry.

Conclusions: Growth leads to opportunities, and the Yearly Meeting has opportunities in witness and ministry. As Friends discern their call, the Monthly Meetings and Yearly Meeting can assist in the discernment process by providing clarity and guidance. As individual concerns become corporate, the Yearly Meeting will gain clarity about what it is to be about.

I am excited about being a part of this growing, worshiping, witnessing community.

Frank Massey, General Secretary
RELIGIOUS EDUCATION SECRETARY

Introduction: When I left Sandy Spring in 1978, I took with me the wisdom I gained from being a part of Baltimore Yearly Meeting. I was frequently reminded of how much Light I received through my associations with Junior Meeting, Young Friends, and Camp Catoctin. I also knew that this would be home for me and that I would someday return. The offering of emendment with the Yearly Meeting was like a door opening to invite me back and I felt a strong leading to walk through that open door.

As a prodigal child, I have spent much of my last seven months getting familiar with the processes and issues of the Yearly Meeting, which has undergone many changes since I left. I look forward to the annual sessions this year, expecting to become immersed in all that is Baltimore Yearly Meeting. This is my favorite way of learning anything new or re-learning what was a subtle part of me.

Religious Education: It is clear that the main thrust of everything I do is to provide religious education in the Yearly Meeting. Of all the committees I have been on, I felt the most productive when on Religious Education at Sandy Spring. While we tend to focus mainly on the education of children, we need to recognize how we educate ourselves as adults and how our children educate us with their need for our involvement in their lives. One goal which I think will guide this tandem learning process will be to design a program to teach volunteers how to teach First Day School. The instruction method and the atmosphere of First Day School should be quite different from the weekday classroom in order to keep children interested and adults energized. The Religious Education Committee feels this would be one of the most important ways in which we support the Monthly Meetings. I hope we can use the annual retreat to address this end.

Another request that has been made from a few Monthly Meetings is support in the area of putting together some sort of curriculum cycle or outline. This had been an issue at Sandy Spring during my time as clerk of Religious Education Committee. We became aware that we were not covering certain areas of the children's educational needs (most notably Bible studies) and repeating other areas too frequently. Equipped with the outline we created at Sandy Spring, I set out to address this issue with other, smaller Monthly Meetings only to find it to be a good fit. I have begun to ask other Monthly Meetings to share with us how they have handled this problem so that I can convey these ideas with other who are just beginning their First Day School programs. I look forward to working with members of Religious Education both at the Yearly Meeting level and the Monthly Meeting level to create some sort of outline or cycle that will aid our children receive instruction in the areas of Quaker Testimonies, Peace History, Biblical literacy, stewardship of the earth, other cultures and faiths.
Quaker Arts Camp: I firmly believe that our camping programs offer the truest form of Quaker religious education for children and adults alike. With this in mind, it did not come as a surprise to me that Quaker Arts Camp was in the care of the Religious Education Committee while waiting for approval to be under the care of the Camping Program Committee. I have spent much of my time supporting the small committee of oversight and the Camp Director in planning the camp (now entering its second year). With Josh Riley coming in as the Camp Administrative Secretary and the Camping Program Committee taking formal oversight of the camp, this will be the last year that Religious Education has direct involvement and the only year I will spend working with the camp. It has been a wonderful odyssey for me to explore what made my time at Catoctin and my children’s at Shiloh so nurturing and fruitful. Many of us on the Quaker Arts Camp Committee have had similar encounters, and we now wonder if this is something we can package and transfer to this new camp. There has been a need for a camp that offers such experiences without the physical challenges presented in our wilderness camps. We believe that the more urban atmosphere of Sandy Spring Friends School and the use of visual and performing arts, as well as opportunities to spend time out of doors and in nature, will provide for this need. I am excited about the Quaker Arts Camp program as it develops and I think this summer will prove it to be a valuable addition to our collection of camps. I know that under the care of the Camping Program Committee it will flourish and thrive.

Library: So many books, so little time! We are blessed with a tremendous number of books with a wide array of topics, including many curriculum choices for First Day School. The library has been maintained this year by a number of volunteers including Katie Blankfield (Sandy Spring), Winifred Walker-Jones (Washington), and Maria Bradley (Sandy Spring). They are quite aware of the titles in our collection and I have been very thankful for their help and advice as I begin to put the books in order both on the shelves and in the computer. This task has taken longer than I anticipated, but in the process I am learning what books we have so I can best serve those who call in search of something in particular. For all the computer power we have in the office, I still believe the human brain to be the best place to store information! I will be culling from the shelves books that we have too many copies of or that are never used. Look for a used book sale at annual sessions this year. I am also noting books that we should have in our collection, some of which are out of print (most notably the Obadiah books by Brinton Turkle). When I finish this process, we will have a complete listing of our collection in a usable format, and a copy of this listing will be given to each Monthly Meeting.

Junior Yearly Meeting: I am looking forward to seeing the work of the well-oiled Junior Yearly Meeting Program Committee come to fruition. I will be helping to get information on international Friends for the All-Age Celebration this year and I remain prepared to assist the Committee in any way. Once again, as though I need to be immersed in the Junior Yearly Meeting program to get reacquainted with the process of creating a great week for our youngest members.

Reflections: Visiting our constituent Monthly Meetings has been refreshing and enlightening. It is good for me to get out and see Quakerism thriving in all its variety and similarity. I am finally getting to put faces to names I’ve heard frequently through the years. I feel as though I am making new friends where I go. I am most grateful for the hospitality shown me at Patapsco Quarterly Meeting, Maury River Monthly Meeting, and Harrisonburg Monthly Meeting, and I hope to visit other Meetings soon, approximately once a month. While I am traveling, I am collecting and sharing ideas for effective religious education, sharing historical knowledge of our Yearly Meeting, and serving to connect Meetings that are not in close proximity. I am also taking photographs that will soon put them in a “traveling album” of our Yearly Meeting family.

Conclusion: It is through visiting Monthly Meetings that I will gain the knowledge of the Yearly Meeting I need and crave. I do not expect to gather all the information I need, facilitate all the programs imagined, or solve all the problems in just one year. I do hope to serve the Monthly Meetings, First Day Schools, Religious Education Committees so that they may continue to help the growth of children who are our legacy and hope. In this process I will be spiritually fed and do quite a bit of growing myself.

REPORTS OF AFFILIATED ORGANIZATIONS

AMERICAN FRIENDS SERVICE COMMITTEE

The Emergency and Material Aids Program (EMAP) of AFSC has been actively involved in the Committee’s response to the disaster of Hurricane Mitch. This was the first test of the newly formed Emergency Response Team. EMAP provided the relief shipments from Philadelphia, and the Latin America/Caribbean Region staff developed the longer-term recovery projects which are ongoing. To date (with contributions still coming), AFSC has received an astonishing $1.5 million for this relief work. Three shipments of blankets, clothes, and shoes, as well as 7,000 recovery kits have been sent to Honduras, in addition to 80,000 pounds of a nutritious rice drink which was donated by two companies. Ten thousand basic food baskets have been assembled in Honduras. And in Nicaragua, AFSC gave grants to PRO-NICA, a project under the care of Southeastern Yearly Meeting.

Most Friends in Baltimore Yearly Meeting are familiar with AFSC’s work closer to home. The Baltimore Nonviolence Peace and Justice Program wants to create a less violent city, through nonviolence training, peace education, and curtailing weapons. The Help Increase the Peace (HIP) Program helps schools and communities to develop a well-trained constituency to work for nonviolence. HIP has heightened an awareness of AFSC and is now approved by the Maryland Department of Education, county and city schools, and the city Police Department. The Listening Project in Reservoir Hill has helped to turn out 20% more voters in the last election and to clean up streets and playgrounds; it has also established links with community-based mediation programs and more affluent neighborhoods. More important, AFSC staff were recently told that they need no longer organize the work—the residents now own and operate the project.

In the District of Columbia, the DC Peace and Economic Justice Program worked with the War Resisters League to organize a “Weekend without the Pentagon” in October. A Concert for Peace was held, and C-Span covered a rally at the Pentagon where 37 were arrested. AFSC’s name and phone number were flashed on the screen and prompted calls from around the country.

Some further highlights from the work of AFSC during 1998:

Youth and Militarism. A new international movement has emerged to challenge the practice of many countries to recruit children as combatants. AFSC is one of the founders of a US campaign to Stop the Use of Child Soldiers. The campaign works to 1) obtain US Government support for an international ban on recruitment, induction, enlistment, or assignment to combat of young people under the age of eighteen; 2) raise the US enlistment age to eighteen; and 3)
US military aid which facilitates the use of child soldiers. Twenty-six civil organizations have joined the US campaign so far. In the fall of 1998, United National announced a new policy of setting eighteen as the minimum age for UN peacekeepers. In a related move, AFSC and IDELE (The Legal Defense Institute of Peru) ascertained the views of 820 Peruvian youth:

- 77% knew of cases of forced recruitment (a practice whereby youth are rounded up in public places and immediately inducted into the military);
- 99% knew of young people who had been mistreated during their military service;
- 33% would favor a civil alternative to military service;
- 25% would choose such an alternative civilian service if available.

The 2000/USA. In October 1998, AFSC joined a growing number of reliand social justice organizations in a world-wide campaign calling for canon of the crushing international debt of impoverished countries by the end of the millennium. Jubilee 2000/USA was launched in Denver at the of the G-7 groups of government. It grew out of the Religious Working Group on the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, a coalition of US Catholic and Protestant organizations concerned with debt relief.
50 years slaves are freed, land is returned to its original owners, and debts are canceled. AFSC participates as a member of the National Steering Committee through its Washington DC office.

But not least, in November 1998, AFSC established an Office of Volunteer Opportunities, through its Human Resources office. This was done in response many people who wish to be connected with AFSC and to volunteer their and other resources in various ways.

More Work

(Website: www.afsc.org/mar/balt.htm)

In Baltimore Help Increase the Peace (HIP) conflict resolution work has testrified to the point that three Baltimore City public schools and the Balti-County Police Department Counseling Office are running HIP autonom-ously with consultant guidance from the AFSC. The Baltimore County Police Department Counseling Office has conducted comprehensive evaluation of its in Baltimore County public schools. AFSC Baltimore staff also conducts ative to Violence conflict resolution training at the Paquin School for ent students.
The Rising Stars teenage theater group began a spin-off theater project called Peacing It Together. Peacing It Together involves college-age youth and a wider use of music. Another group has begun performing at Haverford College through the efforts of a Rising Star veteran. Kyle Secor, an actor from the television show _Homicide: Life on the Streets_, worked with the Rising Stars on their acting skills one Saturday in February 1999.

The peer mediation program at the John Eager Howard School is now supporting HIP work in that school and is actively working to bring both programs to the middle school that John Eager Howard graduates attend so the students can continue to practice their skills in the new setting. Baltimore staff has built a partnership with a professor at Goucher College who teaches her students mediation techniques. The John Eager Howard program offers Goucher students field experience.

Both HIP and the Rising Stars were involved in two summer youth camps that were run from the AFSC Baltimore office. The first, a collaborative effort with Baltimore Friends School, hosted 15 youth from the Govans neighborhood. The second was a training camp for Peacing It Together. Staff also coordinated community service for Friends School eighth graders with the Discovery After-School Program. Friends School students took HIP training and led small groups of younger children in the after-school program.

Baltimore is the only domestic office of the AFSC working on gun control as a structured part of its program. The _City Paper_ focused on the Baltimore Program in its August 1998 feature article, _Going Ballistic_, which discussed the prevalence of weapons, the impact of their presence, and responses to the problem. Three vigils were held at the sites of youth homicides. Those vigils received coverage from all significant electronic and print media in Baltimore. Staff is participating in developing a training manual on gun control organizing.

Washington, DC Work (Website: www.afsc.org/mar/dctoc.htm)

AFSC-DC staff and volunteers meet with Cardozo High School students Tuesdays and Thursdays during two lunch periods. On Tuesdays the focus is on job-related skills and Thursdays on Help Increase the Peace. They collaborate with graduate students from Howard University through the Family Life Program partnership between Howard and AFSC-DC. Howard students coordinate and cultivate the student group at the school and lead the Tuesday program. During the 1997-1998 school year, Cardozo HIP students won an AT&T Team Harmony Award, which was presented to them by Hillary Rodham Clinton. The giant trophy symbolized young people working together to make a difference in their school by working to combat prejudice and promote respect for diversity.
The fourth Sunday at Sandy Spring Friends Meeting, a “Peacemaking made personal” group meets at 9:30 a.m. Participants bring real problems in their personal and community to the group and apply the HIP model of conflict resolution to those problems. At William Penn House, HIP basic training was offered to the community twice, training 28 people. A leadership workshop (training for leaders) trained 16 community activists from the DC Metropolitan area. Two classes of students have been trained as peer mediators at the Bruce-Monroe Elementary School. Students from the fourth through the sixth grade participated in HIP workshops there during the last school year. Currently HIP is being offered in weekly hour-long sessions during after school time. The HIP approach was used at the Conexus Table Community Center with a group of teenage girls to enhance their self-esteem and prevent pregnancy. Several series of HIP after-school trainings were provided for the “bridge group” (11-14 years old) throughout the fall school year. Four additional sessions were conducted during the summer.

DC volunteers participated in conducting eleven “Growing Divide” workshops this past year, addressing the gap between the rich and the poor. The workshops are based on curricula developed by a Boston group called “United for a Fair Economy” (UFE).

DC conducts multimedia training for students at Bruce-Monroe Elementary School. Students rewrite stories from the newspaper on the computer. They classify international, national, and local stories and then post them on maps to indicate where the events they are describing occurred. They conducted a news roundtable and visited the Newseum in Virginia. Improving writing skills, story telling, and poetry have been priorities this year.

DC volunteers conduct computer skills classes for parents at Bruce-Monroe Elementary School every Wednesday. Six tutors have been meeting with the tutorees at their mutual convenience. Those who wish to participate are given a literacy test to determine their grade level and then tutors work with them to prepare them to obtain their GED. Staff meets with a group of Spanish-speaking men and women to practice English using the HIP model.

Citizens of the District of Columbia, including the Director of the DC Fair Employment and Economic Justice Program, have filed suit asking a federal court to hold Congress has violated the U.S. Constitution by usurping the authority of the state officials that those residents have elected to govern them and by denying them the right to be represented in the Congress on an equal basis with other citizens. The AFSC-DC Democracy for DC Work Group sought and obtained the authorization of the National Board of the AFSC to file a Friend of the Court brief supporting the plaintiffs in the law suit. Shortly after the AFSC was filed last fall the judge ruled that the case should be assigned to a three-judge panel. Staff has been working with the plaintiff group to publicize the litigation and build support for it. All 20 plaintiffs attended the hearing before the three-judge panel on April 19, 1999. Even though the hearing was in the court’s double-sized ceremonial court room that accommodates 300 people, many who wished to attend had to wait until the hearing was about half over before there was room for them to be seated.

Involvement of BYM Friends in AFSC-MAR

BYM Friends continued to be extensively involved in committees of the Middle Atlantic Region. As of May 9, 1999, BYM Friends who are on the Executive Committee include Ron Akins, Bill Cousins, David Etheridge, Cathie Felter, Fannie Fonseca-Becker, Susan Hills, Aura Kanegis, Mary-Oren King, Sam Legg, Wesley Mason, Lamar Matthew, Jolee Robinson, Riley Robinson, John Sexton, Joe Wright, and David Zarembka. Other members and attenders of BYM Monthly Meetings who serve on MAR committees include Warren Anderson, Aline Autenrieth, Alice Cherbonnier, Robert Clark, Jeanne Downing, Herb Ettel, Neil Froemming, Gail Gann, Betty Hutchinson, Victor Kaufman, John Knight, Susan Meehan, Margaret Boyd Meyer, Judy Nelson, Arthur David Olson, Jo Pfaff, Carol Phelps, Rebecca Rawls, Sara Satterthwaite, Peter Schenck, Katherine Smith, Stephanie Snow, and Donna Williams. Laura Shipler Chico of Friends Meeting of Washington has been hired as the AFSC-MAR HIP Nationwide Network Coordinator and Patricia Murphy, also of Friends Meeting of Washington, has been hired as the AFSC-MAR Volunteer Coordinator.

FRIENDS COMMITTEE ON NATIONAL LEGISLATION

The Friends Committee on National Legislation (FCNL) is a Quaker lobby in the public interest. We advocate in the nation’s capital for peace and justice on behalf of many Friends. FCNL’s witness has been effective because it has grown from the spiritual life of Friends. It will continue to prosper only as it reflects the life of the Spirit.

Quakers have long held that the ends and the means are of one piece. The outcome is shaped by the means. In 1998 Friends’ practices of faith)telling the truth, living simply, answering to that of God in everyone, speaking plainly)seemed more relevant than ever. The year was filled with numerous events of historic proportions, many of which had implications for public policy. Throughout the second session of the 105th Congress, FCNL tried to respond to these important matters which bear on deeply held concerns of Friends.

Promoting Disarmament and Reducing Military Spending If the only tool in your toolbox is a hammer, soon all problems begin to look like nails. Under the 105th Congress and the Clinton administration, the military is becoming the real tool left in the U.S. government’s foreign policy toolbox. Their support for cooperative international institutions and processes and for non-military approaches to foreign policy has waned.

FCNL focused its 1998 advocacy in this priority area on: Senate ratification of the Comprehensive Nuclear Weapons Test Ban Treaty (CTBT); the Clinton administration signing the Mines Ban Treaty (land mines); the Code of Conduct for Arms Transfers; military spending cuts; and opposing the militarization of society in Latin America. With the exception of reducing military spending, we are not losing ground. We saw steady step-by-step progress in building support for the CTBT, movement from the Clinton administration and Congress on mines issues, and pushed the Code of Conduct further in Congress.

Focusing Budget Priorities to Promote Economic Justice Over 35 million people remain in poverty in the United States, including one of every five children. Millions of low-income families continue to lack access to quality, affordable child care, health care, and housing. In 1998 FCNL asked policy makers to consider how they might assure, through national legislation, the basic human security of poor children, displaced workers, disabled people, and the elderly...security in all its elements: income, nutrition, health care, housing, education, and training, and meaningful work.

We challenged Congress to enact budget priorities for the common good and reversed regressive tax and spending cuts. We worked to increase the minimum wage, to restore essential benefits to groups that were unjustly harmed by recent changes in welfare laws, to protect the rights of low-income patients in managed care organizations, to protect access to health care for the elderly and immigrants, and to defend recent economic advances made by women and minorities through opportunities created by federal affirmative action programs.

Promoting Institutions and Processes for International Cooperation Much of the violence that we observe and experience in the world today stems from the failure of our government and society to address root causes and act in timely ways to prevent escalation to violence. The time for the community of nations to respond to emerging conflicts is not after the atrocities and crimes against humanity have begun, nor after the human cost of either intervention or non-intervention has become very high. Issues of fundamental human security must be addressed within a framework of international law and policy if we are to avoid a future of continuing injustice and war.

In this priority area, FCNL focused its work on fulfilling U.S. obligations to the United Nations, halting the expansion of the NATO military alliance, ending successful economic sanctions against Iraq and Cuba, easing the economic burdens of the poorest people and countries in Africa, and responding to threats and acts of war by the U.S. government.
Native American Advocacy 1998 was particularly challenging for defenders of Native American sovereignty and self-determination. Often, it seemed, every time one would turn around, another harmful piece of legislation would be introduced to tax tribes, limit their sovereignty, or to renege in some way on historic trust agreements.

FCNL’s education and advocacy included organizing a briefing for Congressional staff; lobbying to protect tribal sovereign immunity, to prevent unfair taxation of tribal governments, to protect sacred sites, and to increase funding for Indian programs including education, housing, and health care. We also increased our advocacy and coverage of issues concerning the rights of Alaskan natives, filling a significant need for active monitoring of potentially harmful legislation.

The FCNL Native American Legislative Updates (NALU) and Indian Report are now reaching more and more people. The NALU is now distributed to hundreds of activists across the country, and has been very well received both among Friends and in Indian Country. The quarterly Indian Report is now distributed to everyone on the FCNL newsletter list as well as to many Native American activists.

Upholding Rights of Conscience During 1998 FCNL continued to promote the Religious Freedom Peace Tax Fund bill which focuses on the religious freedom aspects of conscientious objection to war taxes. We opposed a constitutional amendment which would have severely limited religious expression, particularly by persons of minority faiths. We supported efforts to restore religious liberties which were reduced by the Supreme Court’s overturning of the 1993 Religious Freedom Restoration Act.

Priorities Established for the 106th Congress Over 200 Friends from around the country gathered in Washington in November for the Annual Meeting of the FCNL General Committee. As part of this year’s business, legislative priorities were established to guide FCNL work during the next two years. We are especially grateful to the thousands of Friends nationwide who participated in discussions of FCNL priorities in their local Meetings.

FCNL’s lobbying on Capitol Hill cannot be effective in isolation. We depend on the response of Friends and others to FCNL calls for grass-roots actions on various issues. In most cases it is calls and letters to policy makers from their constituents that make the difference when votes are cast.
mission, as from the beginning, continues to be to help shape the nation's policies and programs for the well-being of God's children and the rest of the world. The support of Friends and others around the country makes FCNL's mission possible and gives life to our ministry to the Members of Congress and staff who face such interesting and challenging times.

FRIENDS COUNCIL ON EDUCATION

Diversity Conference

In April, I attended the national gathering conference sponsored by the Friends Council on Education on the topic of "Embracing the Tension: Diversity in Friends Education." Over 300 registrants from Friends schools and a few other schools across the country attended a gathering planned initially for about 100.

The keynote speaker, Juan Williams, writer for the Washington Post and author of "The Education of a People on the Prize" and a brand new biography of Thurgood Marshall, spoke on the topic of "Embracing Diversity while Maintaining our Quaker Identity." He spoke about being one of the first wave of minority students at Haverford College, and how his attitude differed from that of what he saw as the next generation of minority students. He recommended we welcome the gifts of our cultures while discerning what was important to us to maintain as distinctive Quaker values and practices. The respect of expression is a precious commodity, and exchange of ideas is where the real learning can take place.

The next day, we listened to two respondents. The first was Peggy MacIntosh, Associate Director of the Center for Research on Women at Wellesley College, a leader in an important paper on white privilege. Peggy described four levels of accepting diversity in educational institutions: (1) oblivion — neither study nor notice you haven’t been multicultural; (2) integration — recognizing exceptional others; (3) awareness of cultural differences — confronting "isms" of racism, sexism, militarism....; and (4) lateral frame of reference that recognizes scholarship in the selves as well as scholarship on the texts. Honoring the process of thought is at least as important as being right. She described briefly the S.E.E.D. Project, which seemed quite interesting and promising.

The second respondent was Aurora Camacho de Schmidt, Professor of Latin American Literature and Spanish at Swarthmore College. Her viewpoint as one born in Mexico is that for minorities, this era of American education is still. Statistics show that in 1991 schools in northeastern U.S. were even more segregated by race than they had been in 1971. The California Propositions of 1996-98 have been punitive to minorities, and reflect attitudes nationwide. Quaker and other independent schools can take on the role of the tradition of Pennsylvania — of being sacred experiments — and may play a role in the transformation of society. Students need to be embraced and to become em-bracers. Her hope was that we would begin to conceive of privilege as a minus, not a plus, insofar as it was a form of blindness.

The small group workshops that followed were scheduled for an hour — much less than we needed and could have used, but were a good beginning towards what one person described as deep, personal, transformative work towards building trust. The closing unprogrammed worship was filled with messages in response to the richness which those gathered had felt.

FRIENDS GENERAL CONFERENCE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

As Friends General Conference (FGC) approaches its one-hundredth anniversary, we are provided an opportunity to reflect on the service rendered by Baltimore Yearly Meeting Friends. Three Friends from Baltimore Yearly Meeting, Stony Run, served as clerk of the Central Committee for 31 of the past 99 years:
O. Edward Janney, Bliss Forbush, and George Webb. This centennial observation will be a time for looking forward to the new century and millennium, as well as looking backwards. If you have recollections about Friends General Conference and how it has touched you or members of your Meeting or family at any time, and you would like to share this information in an Oral History interview, get in touch with Bob Fetter or Deborah Haines.

Trudy Rogers reports that many Friends and Meetings throughout FGC have been asking for visits from Friends with particular experiences or gifts. After much careful consideration, FGC has developed a Traveling Ministries Program and hired a Coordinator to help bring Friends wanting or needing the support and nurture of visiting Friends together with those willing, or led, to travel among Friends. Deborah Fisch is serving as staff, and Marty Grundy clerks the oversight committee. In addition to the FGC Friends visiting our Yearly Meeting sessions, Friends can come to a monthly or quarterly meeting to present a program, workshop, or retreat, or they can come to worship and visit with us under the leading of the Spirit to be with a group of Friends. Friends interested in participating in the Traveling Ministries Program are encouraged to contact Deborah Fisch at the FGC Office. Last October, 1998, FGC Central Committee approved the undertaking of a capital campaign to raise $2,000,000 to assist in funding this program. Friends are invited to place FGC on their list of Quaker organizations worthy of receiving support from both our income and our assets.
Several members of BYM serve on the Campaign Committee.
Although we have to share Marsha Holliday with many other FGC Friends now, she will still be available for advice as FGC's Religious Education Coordinator. As FGC staff increases, there are more people for us to consult about the nurture and support services.

FGC publications may be of particular use for our Meetings as we encourage young people to learn about Quakers. The Quaker Way (written for middle schoolers, but appropriate for adults also) shares Friends' faith and practices in thought-provoking ways, complete with queries and Sine Wilkerson cartoons. Opening Doors to Quaker Religious Education, a companion volume to Opening Doors to Quaker Worship, provides guidance and suggestions for nearly every aspect of religious education and First Day School programs.

I share these insights: FGC often seriously grabs our attention during the weekend times after we have attended a Gathering. Any of us who have enjoyed the daily opportunities know that each year's Gathering is different. For each of us, the Gathering years stay with us as Watershed Experiences where we come away - and our home Meeting communities - having found ourselves crossing the threshold into new territory on our spiritual journeys. This has happened to me at least three times.

I was glad as I've served on FGC Central Committee both during the 1990's and in the earlier terms of service during the 1970's. The setting which has given me the most new understanding has been the Christian and Interfaith Relations Committee (CIRC). CIRC met recently with the benefits of another Friends' hospitality; there we heard first-hand reports from four of the North American Friends who had just attended the World Council of Churches (WCC) Assembly - a once every seven years event; the December sessions were held in Harare in Zimbabwe.

At the WCC Assembly, one of the two FUM representatives, Eden Grace of the EYM, was selected to serve on the WCC Central Committee for the next five years; there are just 150 members for this WCC Central, and Eden will be a Friend in this body. With the Program to Overcome Violence adopted by the places where WCC will give increased attention during these next years, the presence and support of Friends is a reminder of how "Letting images Speak" can take some remarkable settings. While we sometimes may wonder what's in this for Friends?" - when we embark on ecumenical work - it is even more pertinent to ask, "What service will Friends be providing with their presence and message and example?"

The World Council of Churches is fascinating, especially with BYM's participation to the 1996 Triennial in helping FUM reexamine next steps following the 1993 FUM suspension of membership in WCC. CIRC's work comes closer to home through the support and communication back and forth with Friends.
involved in ecumenical and cooperative work with other church groups at the local level. FGC’s Christian and Interfaith Relations Committee is always interested in hearing from Friends involved in such work; any Friends interested are encouraged to get in touch with CIRC to become a corresponding member. Just write or call the FGC Office, or write or e-mail CIRC’s clerk, Mary B. Newcomb from Duluth Monthly Meeting.

Like many BYM Friends, the FGC was “The Gathering” until I had the opportunity to serve on the Central Committee. Many members of BYM carry the great variety of activity in FGC forward. We thank all of them for their service. I especially thank Trudy Rogers and Bob Fetter for their contributions to this report.

FRIENDS HOUSE RETIREMENT COMMUNITY

This past year at Friends House Retirement Community has been another year in which our elderly residents continue to defy and redefine the perception that the elderly prefer a placid existence in a rocking chair. Those who have served with our residents on committees or been with them in business session know whereof I speak. Anatole France once said “to accomplish good things we must not only act, but also dream, not only plan, but also believe.” With respect to the words of France our elderly ministry has provided and continues to provide good things to our 238 residents and 181 staff members.

On June 20th of this year an addition to our 80-bed Medicare/Medicaid Nursing Home was completed. This addition includes a new resident dining room, a Physical Therapy/Occupational Therapy rehabilitation area, and a new pharmacy. The PT/OT area is unique in that it will double as an exercise gym for all residents and staff when PT and OT treatments are not in progress.

Other recent additions to our campus include a very friendly 8-hole golf course (sorry no golf carts) and an expansion of our woodland trails and walking path system. These additions are a reflection of our holistic ministry that seeks to nurture mind, spirit, and body. I am not aware of any other HUD (Housing and Urban Development) community for the low-income elderly which provides such amenities. Further, these amenities and others have been provided without any rent increases in over two years.

In affirmation of the quality of care given to nursing home residents, the State of Maryland Department of Health found “no deficiencies” during its recent annual inspection. This perfect inspection score represents the highest accolade that any regulatory agency can bestow upon a nursing facility. This deficiency-Inspection represents the 7th time in the last ten years that Friends Nursing Home has received such an inspection score. As another measurement of the quality of our nursing home program we are delighted to note that in the 1999-2000 edition of the Inside Guide to American Nursing Homes Friends Nursing Home received the highest possible five-star rating. The evaluation process was based on performance over the last three years.

In harmony with our mission of providing elderly housing and services to the aged and moderately-incom ed elderly, during the last year we provided ongoing subsidies and write-offs to over 62% of our entire resident population. The total cost of these subsidies and write-offs was in excess of $250,000.00. For those whose contributions make such subsidies possible we are thankful.

As Friends House Retirement Community continues to find strength through diversity of the resident population which is presently composed of 59% males and 41% other friends. Much of what we are as a retirement community is the result of the imagination and dedication of Friends, staff, residents, and in particular our Board Members. The most profound testimony of the results of imagination and dedication can be found in those living here referring to Friends House Retirement Community as simply home.

FRIENDS UNITED MEETING 1999 TRIENNIAL

Friends gathered for this Friends United Meeting (FUM) Triennial, their assigned tasks were few and not likely to be stressful:

- Receive two member Yearly Meetings, Bware and Vokoli;
- receive a report from General Secretary Johan Maurer;
- approve further work on a proposed capital campaign;
- approve a minute on care of God’s creation, proposed by Gene Hillman;
- receive reports from the World Ministries and Meeting Ministries programs;
- approve new officers; and all of these, in good order and good humor. However before the sessions began, the General Board met for three hours. FUM’s accounting program was up to the Y2K problem. In response, there were staff changes and software changes. (Some of this is recorded in Quaker Life.) New staff were not capable of installing the software and they arranged for consultants who were equally baffled. This went on for two or three months. Senior FUM staff then installed the software at nights and on weekends in three weeks. This cost over $100,000, some of which may be recovered and some of which was legitimate expense. FUM approved establishing more financial controls and the General Board is to create and publish a policy on financial management.

There were three other items of new business,

- FUM will send a letter of protest to the State Department about their handling of the admittedly difficult visa problem;
- the Triennial endorsed the General Secretary's statement about the equity of all Yearly Meetings in dealing with FUM and the desire for mutual accountability (between FUM and Yearly Meetings);
- a proposal concerning forgiveness of Third-World debt was referred to the constituent Yearly Meetings and the General Board, with committees in North America and East Africa.

The Triennial recognized the service of long time senior staff, Mary Glen Hadley.

In addition to the business, there were interesting talks by Elias Chacour, of Galilee, Israel, Steve Pedigo, Retha McCutchen, and Bill Wagoner. The morning Bible hours were lead by Betsy Meyer (Baltimore Yearly Meeting), Tom Gates (Philadelphia Yearly Meeting), Rich and Sandy Davis (Indiana Yearly Meeting), but Ramon Gonzalez-Longoria (Cuba Yearly Meeting) was not able to attend. For many, the evening talks and morning Bible hours were the highlight of the Triennial.

In addition to Betsy Meyer's presentation at the first Bible hour, Walt Fry led most of the singing and Beth Massey accompanied most of the singing. Frank Massey handled the arrangements and helped those attending return home. As Friends left, they thanked anyone with a Baltimore Yearly Meeting name tag for their hospitality.

At least 48 members of Baltimore Yearly Meeting attended some part of the Triennial. The next Triennial is set for Nairobi, Kenya, in 2002. Make your plans now.

Howard N Fullerton, Jr., Friends United Meeting Board Member

FRIDENs WORLD COMMITTEE FOR CONSULTATION

Friends World Committee for Consultation (FWCC) met in March 1999 in Whittier, California. Several important changes have occurred within FWCC. As of May 1, 1999, Right Sharing of World Resources (RSWR) has become an independent organization with affiliation with FWCC. The work of RSWR continues with Roland Kreager as director. Tax deductible contributions now go directly to RSWR office: 3960 Winding Way, Cincinnati, OH 45229. Also International Quaker Aid was laid down. *Yearly and Monthly Meetings are being asked to consider entering into partnership with one of the projects for-Supported by International Quaker Aid. Examples are the Kagisano Justice Violence Shelter in Botswana, the medical clinic and school sponsored by the National Friends Church of El Salvador, Monteverde School in Costa Rica, and more. These changes came about because of the increased emphasis on the goals of FWCC to increase face-to-face encounters between Friends of varying backgrounds, both within the section and internationally. The emphasis is on bringing Friends together both through intervisitation among Yearly Meetings in the Section of the Americas and in conferences. Latin American Friends for the first time held a Leadership Conference/Retreat in July in Honduras, where Robert Barclay’s Propositions on Baptism and Communion were revisited. Translations of Quaker writings are strongly desired by Latin American Friends. The next Triennial will take place in New Hampshire next summer.

Yearly Meetings are being asked to provide opportunities for visitation before and after the Triennial for Friends coming from overseas. *FWCC Representatives at Yearly Meeting hope to engage in conversation with members of Baltimore Yearly Meeting so as to hear from you: “How can the Section best serve the Religious Society of Friends?” *The Southeast Section (which includes BYM) will meet October 29-31, 1999, at Virginia Beach Meeting House to explore the theme “Discovering Ourselves Together: Unity and Diversity in Faith and Action.”

Indicates information needing action by BYM.

*Kathy Wright, Representative from BYM to FWCC

SANDY SPRING FRIENDS SCHOOL

These words we are approaching the last few days of the 1998/99 academic year. My thoughts about the year are positive ones. I believe we had a good year!

The year began with the school officially going online, with our new web site (ssfs.org) opening Sandy Spring Friends School to the world and offering a way for our school community to communicate with each other: for Faculty and staff, campus-wide e-mail; for students, posting of homework assignments on site; and for parents, a quick way to be notified of weather-affected changes in openings or closings. This is the beginning of a major refurbishing for computer technology, thanks in great part to the Technology Initiative, a $100,000 fund-raising mini-campaign that will link every classroom on campus to the Internet, purchase new equipment for the computer labs in each division, and improve computer access for boarding students.
New parents were treated in early September to an evening with Bob Smith, former Headmaster of Sidwell Friends School, who spoke about what families should expect from a Quaker school. Bob’s book, A Quaker Book of Wisdom, was given to all staff and Board of Trustees. It was well received and gave us a common frame of reference for the year. In April, Bob and Nan Yarnall were named Honorary Board members. Both have served the school with distinction as regular Board members in the past.

Speaking of the Board, this academic year was the final year of service for Clerk Sally Eller and Recording Clerk Rosalind Zuses, both of whom served two consecutive four-year terms. These two have given so much to the school during these past eight years and will be sorely missed. Our Board members serve four-year terms and may continue to a second term. However, rarely do we lose two at the same time who have contributed so much over eight consecutive years.

In some ways, 1998/99 was a typical year. We had successful grandparents days in all three divisions, a Board visitation day, two wonderful dramas, “You Can’t Take It With You” and “Peter Pan,” the operetta, “The Beggar’s Opera,” two outstanding dance concerts, book fairs, plant sales, choral concerts, our annual auction (that raised over $47,000), Celebration of Science, Winterfest, special assemblies, and numerous athletic events. Our second year of the Faculty Lecture Series included Bill Moody, Upper School history and French teacher: “Reflections of a Retired Naval Officer on Quaker Education”; Barry Cohen, Middle School science teacher: “Galileo, The Chinese Emperor, and the Holy Spirit”; and Ari Preuss, Upper School history teacher: “From Naked Apes to Caring Quakes.”

Working to help others as always played a big part in the life of the school this year, with Lower School students raising some $5,700 through a walk-a-thon around the school to benefit victims of Hurricane Mitch. In the spring, the Middle School math teacher Anne Miller developed a Math-a-thon Test for students who came to school on a Saturday (!) to participate. The effort, supported by pledges from parents and friends, raised some $2,500 for the Kosovo refugees. Their work was augmented by an additional $500 from others who played basketball for pledges and held bake sales and a mini-yard sale at Mayfair to benefit Kosovo. A group of first graders under the direction of Lynda Reese manned a booth at Mayfair to raise nearly $3,194 for Kosovo.

Once again our Upper School intersession week just prior to spring break proved a great combination of travel and community service, including trips to France and New Mexico, where students worked with the Navajo mission at Torreon/Starlake, a group organized and assisted by Pat Kutzner, a released Friend of Baltimore Yearly Meeting who has been supported by Sandy Spring Monthly Meeting. Other groups worked with Habitat for Humanity in West Virginia and Head Start in District of Columbia schools.
Fair, our traditional spring festival, was held again this year in conjunction with the Alumni Reunion and it carried out its “fun-raising” charge on a beautiful day in May. Alumni and fair participants alike gathered to honor Doug Wright, who has taught biology at Sandy Spring Friends School for 32 years, naming the biology laboratory/classroom in his name.

On June 12, we graduate 45 seniors, most of whom have been at Sandy Spring Friends School for all four years of upper school, many of them coming here in the early school. What splendid testament to the fine work of our faculty, and to the support of our parents and friends.

In near the faculty, at the direction of the Board of Trustees, was asked to lead a two-year strategic planning process to determine the future program of the school. We had a futurist speak followed by a series of six fireside chats at the House, several surveys to get the input of alumni, parents, students and teachers, and a task force to look at other schools, including many Quaker schools. We assessed our own program identifying strengths and weaknesses. Although the process is only half–way complete we have affirmed that whatever form our program takes in the future, we will be guided by the following signature prin-

Retain a nurturing community and close relationships between faculty and students and their families.
Care for our environment by constructing a physical plant that impacts our environment as little as possible and by providing a program that connects students with their environment.
Provide a challenging academic program and schedule that embody the historical values of Quakerism.
Enhance the arts and athletics to provide a well-balanced education.
Incorporate technology in a manner in keeping with the importance the school places on human relationships.
Increase community service opportunities.
Define and articulate to the broader community the types of students we serve well.
Ensure that our program meets the needs of the students we select.
Embrace all forms of diversity in admissions and the boarding program, including: religious, racial, cultural, economic, geographic, learning styles, personality types and sexual orientation.
Recruit and hire a diverse faculty representative of our student body.

It's an awesome task but a distinct privilege to serve Sandy Spring Friends at this time in its history. I am daily invigorated by the challenges of leading and of leading this institution in ways that help us to live and speak to our motto: to “Let Your Lives Speak.”

Ken Smith, Head of Sandy Spring Friends School
SIDWELL FRIENDS SCHOOL

At Sidwell Friends three highlights of the 1998-99 school year have been: (1) welcoming Bruce B. Stewart as the new Head of School; (2) instituting a long-range planning process led by the trustees; and (3) hosting the annual BYM Gathering of Friends Schools.

Coming to Sidwell from being Headmaster of Abington Friends, Bruce Stewart has a lifetime of experience in Friends education. As a member of the Religious Society of Friends, Bruce has emphasized Friends testimonies from his first day on campus. Bruce wrote to the community, “Sidwell Friends School, at heart, is about the life of the mind, integrity of character, and authenticity of soul.” Members of the community have welcomed Bruce’s strong moral and educational leadership.

In February, the Board of Trustees began the development of a long-range plan to guide the School’s programs and policies for the next three to five years. The process, which is expected to be completed next spring, seeks extensive consultation with Sidwell’s many constituencies. Queries for the long-range planning process are:

- Who works at Sidwell Friends and what should they be paid?
- Who goes to Sidwell Friends and what should they be charged?
- What societal forces are likely to affect our program in a major way over the next decade?
- What resources, both physical and financial, will we need to fulfill our mission?
- How does our identity as a Quaker institution affect the way we balance our priorities?

The Gathering of Friends Schools, sponsored by the BYM Ad Hoc Committee on Friends Schools, met at Sidwell Friends on Saturday, March 13, 1999. This year’s ambitious program attracted more than 100 participants and offered over a dozen small group workshops. Topics discussed included Community Service, Athletics at Friends Schools, Quaker Testimonies on the Environment, Friendly Teaching, and Governance and Decision Making. Trustees, teachers, students, and area Friends shared leadership of these discussion groups. Meeting for Worship opened and concluded the day, while the keynote was offered by Bruce Stewart. Participants enthusiastically endorsed continuing this annual gathering.

While Sidwell Friends School is not directly guided by Baltimore Yearly Meeting, the School enjoys its relationships with the Yearly Meeting and with many Monthly Meetings. To strengthen these relationships, BYM Friends are asked Encourage Friends to apply for employment, to consider educating their children at Sidwell, and to visit the School. For more information, feel free to contact Bruce Stewart, Head of School.
